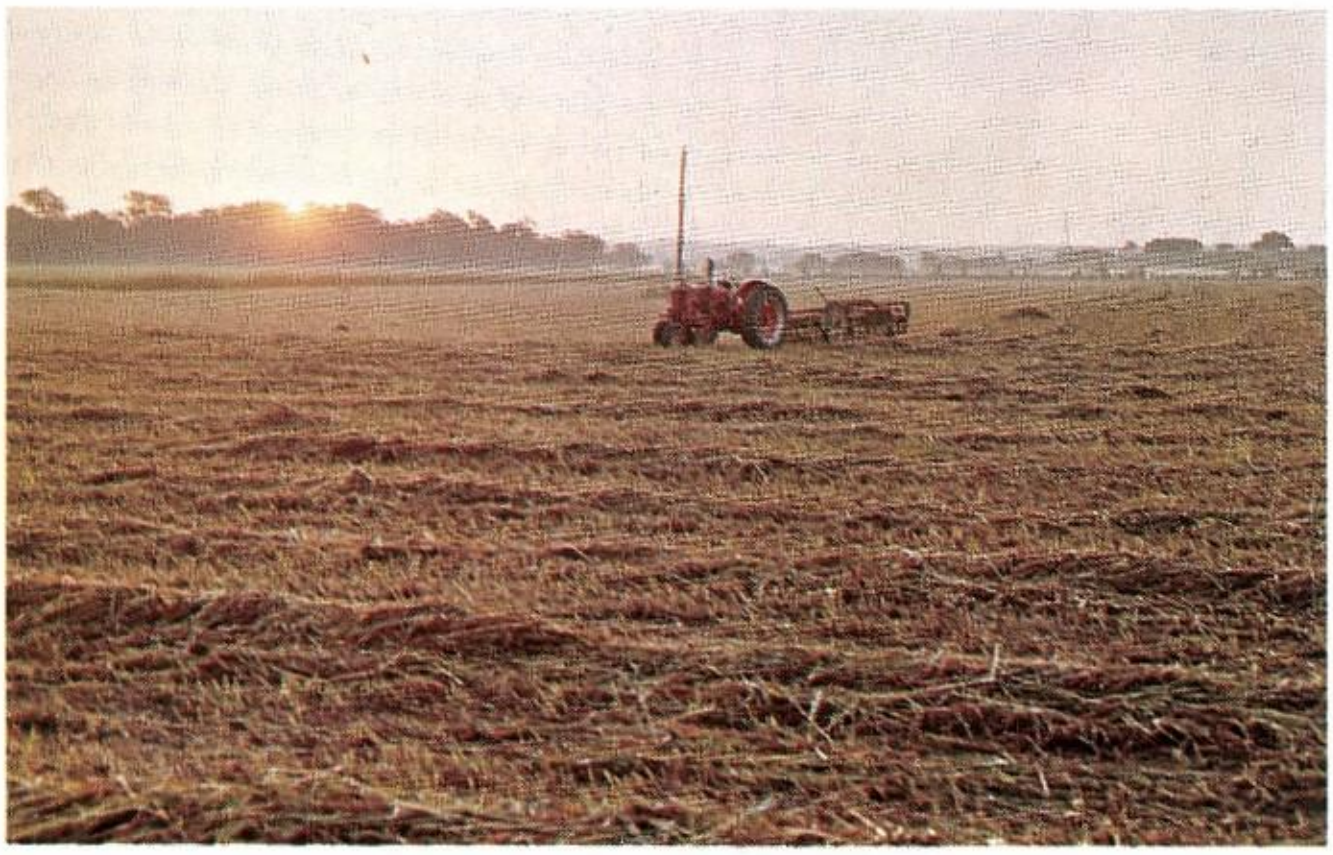
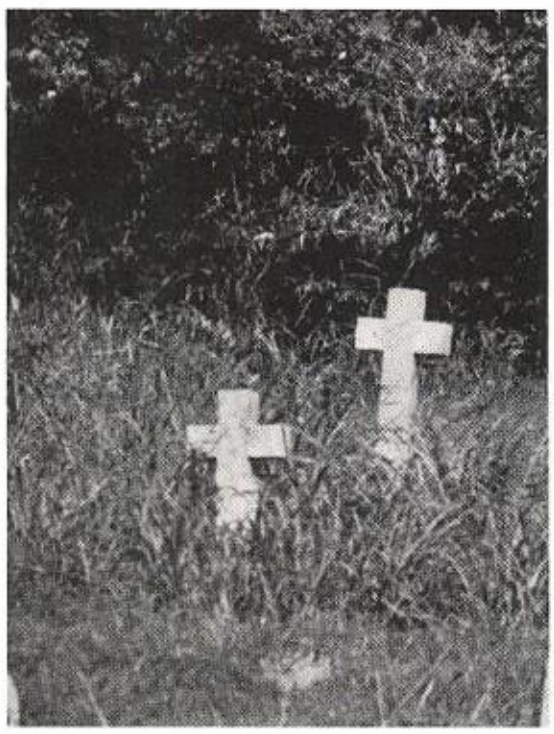
'In quest of that one beauty
God put me here to find.'
John Masefield

The search for beauty begins

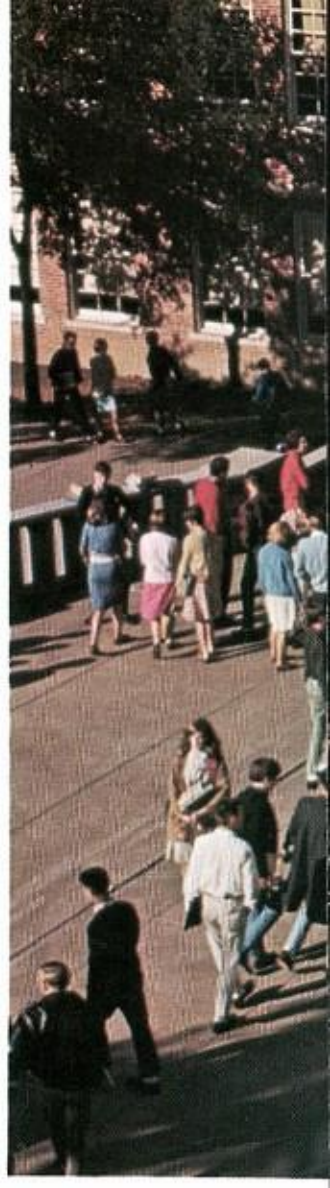
and ends

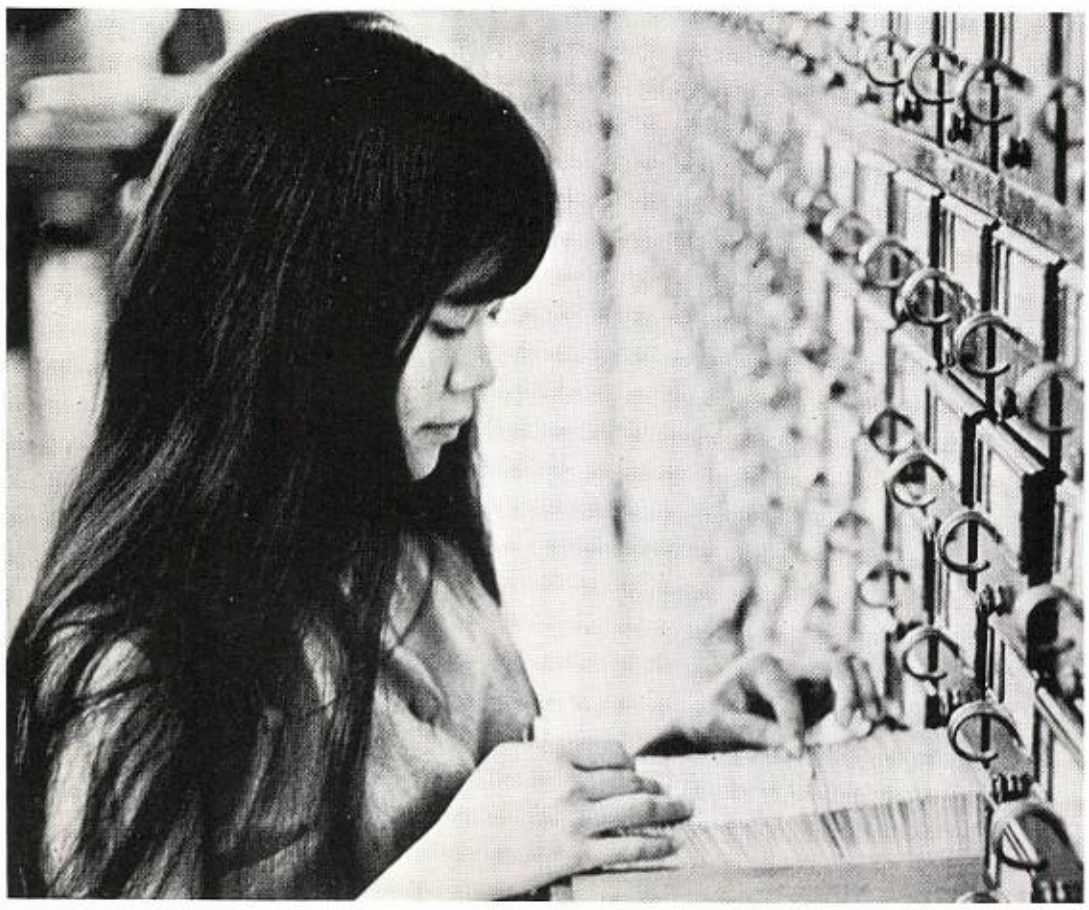
In the backyard of mankind . . .

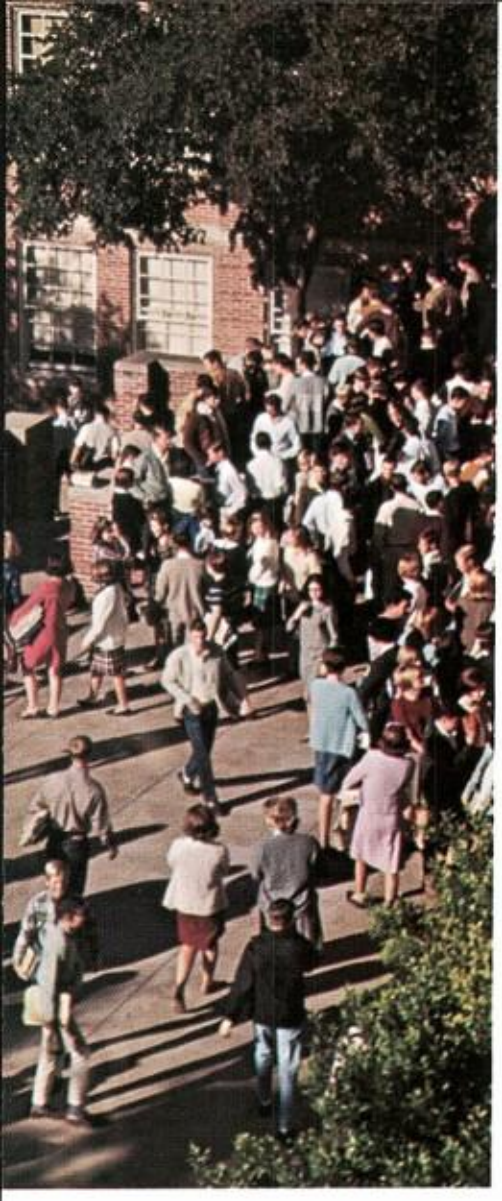


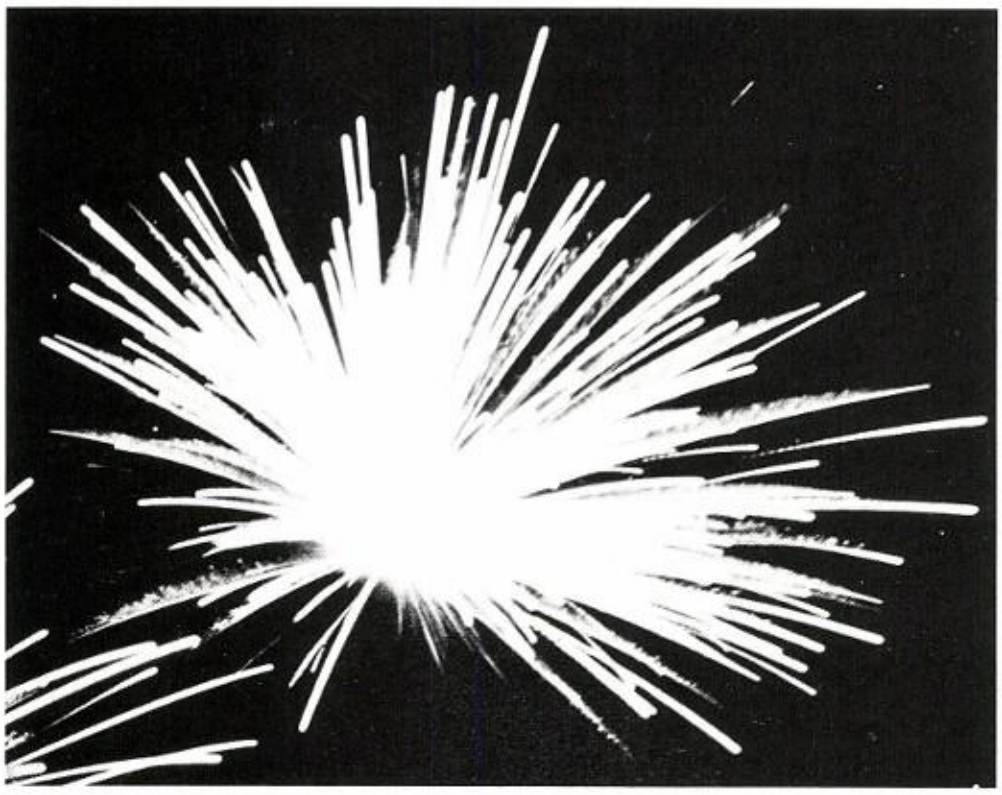


Sensitivity is man's affinity for beauty,
and beauty's for man.

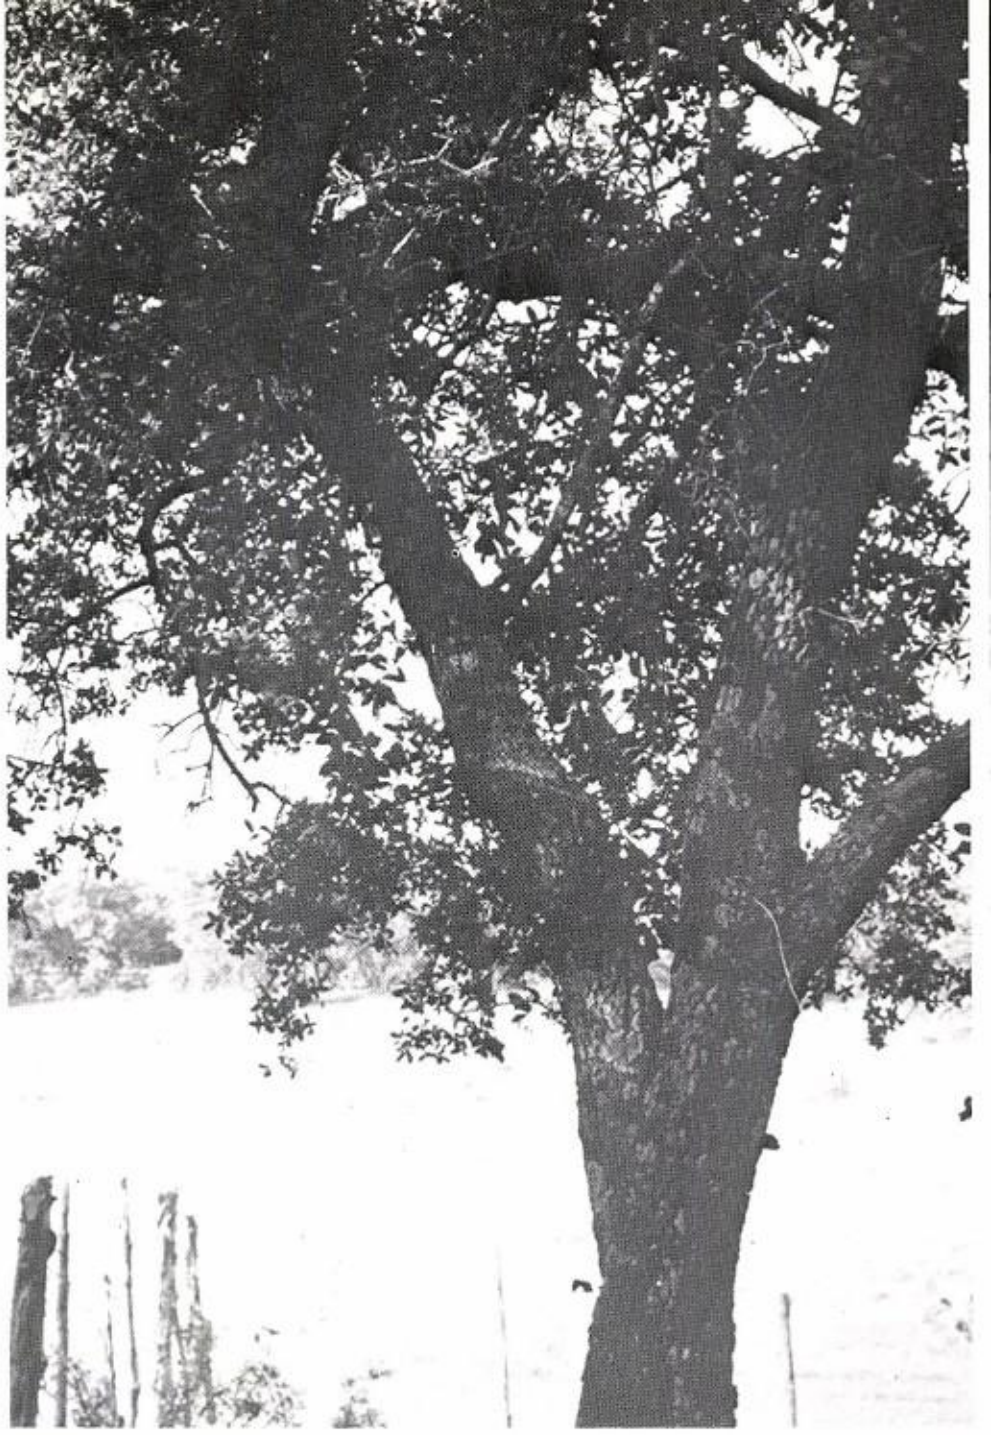


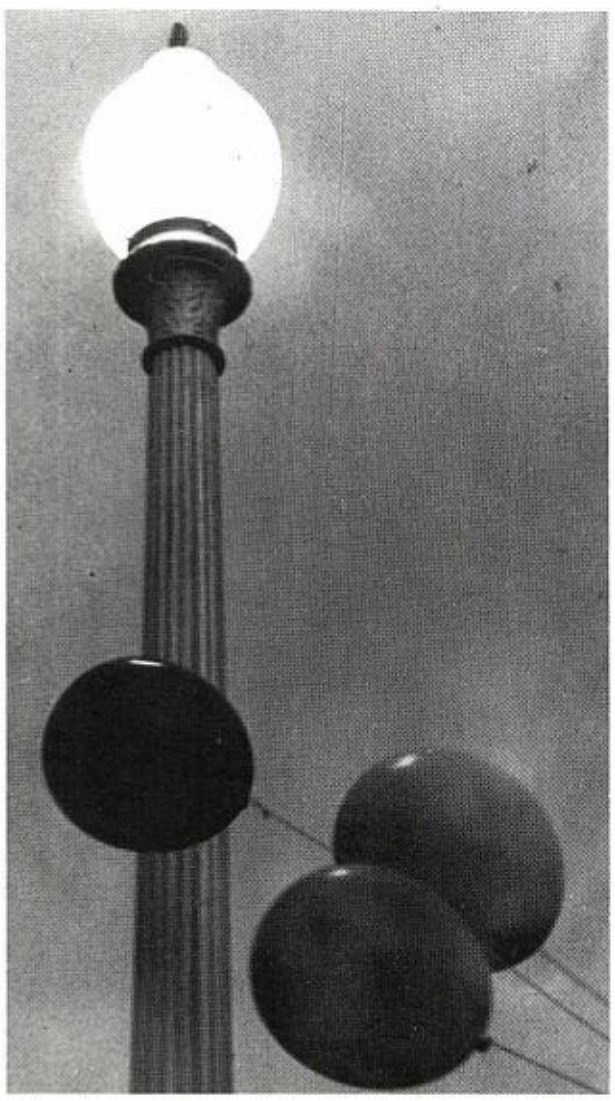


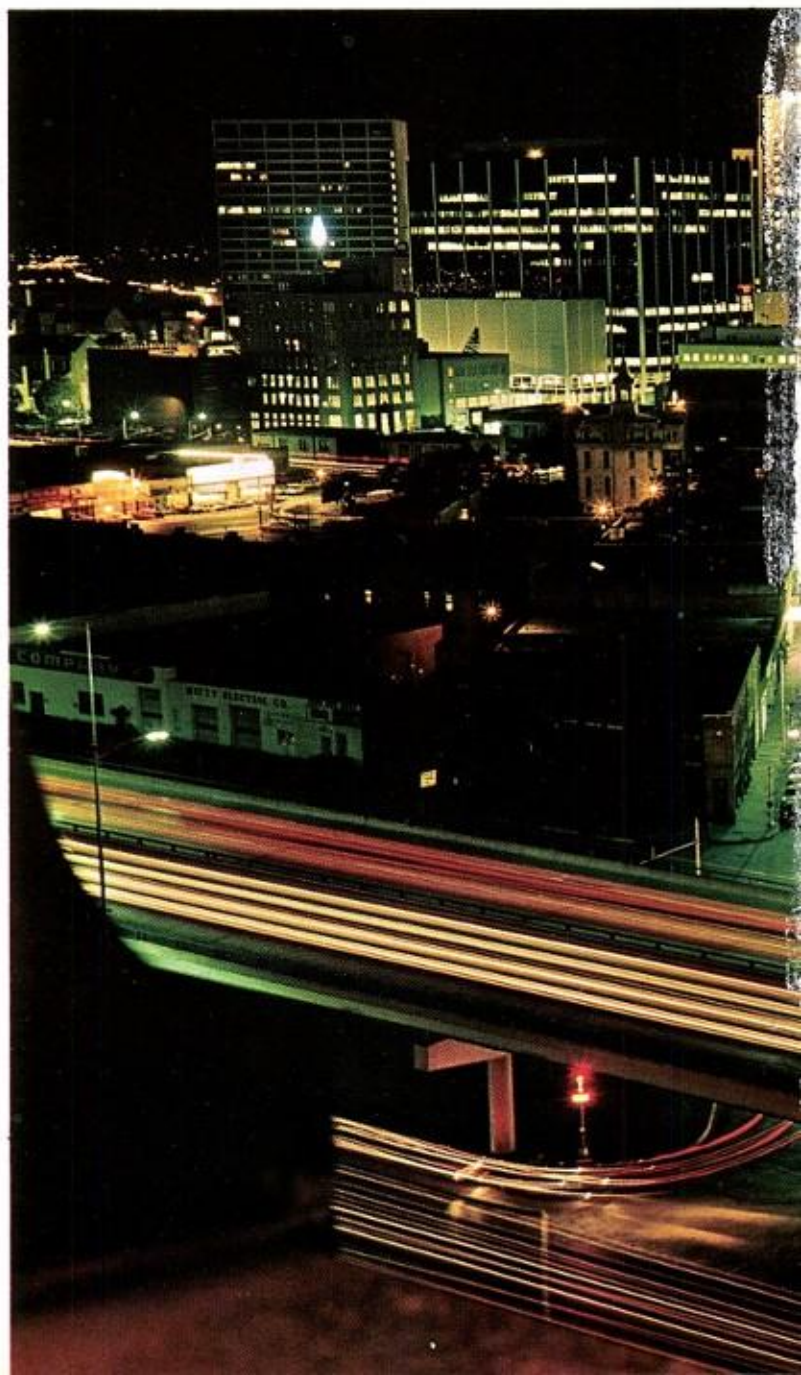




CNB







There is nothing else quite so majestic,

That can make the rest of the world small by comparison.

Man is like the growing leaf,

Absorbing beauty as sunlight . . .

His every encounter
with life,

another ray of daytide.

Beauty is as omnipresent as the sun;

as warming as sunshine;

as elusive as shadows.

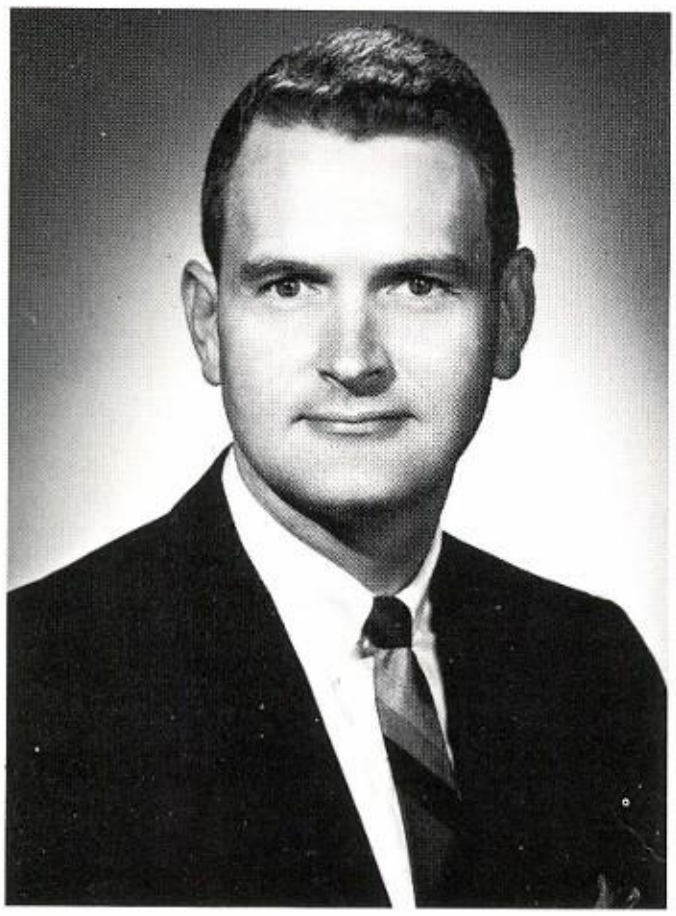
Dedication

Mr. Milton Bransford



He hath a daily beauty in his life.

Shakespeare

The desire to possess beauty is in everyone; the will to find it appears in only a few. Mr. Milton Bransford is one of these few.

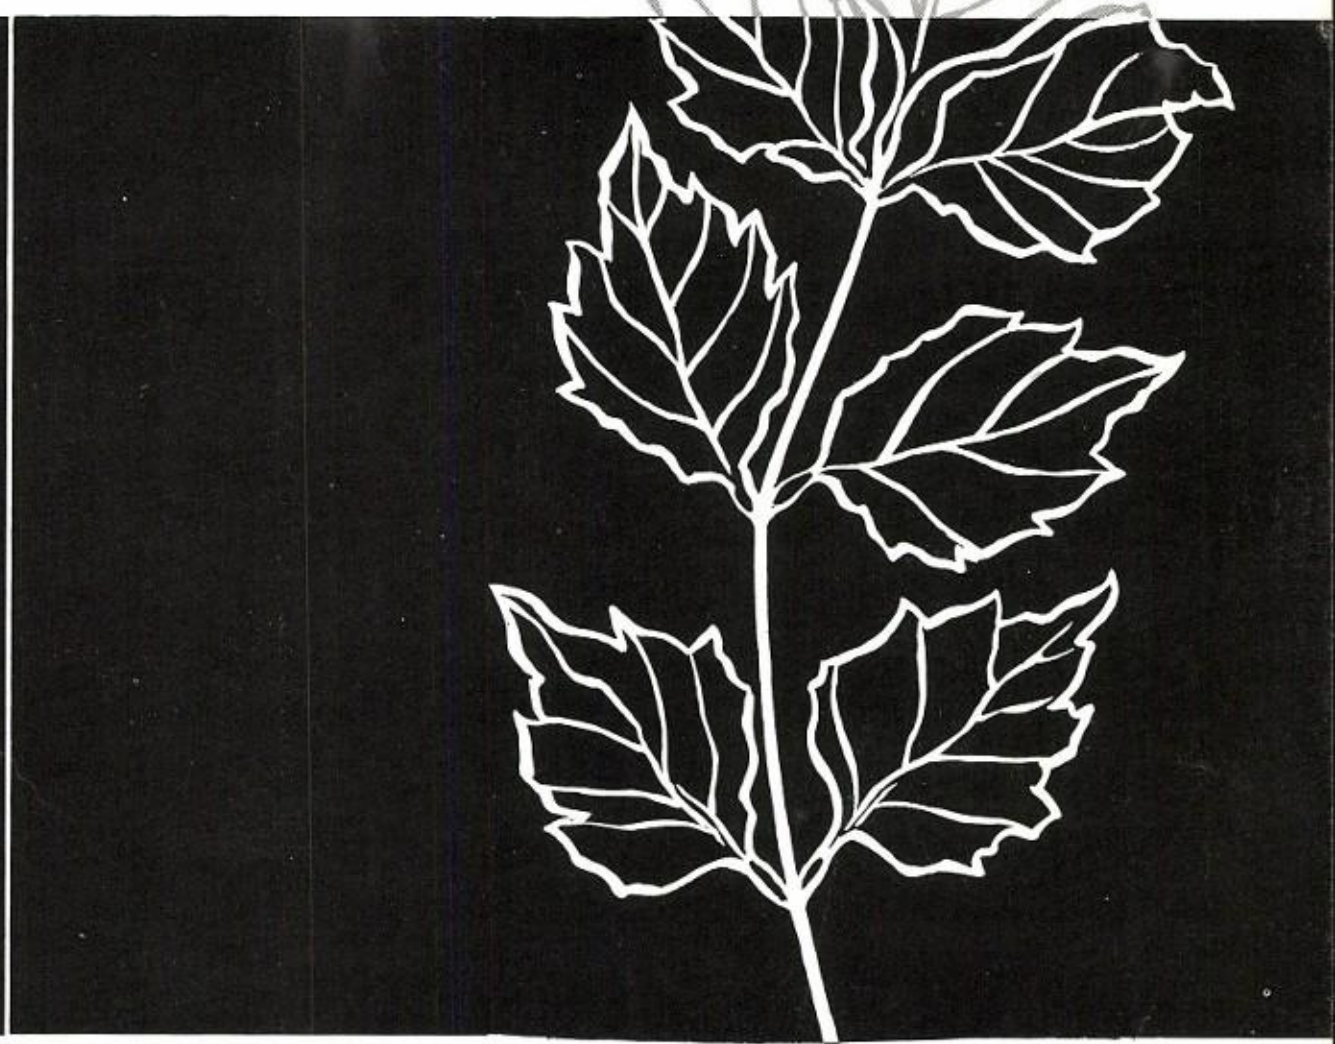
While others have sat and waited for beauty to come into their lives, Mr. Bransford has sought to find the key to the little-known world of the beautiful.

He has not limited his search to the walls of Arlington Heights, nor to the boundaries of Texas. Instead, he has traveled widely, including in his itinerary trips to Hawaii, Europe, and the Caribbean. Christmas finds the English teacher in New York City, further enriching his awareness and understanding of beauty by attending on-and off-Broadway plays.

Not one to be content with mediocrity, Mr. Bransford strives for perfection. After graduating from North Texas State University with a B.A. in English, he continued his studies at Texas Christian University, where he was awarded his Master's degree in education.

As head of the English department and co-sponsor of the literary magazine, Mr. Bransford has attempted to better the students' understanding of the aesthetics of literature. It is this will to seek out the hidden beauty that makes Mr. Bransford a rare person indeed. In appreciation from the staff to one of the few, we dedicate the 1967 Yellow Jacket.

STUDENT LIFE



Jackets Spring To New Heights

In tune with yesteryear, spring began with a variety of unforgettable experiences for the Hill. Tradition continued with the senior play, Annual Day, and student council elections. The novelty of an April flood, plus regional championships in baseball and track, brought an extra note of excitement.

Impersonating Frankenstein, Dracula, and others of the monster era, the 1966 Yellow Jacket staff staged an original satire in proclamation of Annual Day. The air of frolic quickly turned to seriousness with the presentation of the annual theme and the dedicatee at the conclusion of the program.

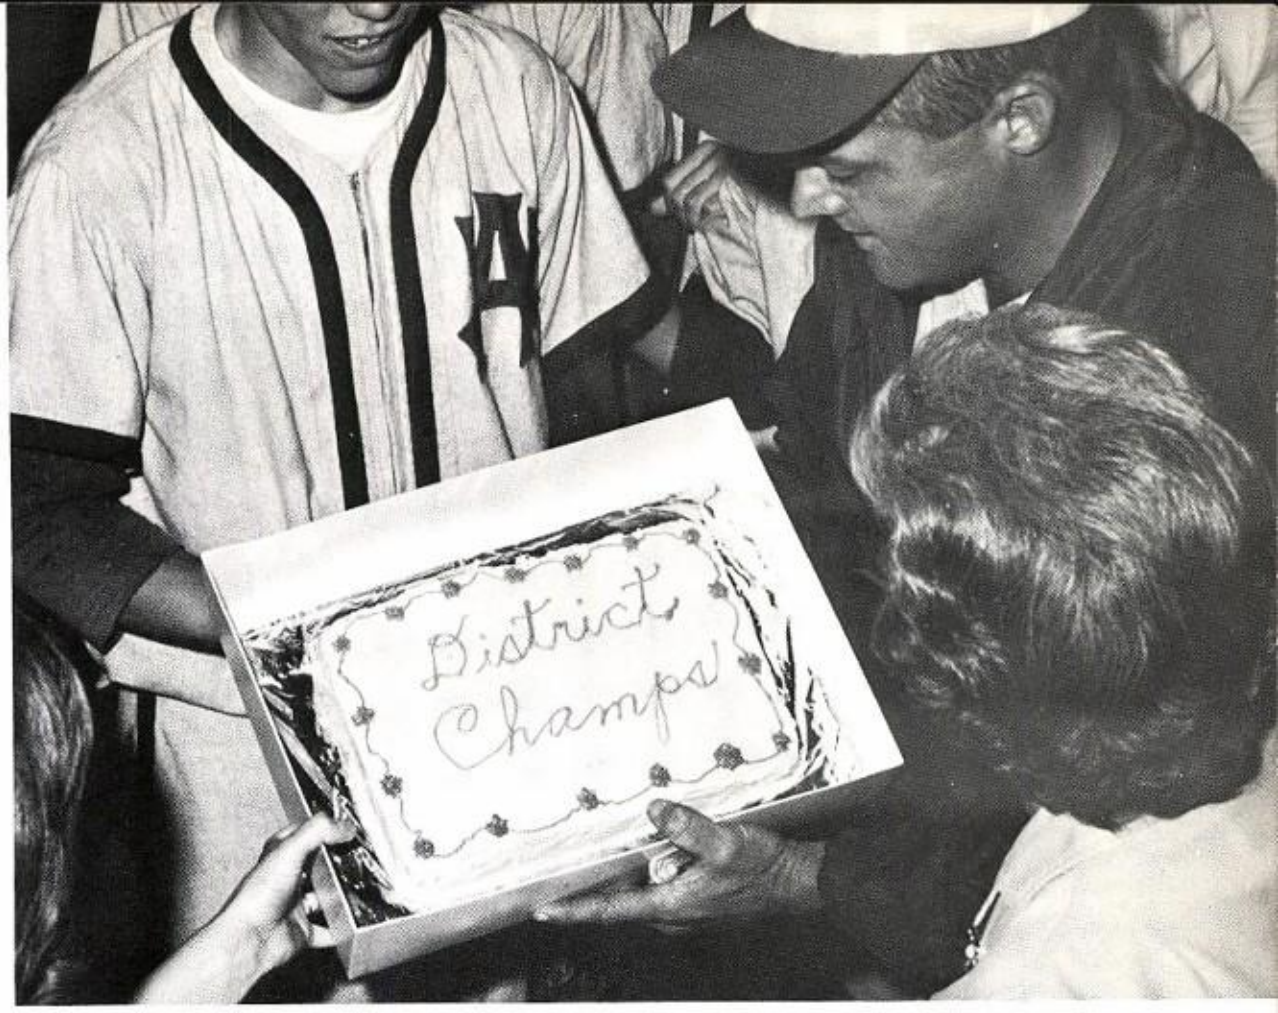
If boats had been available, students could have sailed to school in the flood of April 29. The brave who ventured out often had to be rescued when their cars stalled. The school's schedule was temporarily interrupted while students waded in ankle-deep water to classes.

Spring term ended as the baseball team, coached by Merlin Priddy, traveled to Austin and captured a number four ranking in state competition. Prior to the tournament the Jackets romped Eastern Hills for district and stole regional honors from Marshal after a victory over Dallas Samuell.

"I'll have to thank my producer, my director, my writers, and the Academy . . .," thanks Mrs. Anne Stanton as she receives her "reward" from the Staff.

"Fifteen miles on the Erie Canal . . .," chant the daring few who braved the April flood waters.

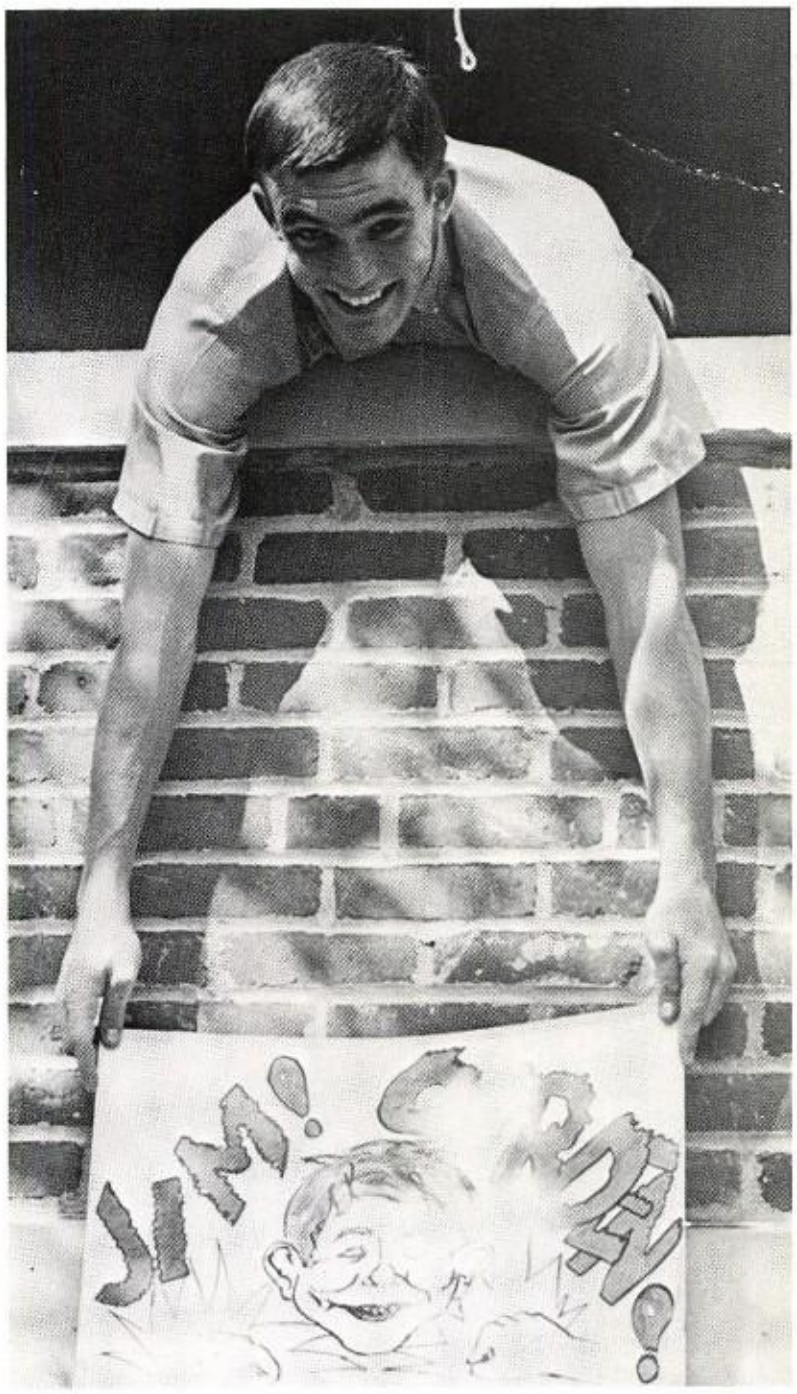
"After 15 days of our body building course you can look like this?" demonstrates Bob Mefford, he-man of the Annual Day program.



"It's just too good to eat!" marvels Coach Merlin Priddy.

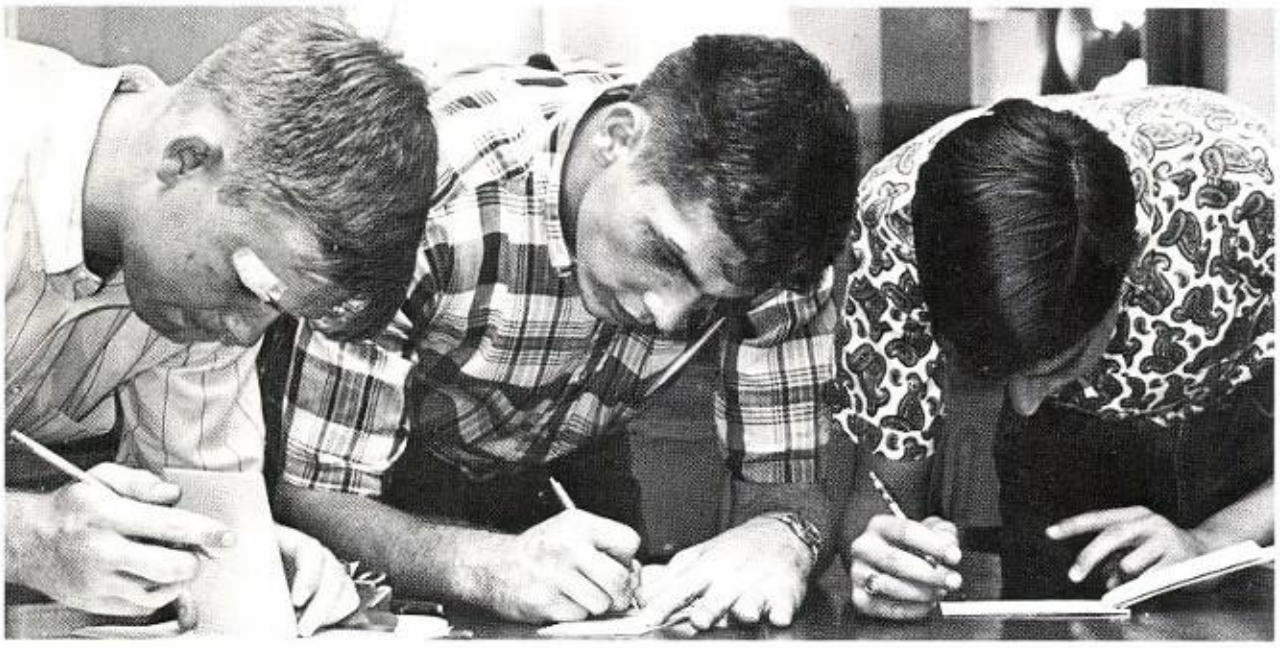
Acting in two performances, Michele Sears and Lynda Hogue portrayed their roles in the three-act play "The Skin of Our Teeth."

"You ready? Here it comes! You're out!" Eddie Stevens, starting pitcher, plots a third strike against Odessa Permian batter.



Election campaigns gave no hint that Jim Carden was in reach of the Student Council presidency.

Enrollment Problems Raise Questions



"Foods II before football practice . . . ugh!" says Mike Bomar to Mike Carr and Ricky Cohen.

"To register, or not to register . . ."

That was the question as over 2000 students sought to solve their enrollment problems. Amid the cafeteria's sweltering atmosphere, AHHS seniors and juniors fought the waves of people and heat to find their way into classes for the fall semester.

"To go home or not to go home . . ."

As the afternoon drew to a close and as the heat lingered on, a handful of students still battled their way through the rigors of registration. Teachers sat with aching heads and sweating brows compiling their final lists until the problems of registration day were solved.

"If you take cooking before lunch, you can make sandwiches for both of us," suggests Dwight Holden to Kay Holze.

"Trade you a scratchy Lindy for your pencil," says Mr. George Wirsdorfer to Brenda McGuffee.

Clovis Miguel and Sally Carpenter discuss the American sport of basketball at an AHHS game.

"I was having enough trouble with the old English," jokes Tran-Thi-Lai in Mr. Milton Bransford's senior English class.

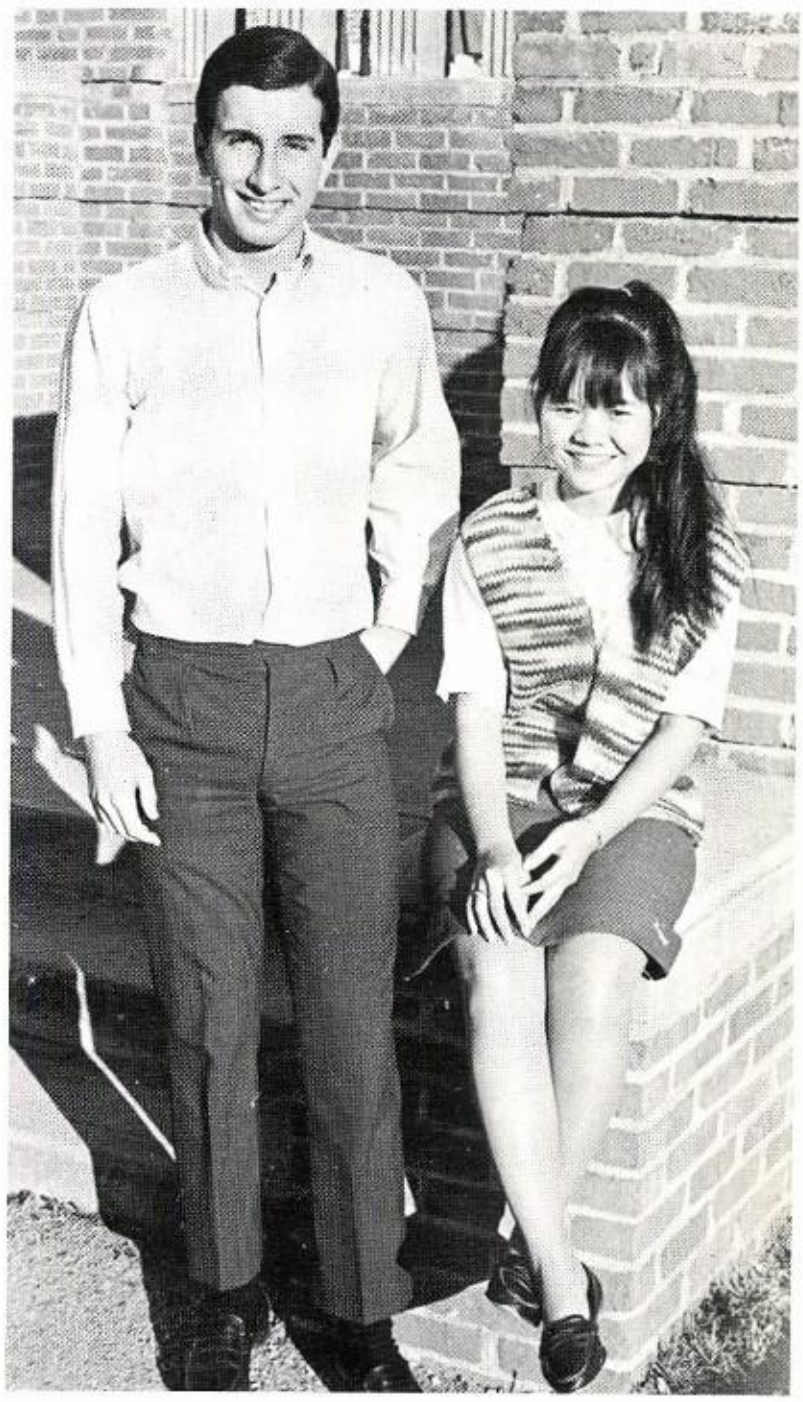
AFS Students

Clovis, Lai Learn American Customs

The doors of Heights opened wide this year to welcome two exchange students from opposite ends of the world. Tran-Thi-Lai of Saigon, Viet Nam and Clovis Costello Miguel from Victoria Island, Brazil, registered in the fall as American Field Service exchange students to spend one school year at Arlington Heights.

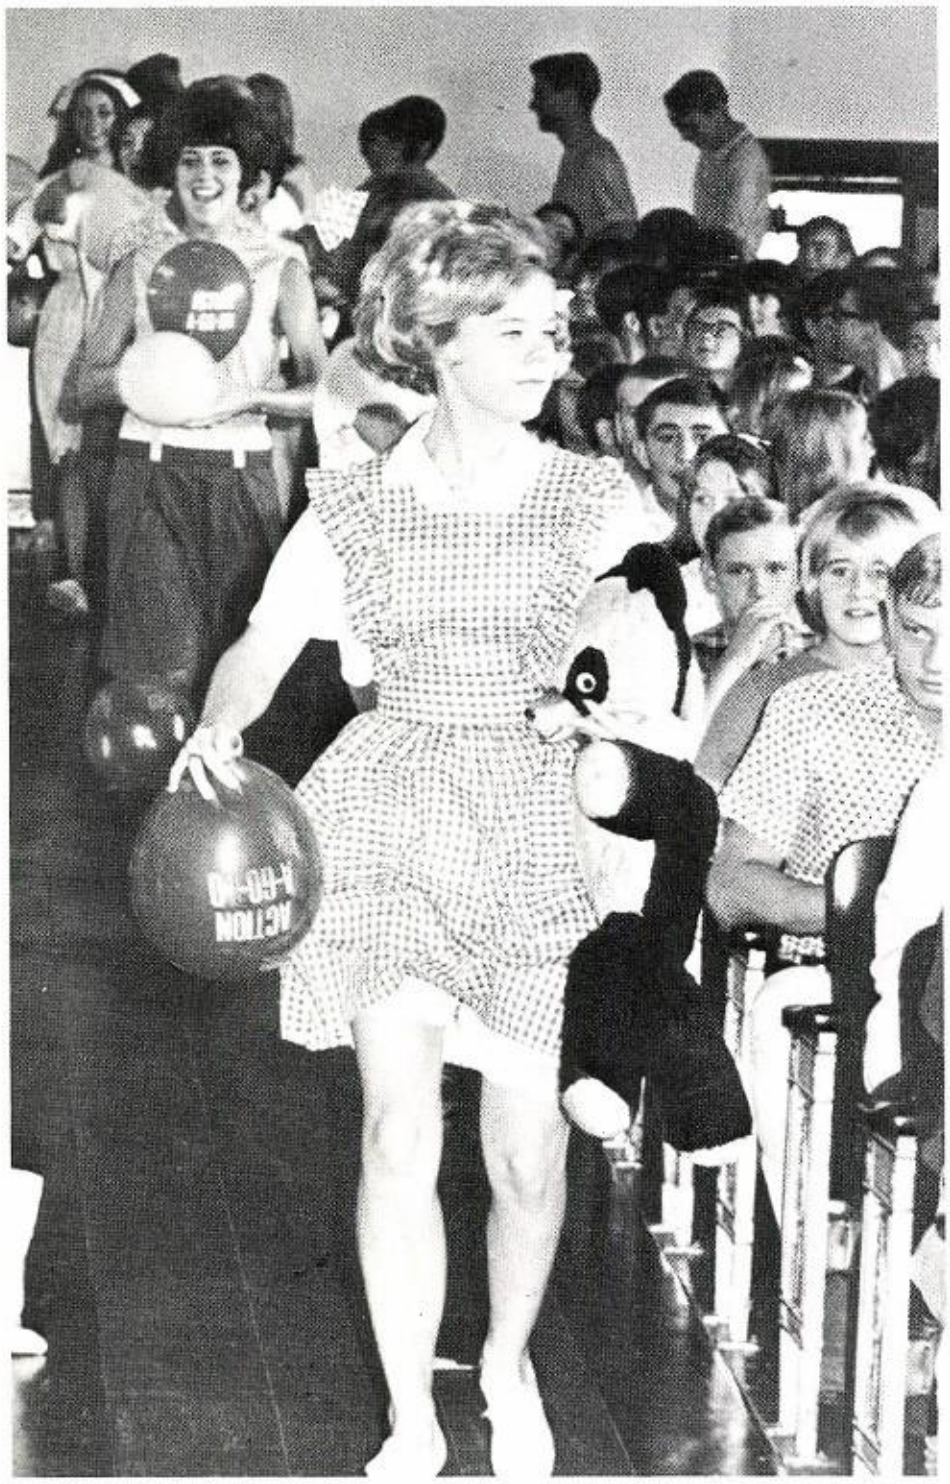
Lai, whose future plans included teaching English or attending law school, was kept busy with her studies in government, speech, and American and world history. She said that the close student-teacher relationship, the friendly atmosphere, and the assembly programs impressed her most during her year on the Hill.

Upon arriving in America, Clovis worried that students might have trouble understanding his English, as he had never had an opportunity to use it in daily conversation. However, his fears soon subsided, for by January he was voted Most Friendly in the Mostest Contest, becoming the first exchange student to win such an honor in Fort Worth.



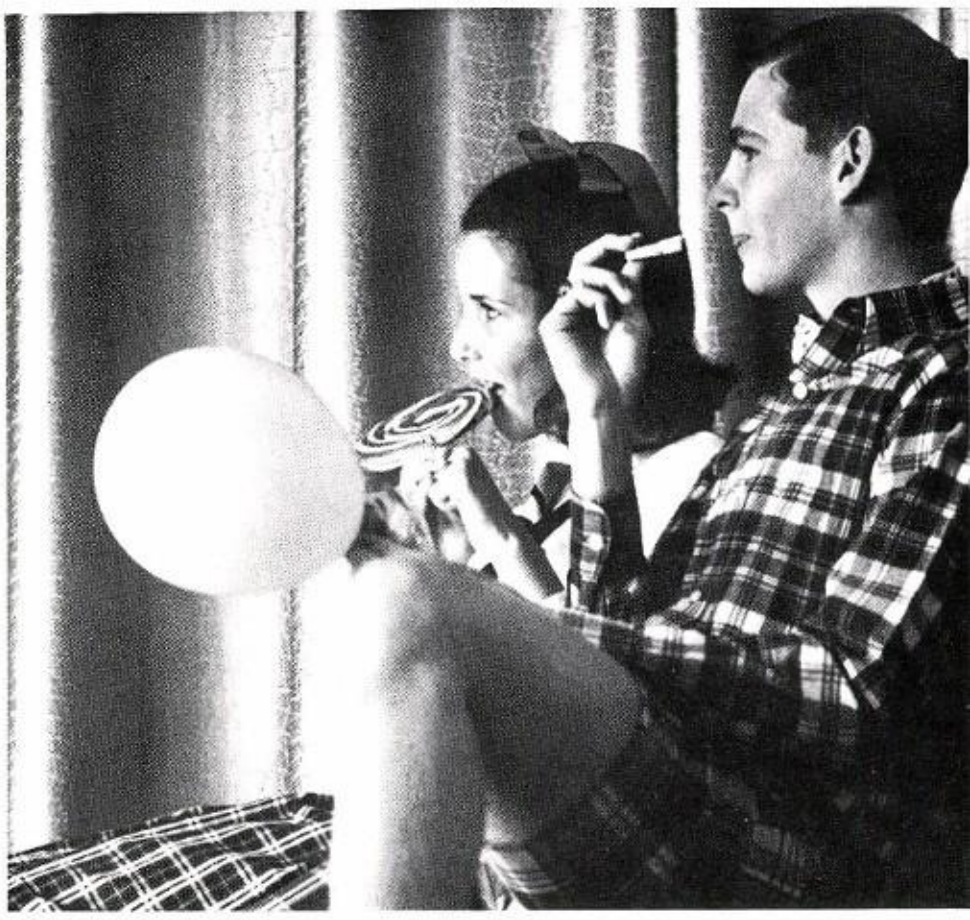
American Field Service students, Clovis Costello Miguel and Tran-Thi-Lai discover Heights to be a new experience.

Chairman of the Decorations Committee, Gary Reeves, prepares the auditorium for the week of welcome.



"Until the wind blows nobody knows," warns Judy Buchanan.

Selected because of their friendliness, sophomores Chris King and Bob Ratliff reign as Howdy Week Queen and King.



"This sucker tastes like grass," states John Mastenbrook. "That's because it's an all-hay sucker" quips Anne Penn.

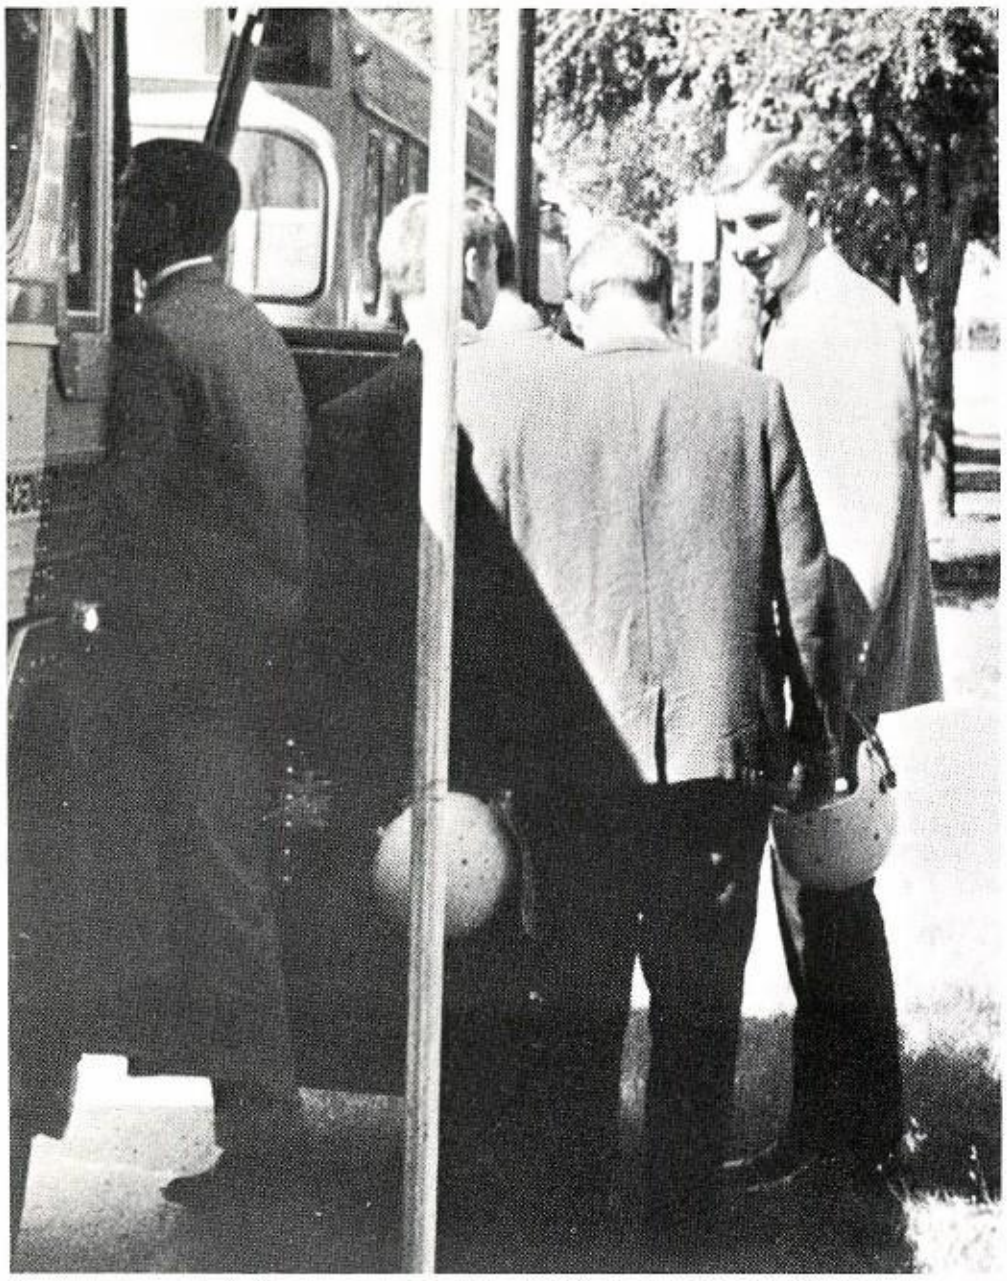
King Crowns King as Queen

Decorations were hung, club memberships opened, and costumes donned as seniors and juniors introduced sophomores to high school life and activity. Throughout the second week of school, the student body wore Howdy tags to learn the names of new faces.

Sponsored by the Student Council, Howdy Week officially opened with the traditional program. Members of the different school organizations performed skits to arouse club interest. The week's climax came at the first pep rally with the crowning of the Howdy King and Queen.

"And if I'm elected President, the First Lady and I will put a buzzard in every pot," vows Larry "Lyndon B." Mathis to Rita "Lady Bird" Downing, emcees of the Howdy Week Program.

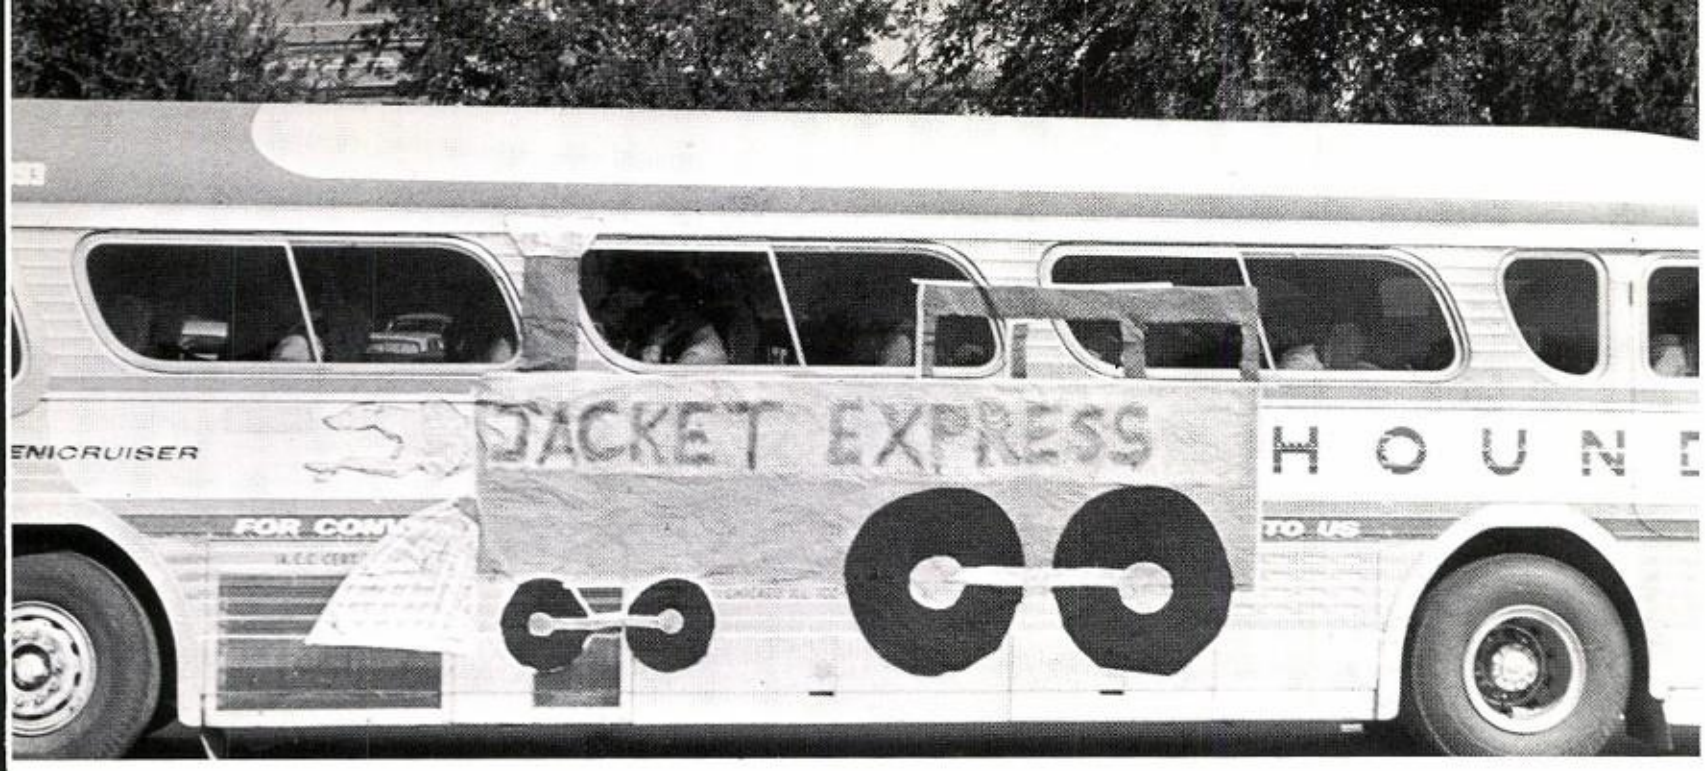
"And I get 100% better TV reception," remarks Diane Morris, Howdy Week bunny.



"And leave the football playing to us," remarks Sam Martin to other gridmen as they board their silver Greyhound en route to Waco.

"Only members of the Albatross Society are allowed on this bus," states sponsor and Vice-Principal Glenn Mandeville.

"I think we're being followed!" exclaims Rita Downing to her fellow cheerleaders.



All aboard for Waco!

Out-of-Town Trip

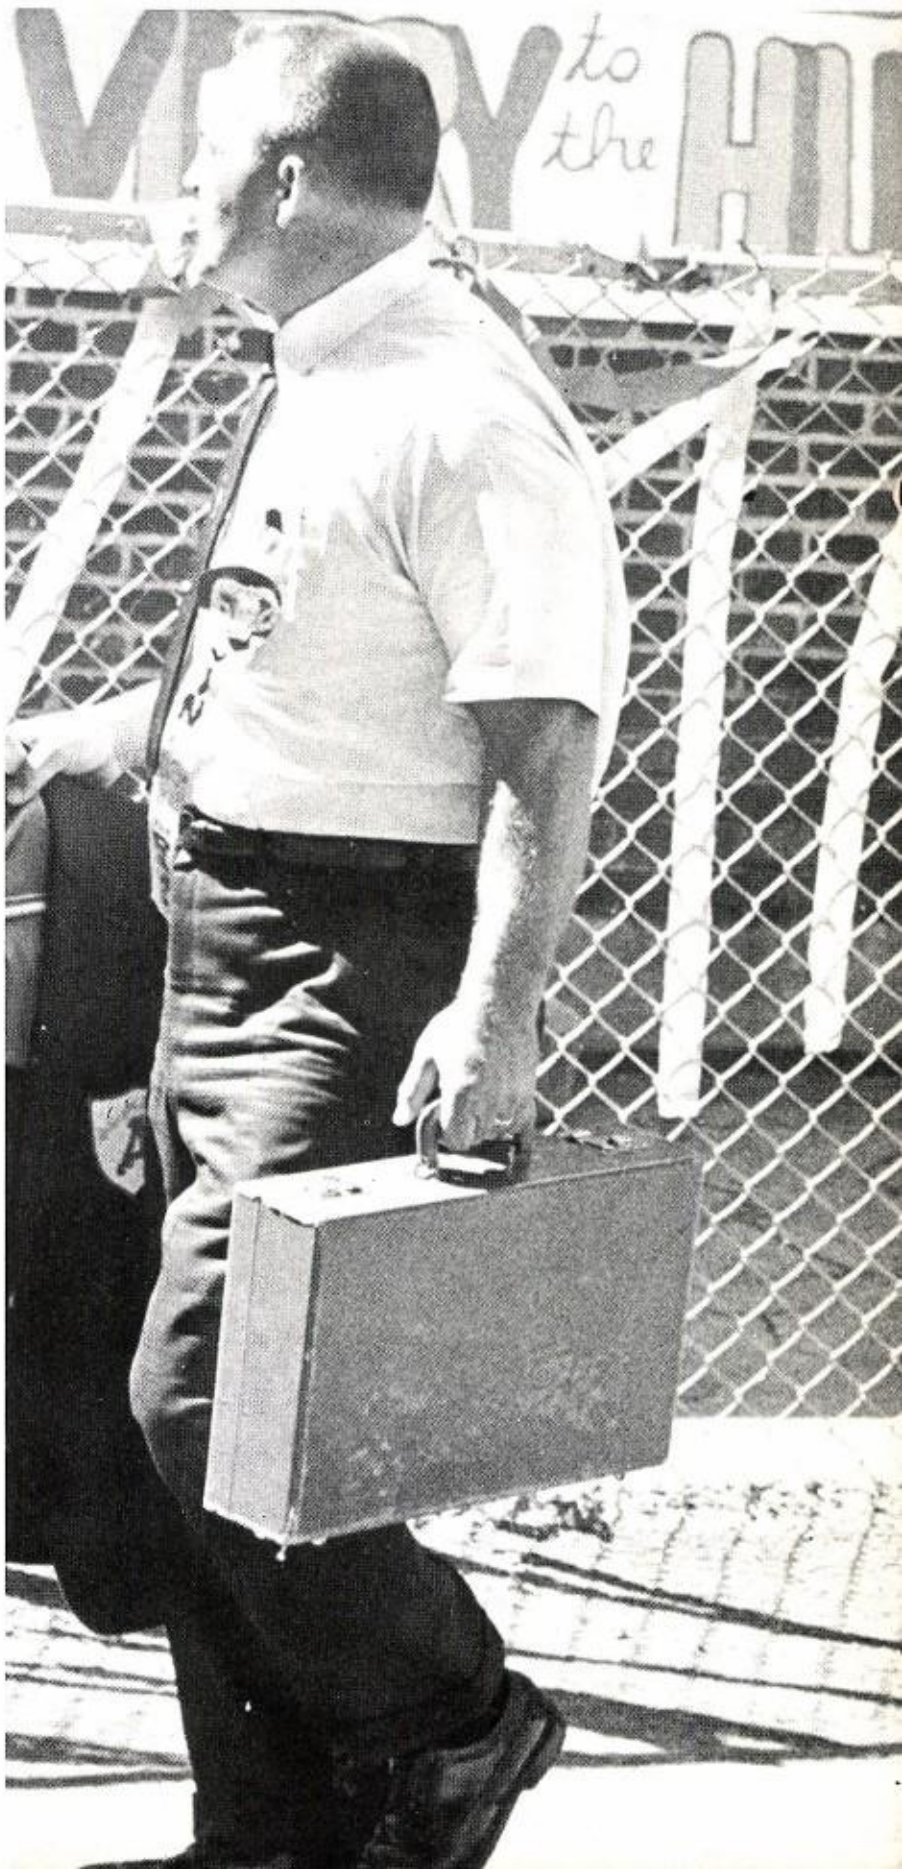
Kings of the Road Dethroned at Waco

All it takes for an out-of-town trip to Waco is four buses, tons of soft drinks, sandwiches and potato chips, 15 adult sponsors, and enough laughing, screaming, singing football enthusiasts to cheer their team to victory. With their check list completed, the Yellow Jackets followed the asphalt gray road to Waco and their second pre-season bout.

There, they met their opponents amid a crowd of yelling football supporters. The enthusiasm that enlivened every bus and the spirit that prevailed throughout the game supported the Jackets to the end and comforted their 31-8 defeat by the Waco Rams.

"Hurray for 'Beef-a-roni'," crusade senior girls on their way to decorate the Waco-bound buses.

"Nobody knows it, but my briefcase contains a transistorized computer with every mathematical computation we'll need to win this game," contemplates Coach Homer Ludiker.



Basketball queen Paige Kelly is awarded a charm by captain Tracy Wilmouth and game co-captain Mike Simmons at a season pep rally.

There's a Feeling Good and True . . .

. . . and its common bond served to unite both students and faculty in support of the Yellow Jackets.

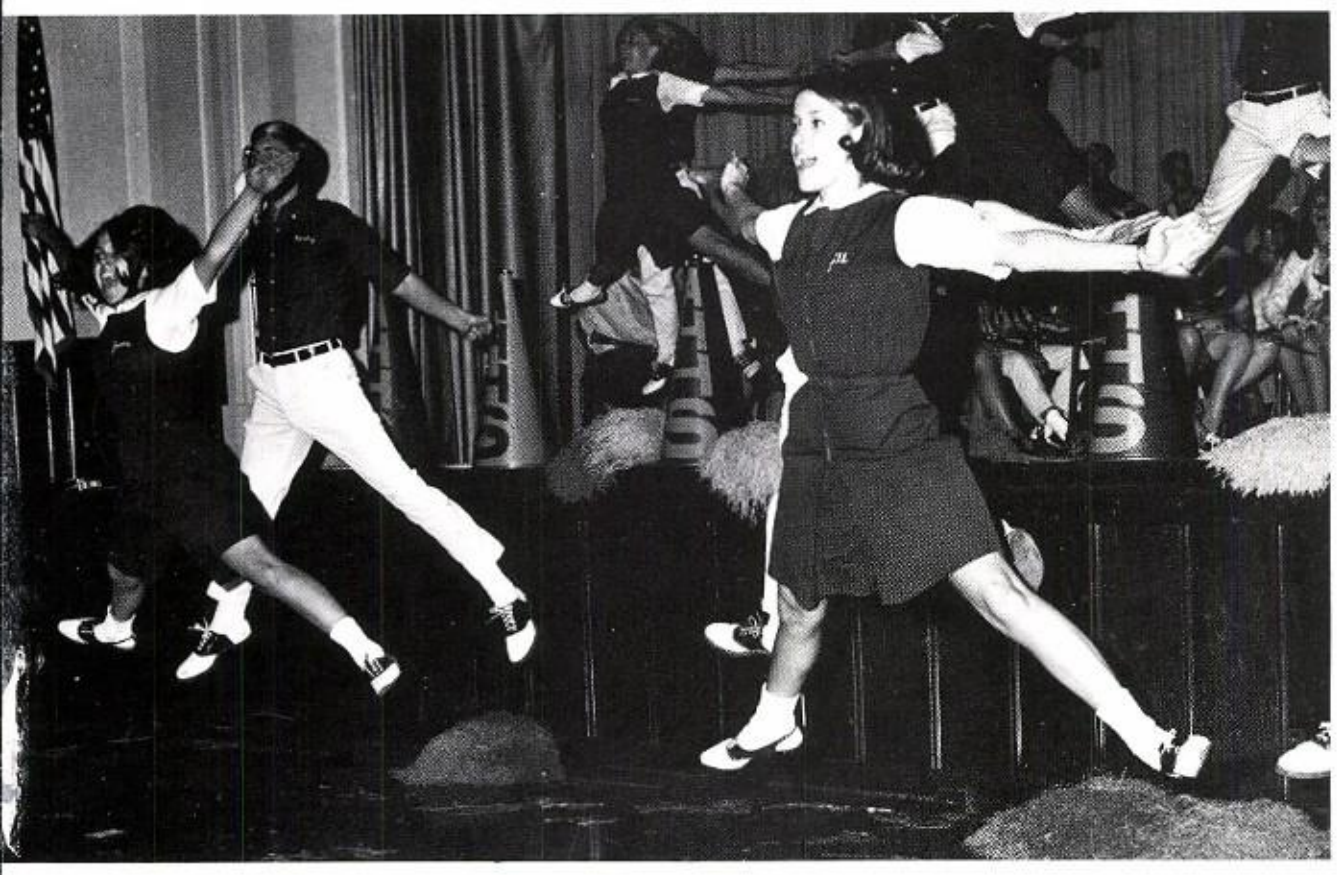
Cheerleaders and alternates led the student body through spirited "B" schedule assemblies to fire the fighting Jackets on to glory. Old and new yells mingled, as memories of by-gone triumphs were revived, and renewed spirit added for new victories to come.

The coaches introduced "their" boys, and other speakers stirred up enthusiasm within the assemblies. Decorations by the Student Council covered the auditorium depicting the fate of Jacket rivals, and the traditional "Heights Boogie" rang out as students captured the beat.

Finally silence fell as the letters of J-A-C-K-E-T-S echoed through the halls and the pep rally ended with the last refrains of the Alma Mater.

The tremendous enthusiasm of a Jacket pep rally resounds throughout the school auditorium.

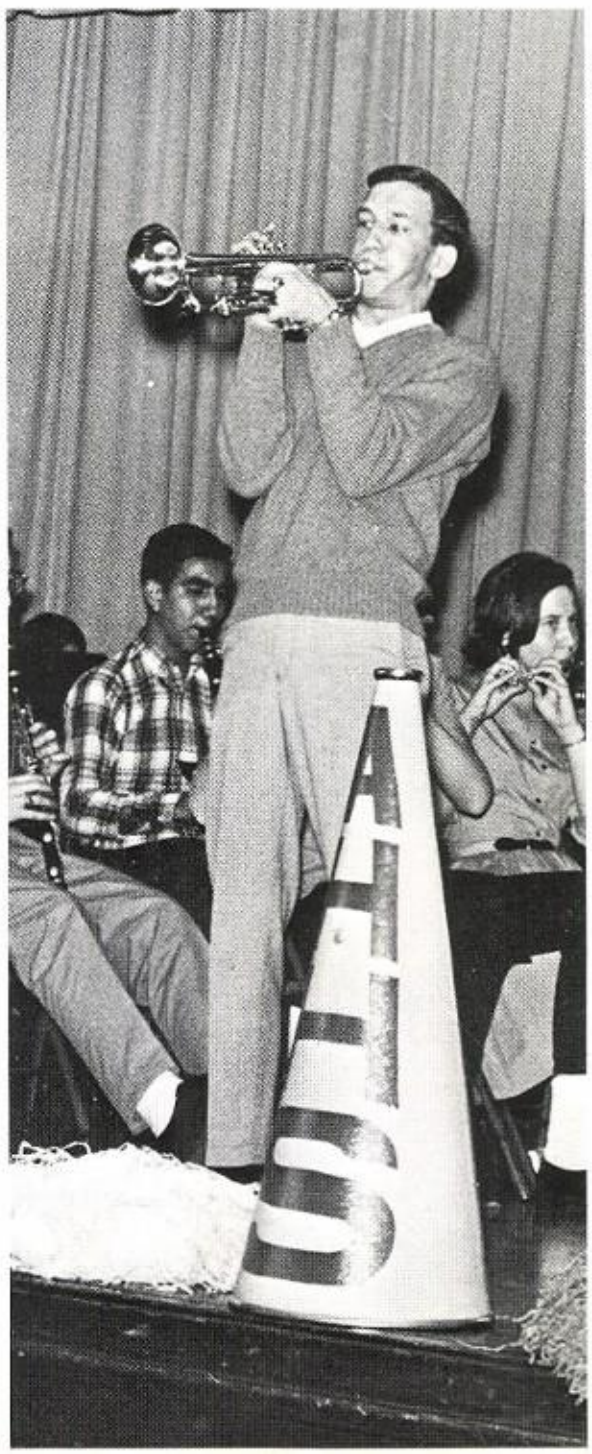
BAD STUFF TO PASCHAL UNIVERSIT



"Give me an X!" cry enthusiastic cheerleaders.

Mrs. Charleene Carlisle addresses the homecoming pep rally with a speech that stirred the Jackets to victory.

"We were going to give you this football queen's necklace, but Coach Ludiker wanted it for his wife," apologizes Steve Tarlton as Mike Bomar presents Rita Downing with the traditional roses.



Featured trumpeter Richard Crummel solos as the band entertains a pep rally audience with a favorite number, "Heights Boogie."

Homecoming

Exes Return; Paschal Crossed

The first signs of decorations appeared in the halls on Monday, November 5, and homecoming week was officially under way. The infectious spirit of the occasion spread like lightening as exes returned to reminisce their years in the rooms and halls of the Hill.

Excitement reached a peak by Friday's pep rally when the first Homecoming Court was presented to the student body. The auditorium rang with thunderous applause as telegrams from countless well-wishers were read.

Determined to overcome the Paschal Panthers, the Jackets met their opposition on the field a few hours later. Determination became reality at Farrington Field, November 9, as the AHHS gridmen handed the Panthers a 14-0 defeat.

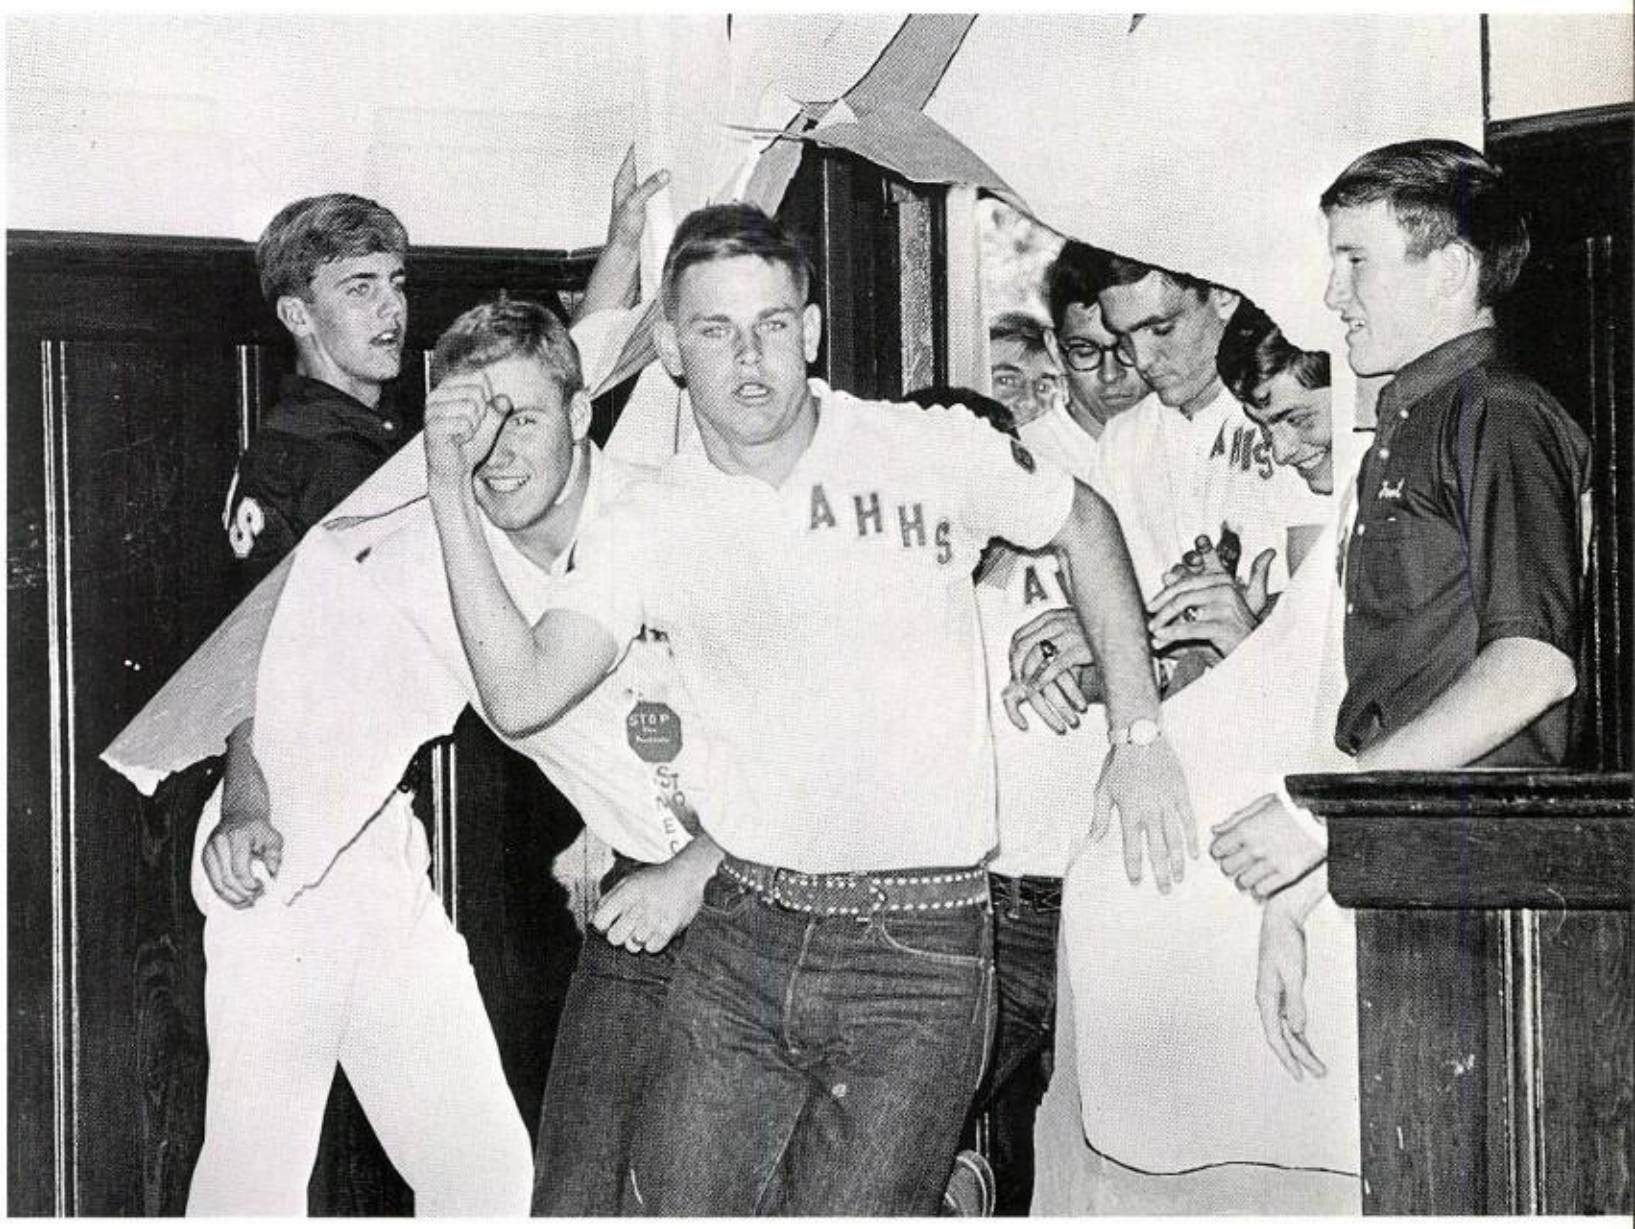
The climax to a perfect day was the Homecoming Dance held in the school gym, where ecstatic Heightsters gathered to congratulate their conquering heroes.

"But, Ma, you promised me I could play football after I brushed my teeth," pleads Trent Saxton to Janet Kauffmann.

Exes are welcomed back during the Homecoming pep rally as they once again participate in functions of their Alma Mater.

"On my honor I will do my best to keep my eyes open during pep rallies," vows Rita Downing.

An awaiting crowd of supporters congratulate the victorious Jackets as they make their entrance at the Homecoming Dance.



"This is a real breakthrough in school spirit," exclaims Trent Saxton.

"This is one heck of a way to cut your fingernails," remarks Theresa Lowrance.

The Marqueys, Bryan Jones, Tommy Kimbro, Chuck Bailey, and David Livingston provide musical entertainment at the AY Talent Show.

Acting Up

Varied Groups Display Talents

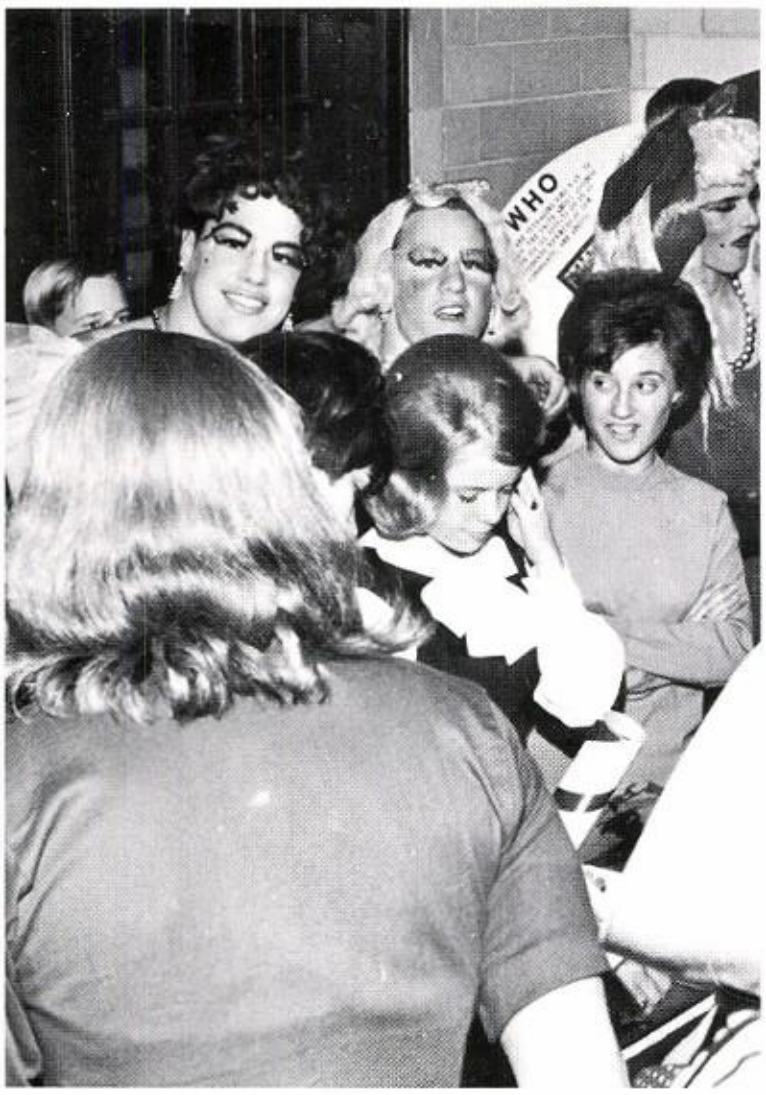
"What's the matter with boys today?" was the question presented by a group of senior girls at the fifth annual AY Talent Show. "Nothing!" was the answer the boys gave as they displayed their musical talents in subsequent acts: The Marqueys, The Grass, and The Deep River Mountain Boys.

Emcee Bobby Lukeman provided jokes and entertainment between acts which included "My Favorite Things" sung by Margo Price; "Doing What Comes Naturally" performed by Kristie Johnson and Jeannine Hatt; The Hot Notes, another combo; a modern dance by Laurie Magill; and the "Sweetheart Tree" sung by Nancy Davis. Most Talented girl, Jan Haley, sang folk songs while accompanying herself on the guitar. Theresa Lowrance brought the program to a close with a twirling act done to the tune of "Work Song."

"No! It's one, two . . . cha, cha, cha," explains Doyle Walters to Bobby Lukeman.

A Y Beauty Contest

Beautiful Beasts Make Debut



"Gosh! Is it always this crowded in the girls' restroom between classes?" wonder beauties Bryan McMahon and Larry Ivey.

On the night of December 13, the school auditorium became the scene for a rare collection of beauty as AY sponsored its annual Beauty Contest. Three male contestants from each class were expertly transformed by their girl sponsors into nine graceful Venuses with feminine names.

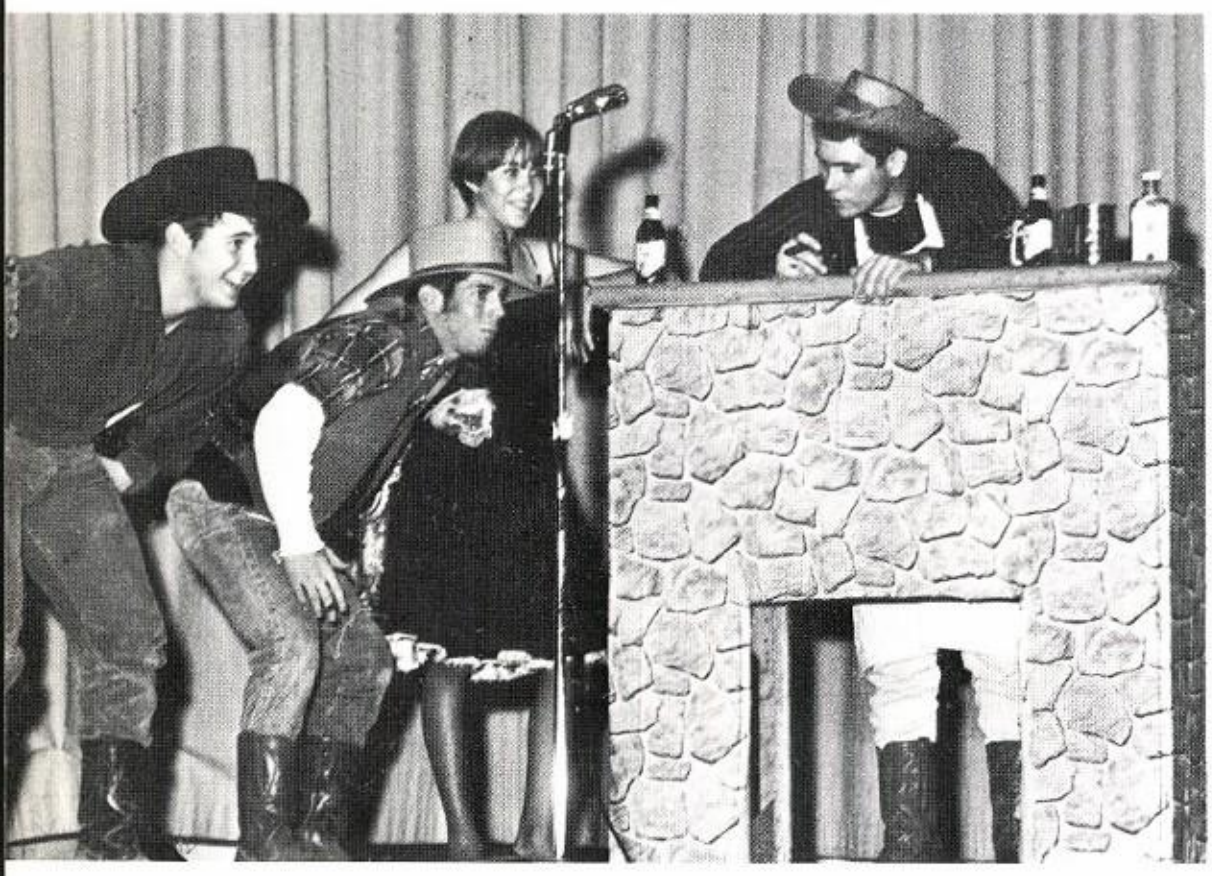
Masters of ceremony, Larry Mathis and Gary Reeves, introduced each lovely, who was escorted in evening attire on stage by a favorite beau. After each "girl's" debut, those attending retreated to the center hall for refreshments and were given an opportunity to vote for their favorite.

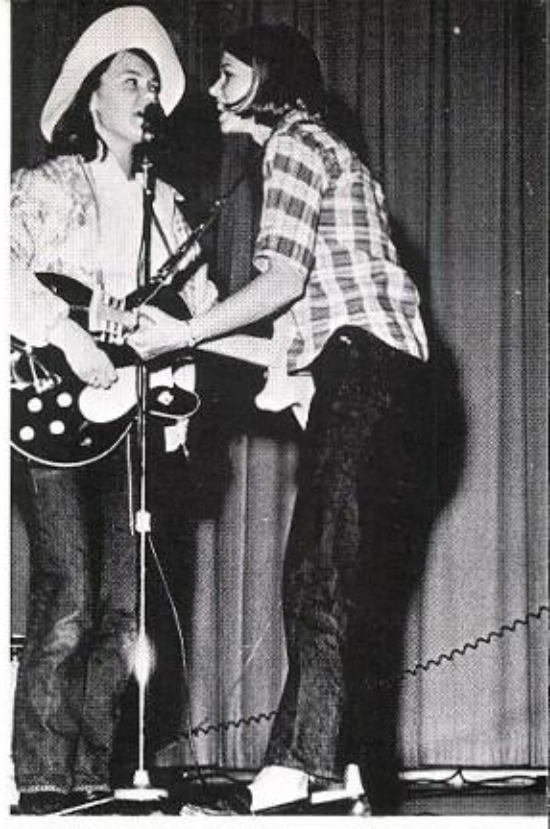
While the penny votes were being tabulated, Judy Buchanan led the audience in an informal sing-song. The climax of the night came with the presentation of roses to the newly reigning AY beauty queen, Tommy Cropper.

AY BEAUTIES: Tommy Cropper, Bryan McMahon, Jimmy Carden, Jody Ambrose, Clancy Dunigan, Larry Ivey, Mike Leech, Bobby Ratliff, and Nick Patoski.

"Gee, Gary, I wish I had a Romper Room do-bee beanie," envies top-hatted Larry Mathis of Gary Reeves.

Barkeep Doyle Walters and chorus gal Kay Bursey watch as Mark Angle and Bobby Merrill prepare for the dynamic duel.





"Lynda doesn't know it yet, but I just turned off her microphone," plots Cynthia Allison to Marsha Crowder as Lynda Hogue and Laura Anthony pound out the rhythm of the Hot Notes.

It's curtains for Black Bart (Gary Reeves) in the Ranch Day Program.

"I think you'll need a size 6 ¾," says Larry Mathis as he fits Jim Carden in the newest hat fashion.

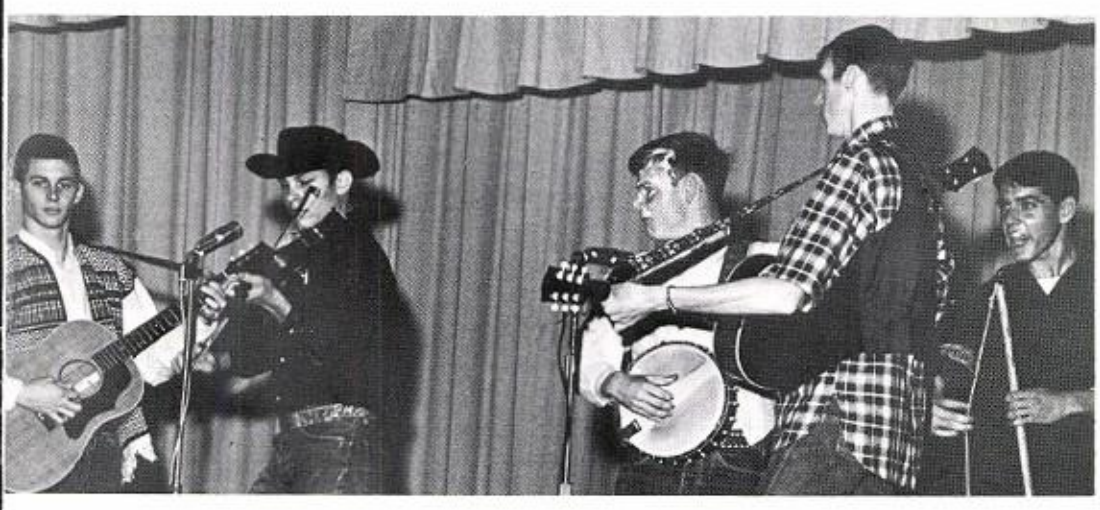
Ranch Day

Hampton and Bomar Rope Western Titles

Ranch Day 1967 consisted of seven hours of western spirit, 2100 varied cowboy costumes, and two rip-roaring assemblies. Cowboy Gary Reeves and modern day "Davy Crockett," Larry Mathis, emceed the Ranch Day Program and entertained cowgirls and -boys with slapstick antics. Highlighting the program was the presentation of Ranch Queen, Jean Hampton, and Foreman, Mike Bomar.

Where there are cowboys there are Indians, and senior girls supplied the war whoops and pistol shooting as they sang and danced their renditions of "I'm an Indian, Too" and "You Can't Get a Man With a Gun."

Real, western, "yee-haa" music was fiddled by David Ferguson and the Deep River Mountain Boys. Forty junior girls entertained with an original song and dance routine, "Ranch Day." The Hot Notes, a female version of the Beatles, played and sang songs of the day, and a group of Allied Youths presented a barroom brawl.



"You didn't tell me we were the next act. I didn't even have time to finish shaving," gripes Mike Bomar.

"This is what firewater did to the West!" proclaim senior girls.

Mostest Contest

Sixteen Hearts Set on Valentine Titles

Amid the talent, music, and pageantry of "An Old Fashioned Valentine," 16 juniors and seniors sought mostest titles February 14, in the school auditorium. Hosting the fourth annual event were Mr. and Miss AHHS, Jim Richards and Jackye Higby. Judges for the contest were prominent Fort Worth citizens and local television personalities.

Routines ranged from piano concerts to dancing on roller skates. Winning acts were "Dream Beat," Dan Dydek's original drum composition and "Sixteen Going on Seventeen," sung and originally choreographed by Jan Haley.

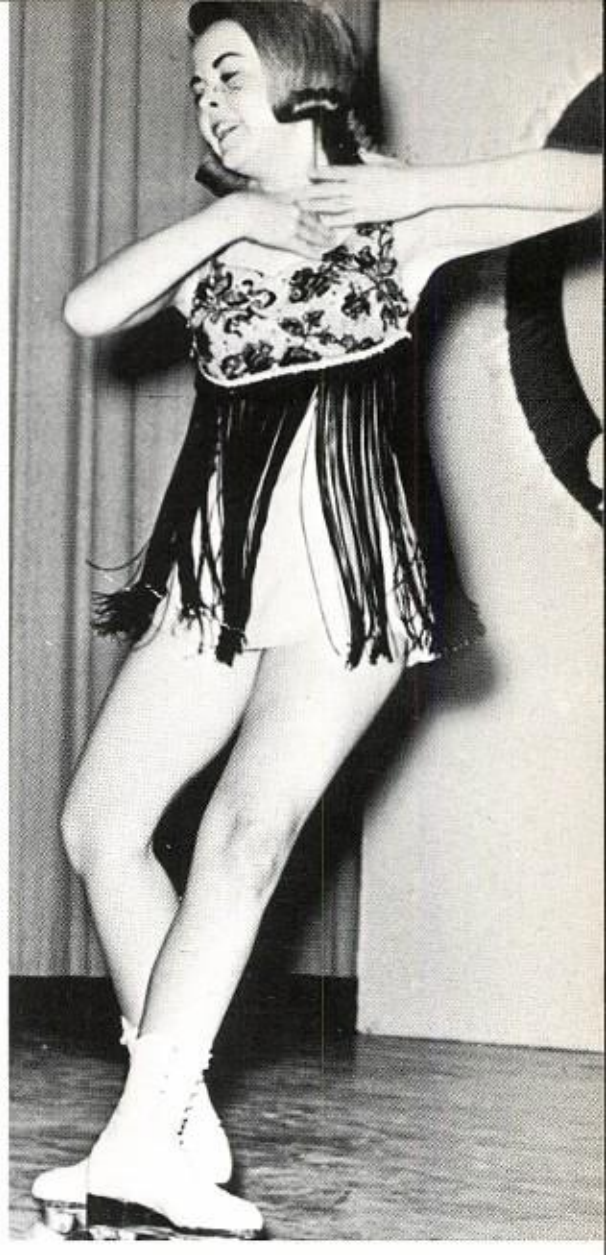
Of the six Most Beautiful and Most Handsome finalists, Jean Hampton and Jim Carden received the 1967 titles. The contest, sponsored by the Jacket Journal and Yellow Jacket staffs, ended with the presentation of the Mostest trophies by editors Cameo Jones of the Jacket Journal and Lynda Hogue of the Yellow Jacket.

Judy Buchanan, senior contender, displays her operatic voice as she sings "Only a Rose" and "Summertime" for the talent competition.

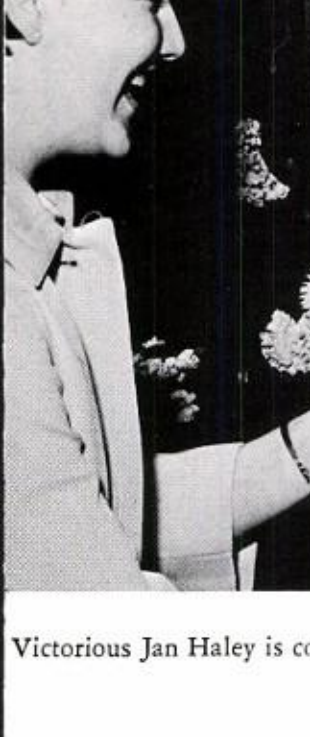
"I said Dutch treat. Get your own, Jill!" exclaims Most Handsome Jim Carden to beauty finalist Jill Levering.

"Boy! What a snow-job," remarks Miss Corlea Haran to Suzanne Godley and Bobby Bradshaw as the trio works to finish decorations for the Mostest Contest.

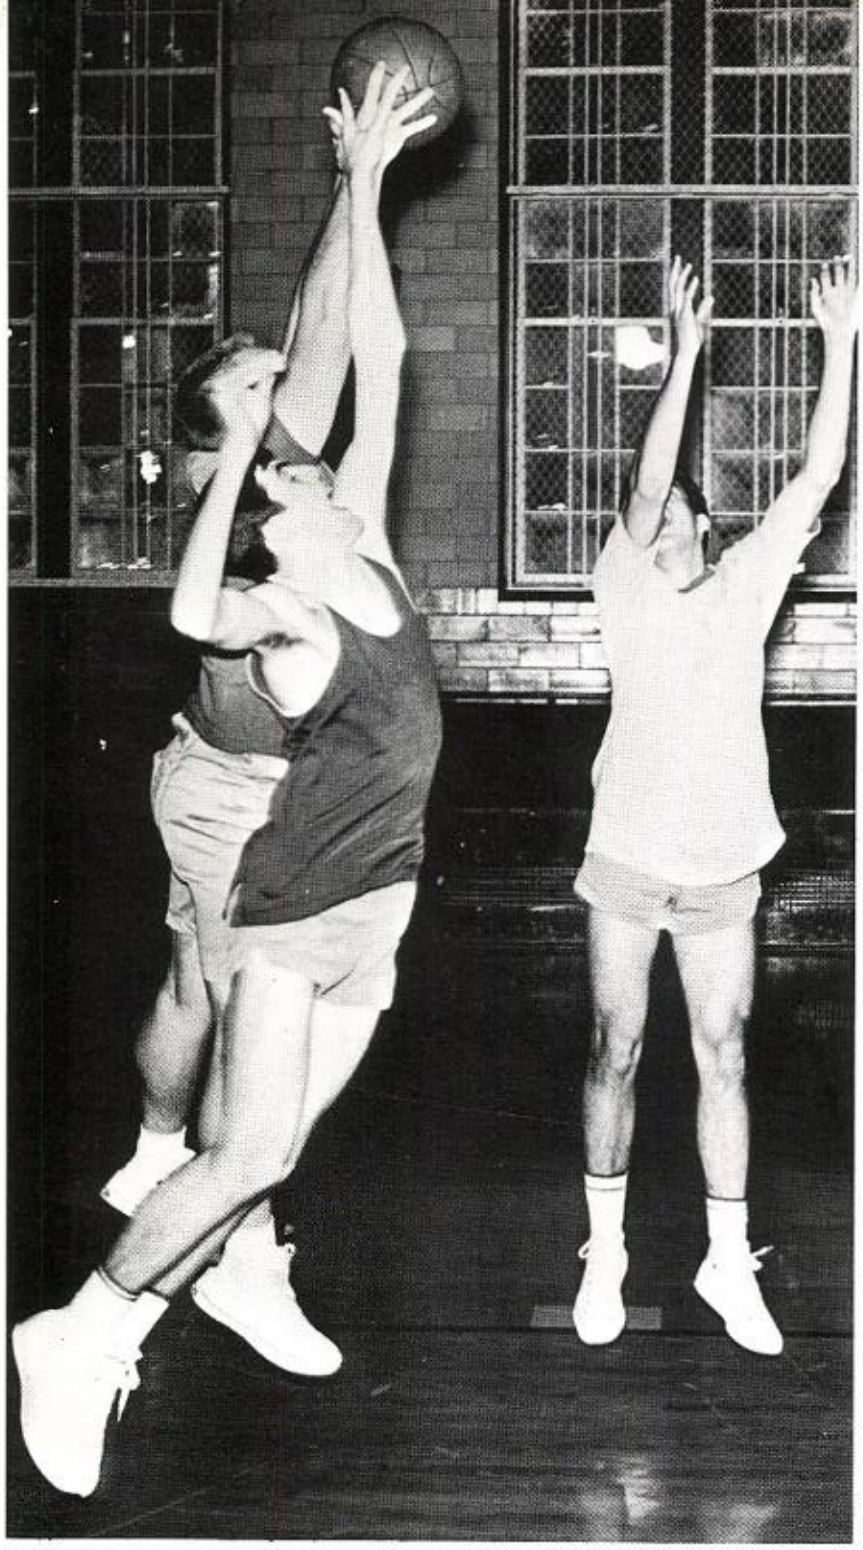
Victorious Jan Haley is congratulated by friends after winning Most Talented title.



Skating champion Melinda Walker performs one of her many routines in competition for Most Talented.



David Ferguson vies for top honors in the Most Talented contest with a hoedown rendition of "Orange Blossom Special."



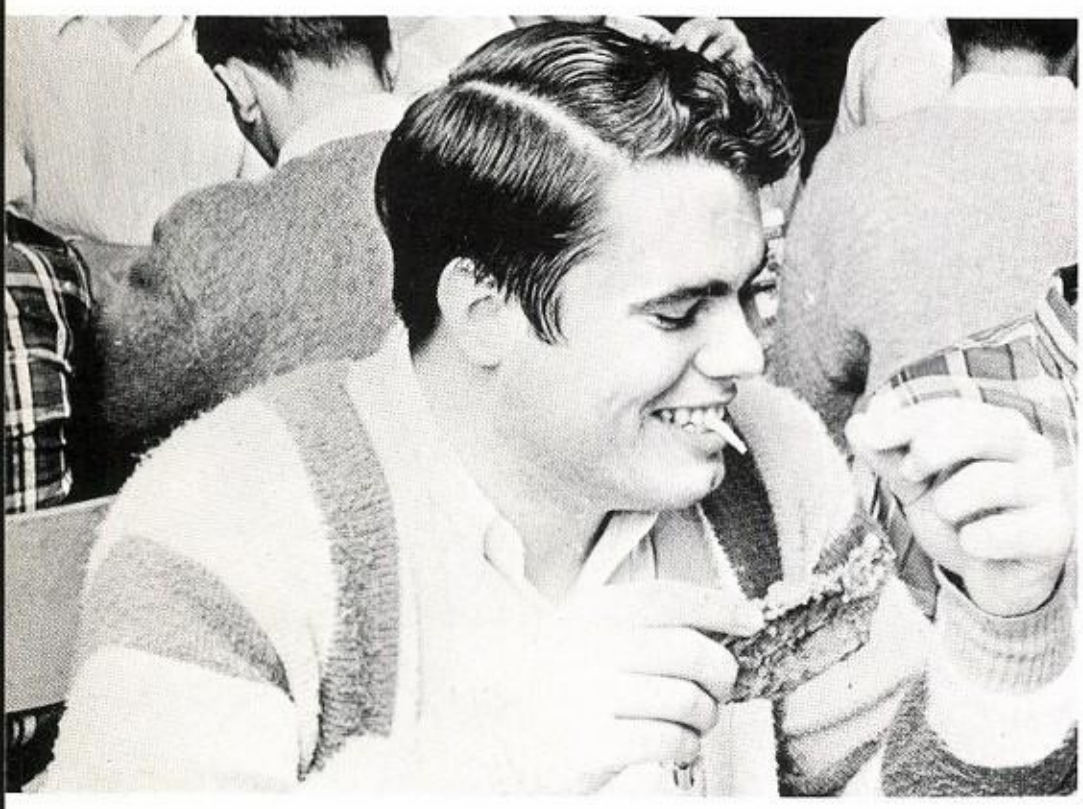
Odds and Ends

"When in the Course Of Human Events . . ."

Many moments and happenings unfolded at Heights but failed to be recorded and classed as an active part of school history. Classroom epics, tribulations of the lunchroom, and teachers' antics provided a raft of comedy suitable as a repertoire for any great comedian or as information to compile many volumes of "school-lore."

These particular incidents were seen by few, but many will look upon these pictures, and be reminded of their high school life.

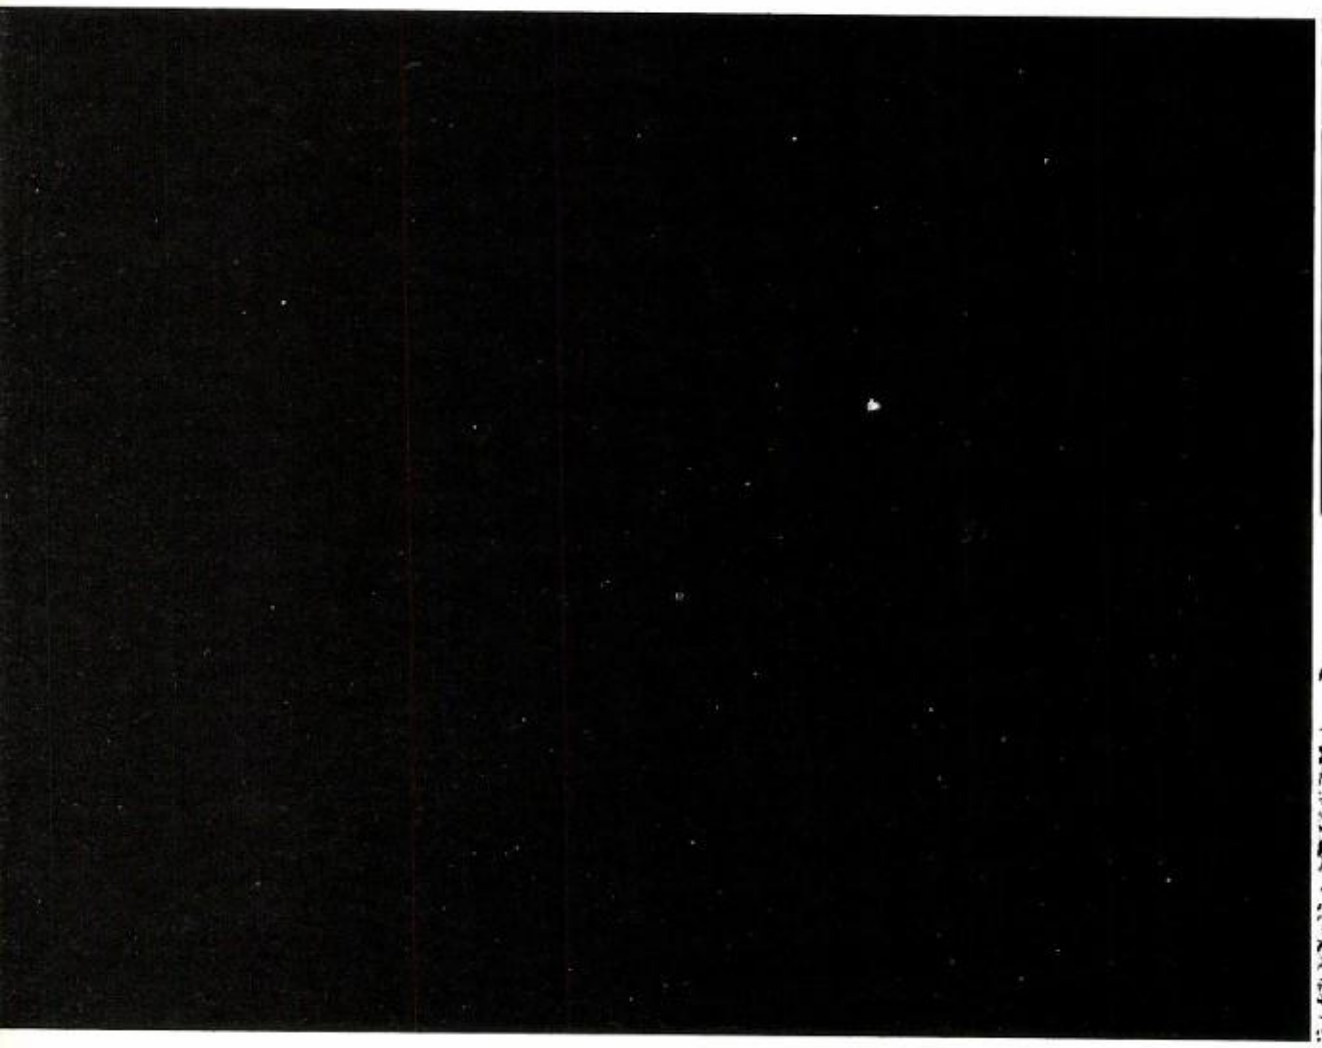
Coach Mike Richardson puts one past juniors Leland Clemons and John McInnis in the student-faculty basketball game.

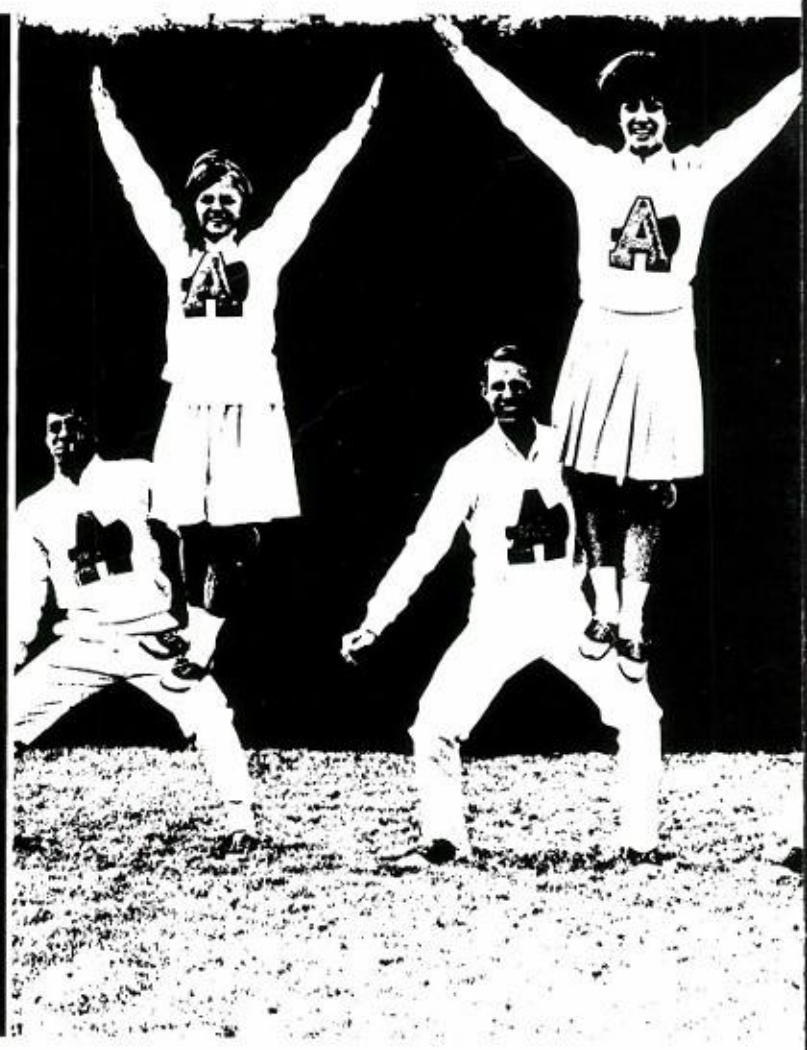


"O-o-o-o! I got the same thing in mine, too!" cringes Wendy Price as she observes Jimmy Hastings and his find.

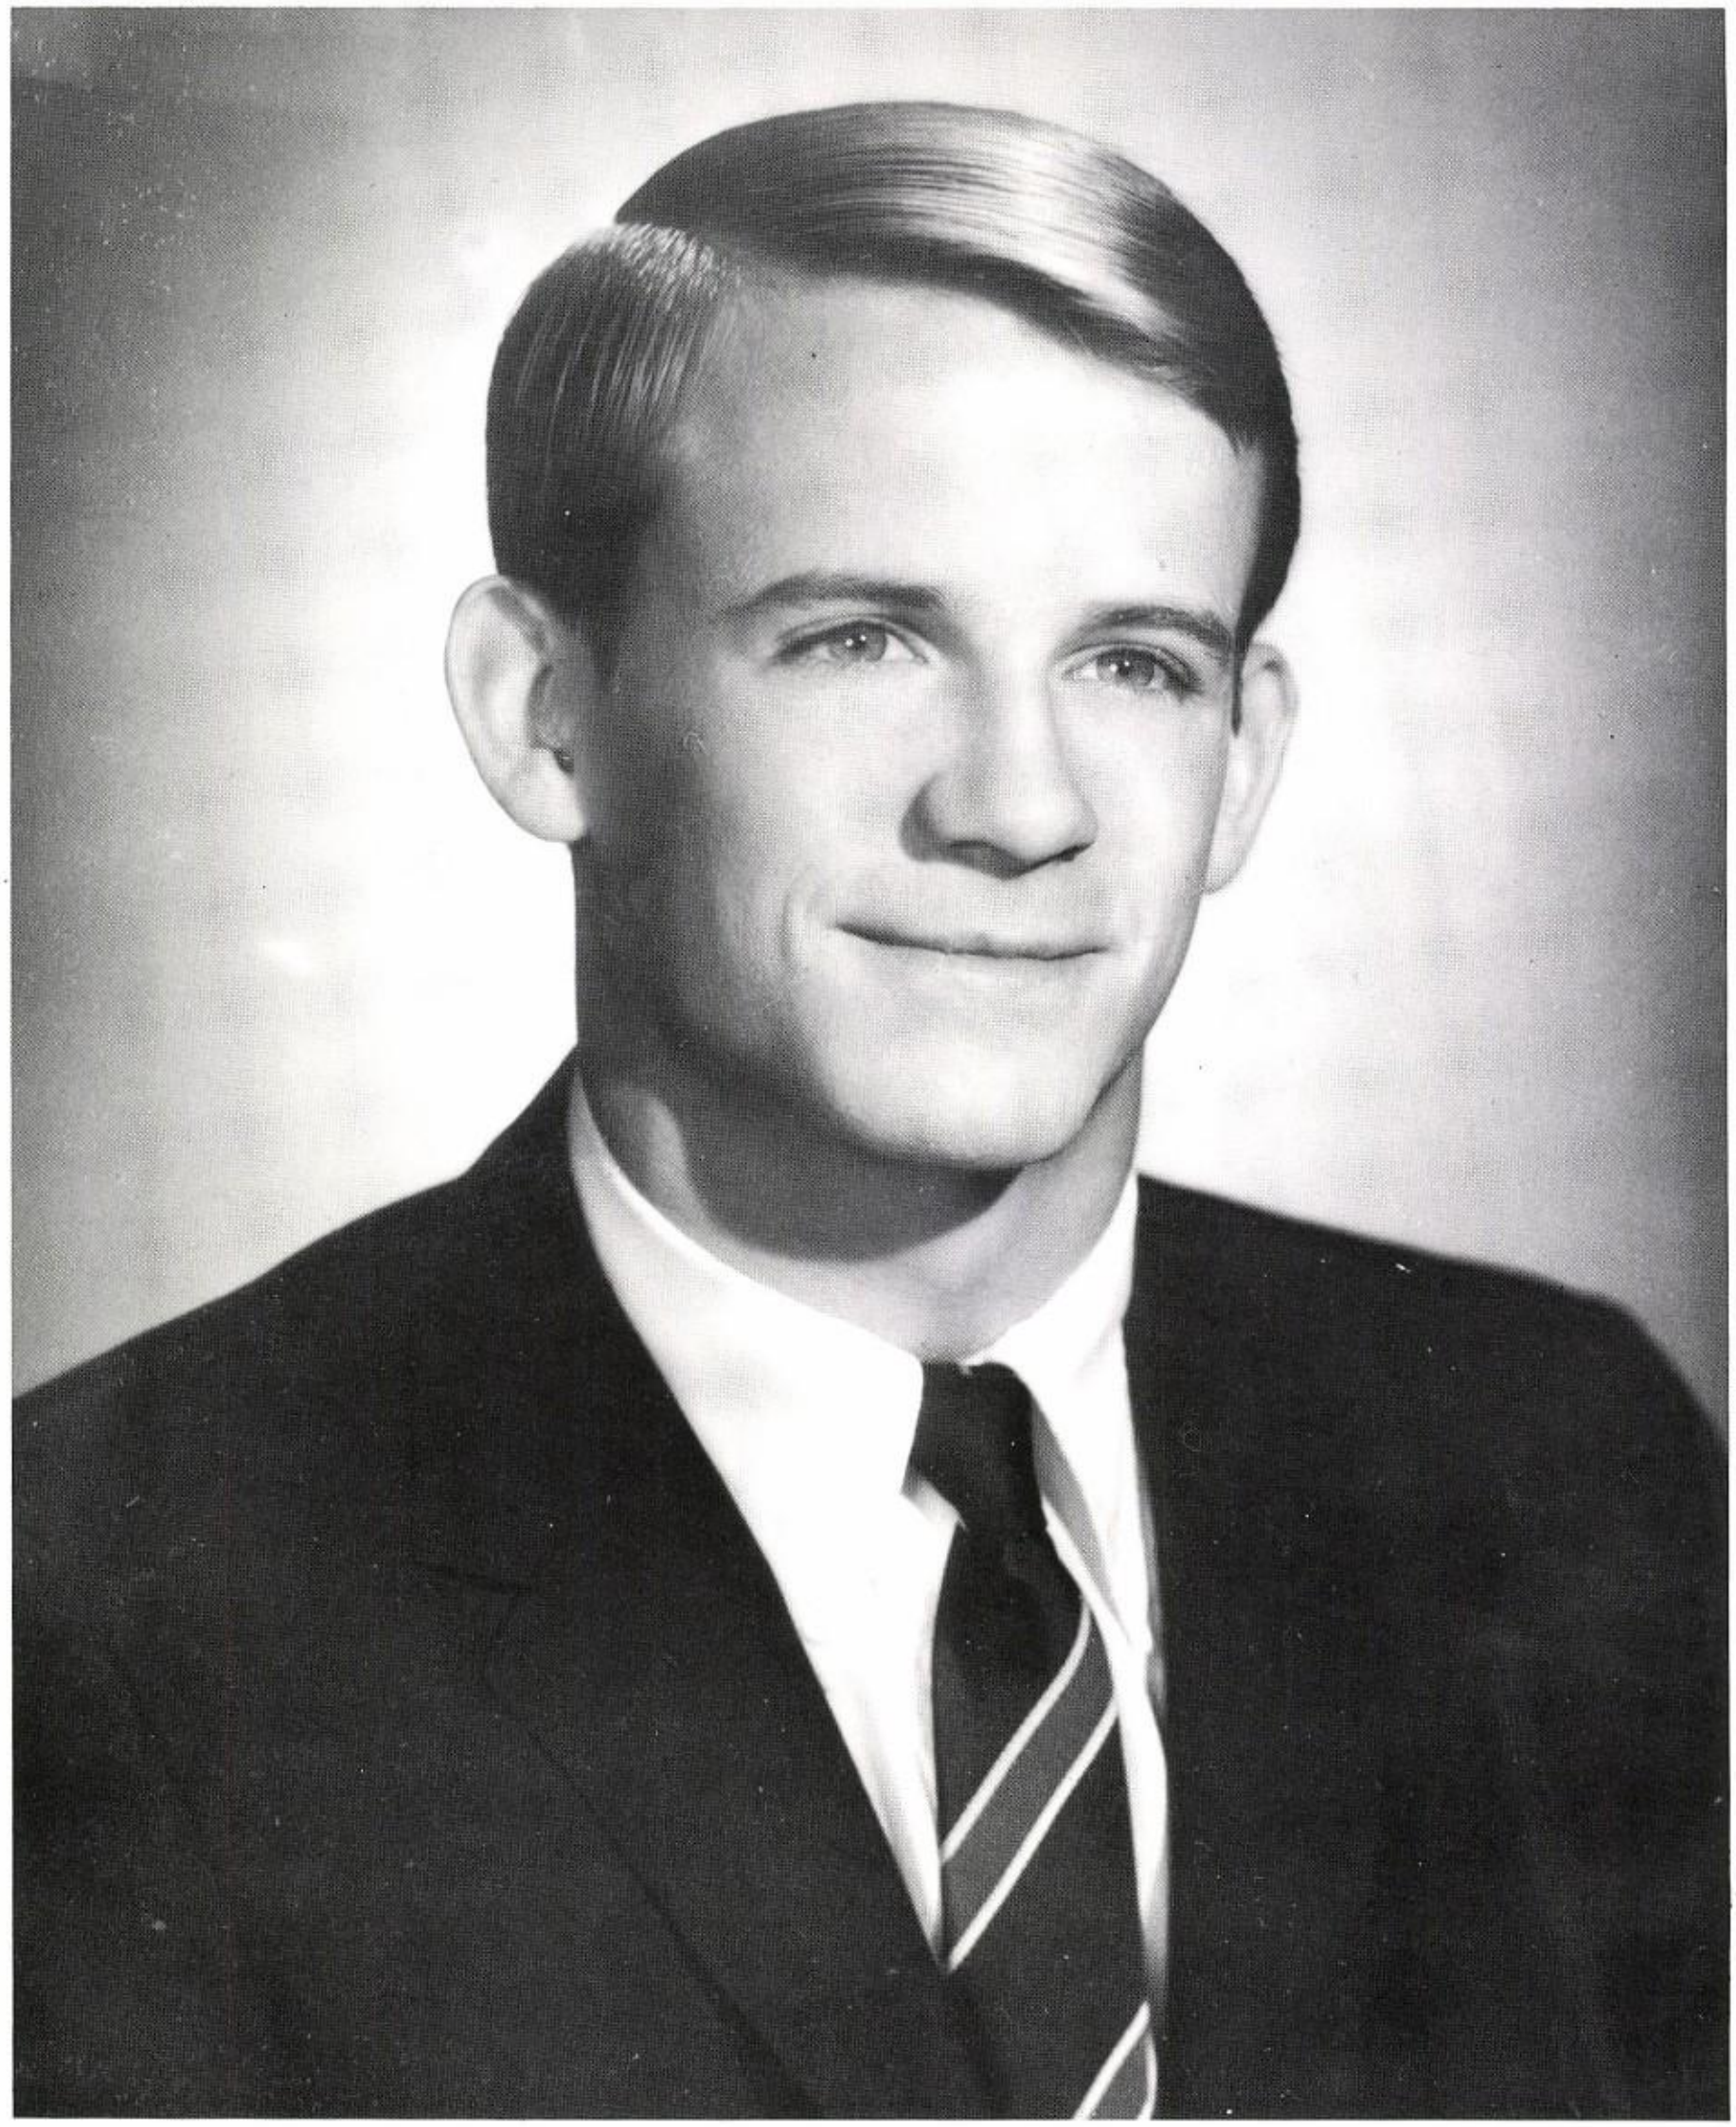
The faculty and administration extend welcoming wishes to both parents and students at the October Open House.

Government II gubernatorial elections don't seem to disturb Mrs. Betty Quimby's first period class.





PERSONALITIES



Mr. AHHS

Jim Richards

Representing high standards, Mr. and Miss AHHS earned the respect and admiration of the entire student body. They were seniors elected in the fall of each year.

Miss AHHS

Jackye Higby

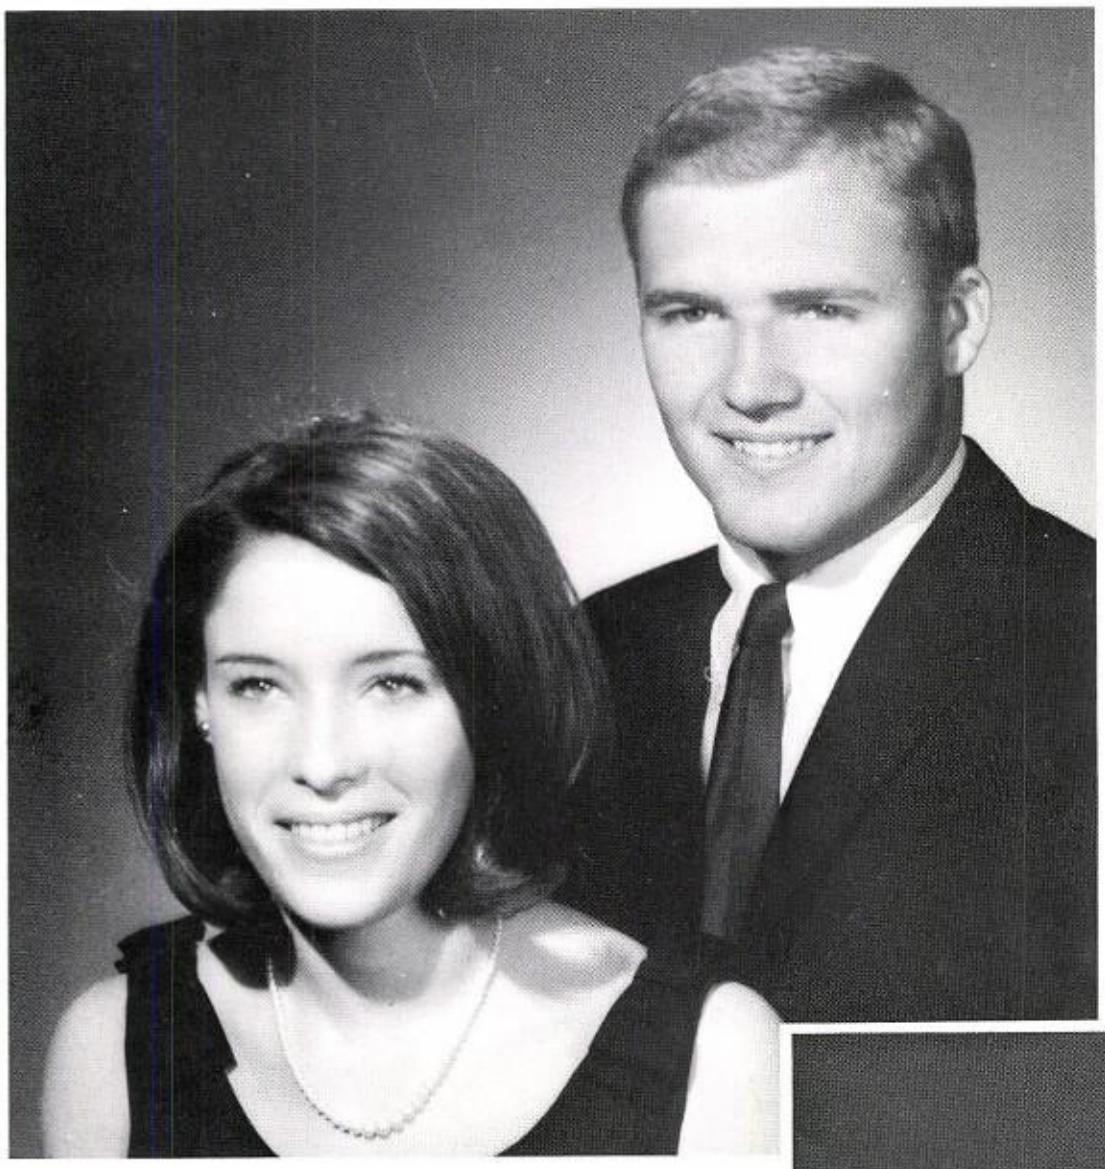
Qualifying requirements included no grade below C and E's in citizenship each six weeks during the sophomore and junior years plus outstanding qualities of leadership and service.

Jackye and Jim Symbolize Lofty Ideals

Head cheerleader, Jackye Higby, proved herself an outstanding leader and a hard worker. A finalist for Favorite in her sophomore year, Jackye was then elected Junior Favorite the following year. As a member of the Student Council for three years, she served as chairman of both the Promotions and Decorations Committees. An honor student, Jackye received the "J" Club Award and the Leonard's Award. Vice-president in charge of membership of Allied Youth, she was also active in Young Citizen's Forum.

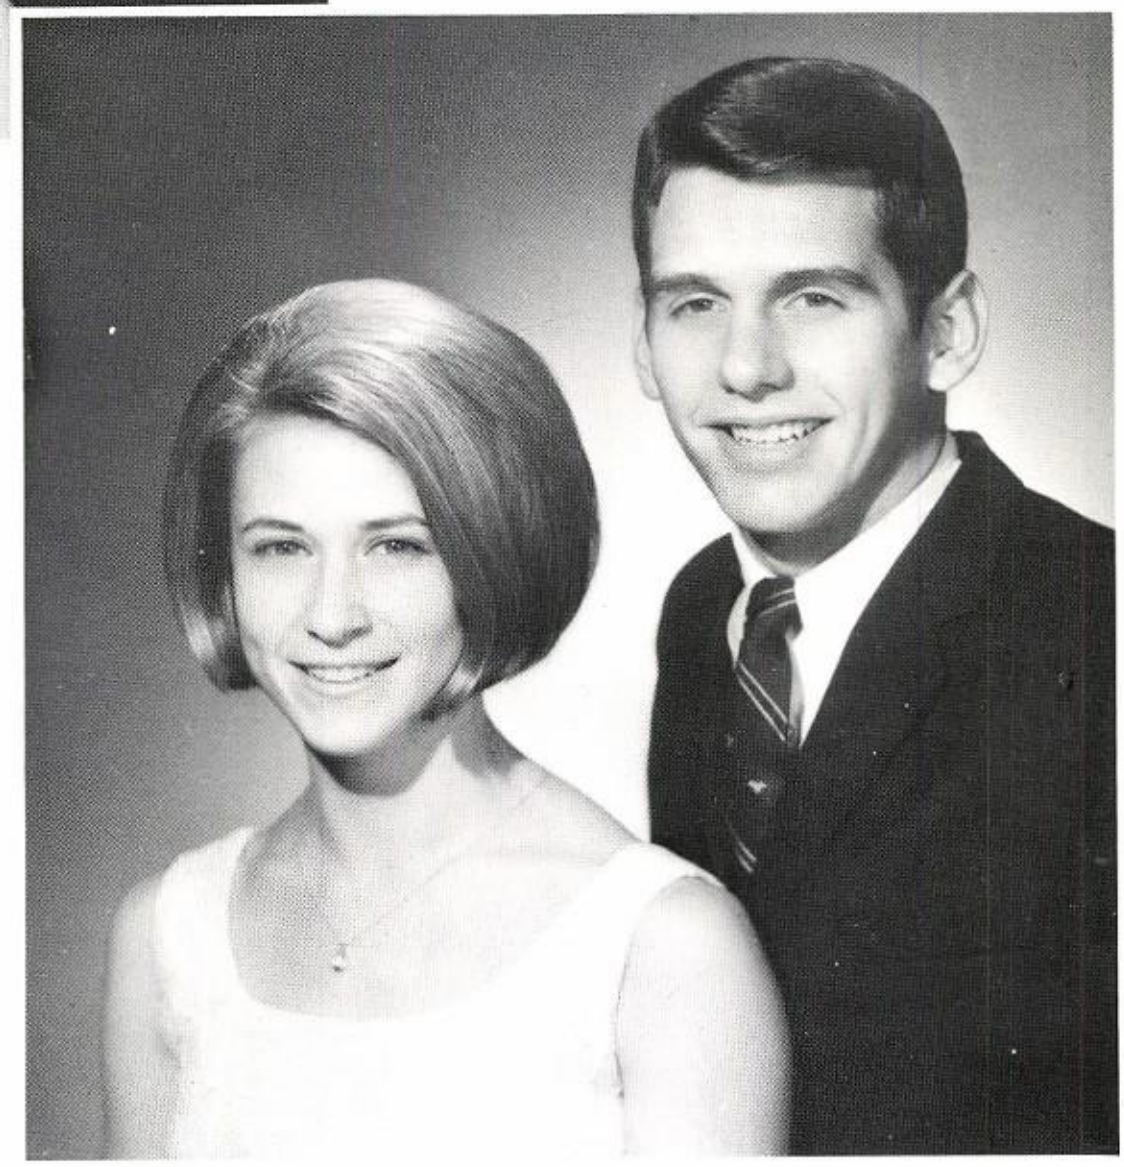
Elected Sophomore and Junior Favorite, Jim served AHHS in varied activities. An end on the football squad, Jim was chosen president of the "A" Club. He acted as treasurer of Young Citizen's Forum and actively participated in Allied Youth. Proving his scholastic ability, Jim received a National Merit Letter of Commendation and was the recipient of the "J" Club and Leonard's Awards. Honored as homeroom president for three years, Jim also served as Co-Editor of the Yellow Jacket during his senior year.

Finalists Commended For Service



Jill Levering
Steve Tarlton

Both Jill and Steve achieved membership in the "J" Club. As alternate cheerleader her senior year, Jill assisted in boosting the spirit at AHHS. She was also a three year member of Allied Youth and Young Citizen's Forum and a recipient of the Leonard's Award. Elected by the seniors, Jill served as class treasurer. Acting as Co-Captain of the football team, Steve was named All-District tackle for two years. He attained the Leonard's Award and contributed to the 1967 Yellow Jacket as Sports Editor. For three years, Steve presided as the top officer in his homeroom.



Cindy Willoughby
Tommy Pigg

Allied Youth participants, Cindy and Tommy merited the "J" Club and Leonard's Awards. Experience as secretary of her homeroom and Junior Red Cross aided Cindy in her duty as secretary of the senior class. Student Councilman in charge of the Cards and Flowers Committee, Cindy was also a member of the Executive Committee of Young Citizen's Forum and reigned as 1966-67 Homecoming Queen. Tommy, two year football letterman, acted as president of his homeroom since his sophomore year. As a junior, Tommy was chosen second runner-up in the Allied Youth Beauty Contest.

Spirited Cheerleaders Ignite Enthusiasm

An explosion of eagerness and excitement roused students and faculty as they backed the fighting Jackets. Yell leaders of 1966-67 successfully sounded cries of "Echo" and "Beat" spurring the athletic teams to well-earned victories.

Eligibility requirements for junior and senior positions included no grade below C in each subject for the six weeks period preceeding spring elections. The leaders could have no grade below E in citizenship for the two six weeks period preceeding election time. The sophomore cheerleaders, elected in the fall, must have attained an E average in citizenship and at least a C average during the preceeding semester.

The generous cooperation of sponsor, Miss Helen Hale, united the energetic efforts put forth by the squad.

Homecoming Royalty

Cindy Willoughby

Jean Hampton

Sally Carpenter

A smiling face expressed Cindy Willoughby's feeling of excitement as she was named Homecoming Queen for 1966-67. Escorted by former Student Body President, Tom Schieffer, Cindy was crowned during half-time at the Heights-Paschal game. Sharing the spotlight with Cindy, as members of the first Homecoming Court, Jean Hampton and Sally Carpenter, accompanied the queen onto the field, escorted by ex-students Ted Fay and Ray Pomykall.

Ranch Foreman and Queen

Mike Bomar

Often seen in western attire, Mike frequently enjoys riding his registered quarterhorse, Toy Smuggler. Having ridden for six years, Mike also owns horses on a farm in Fannin County.

Jean Hampton

Selected Ranch Queen, Jean has ridden since she was six years old. Her horse, Goldie, is kept on a ranch in Lufkin, Texas, where she has entered barrel racing events.

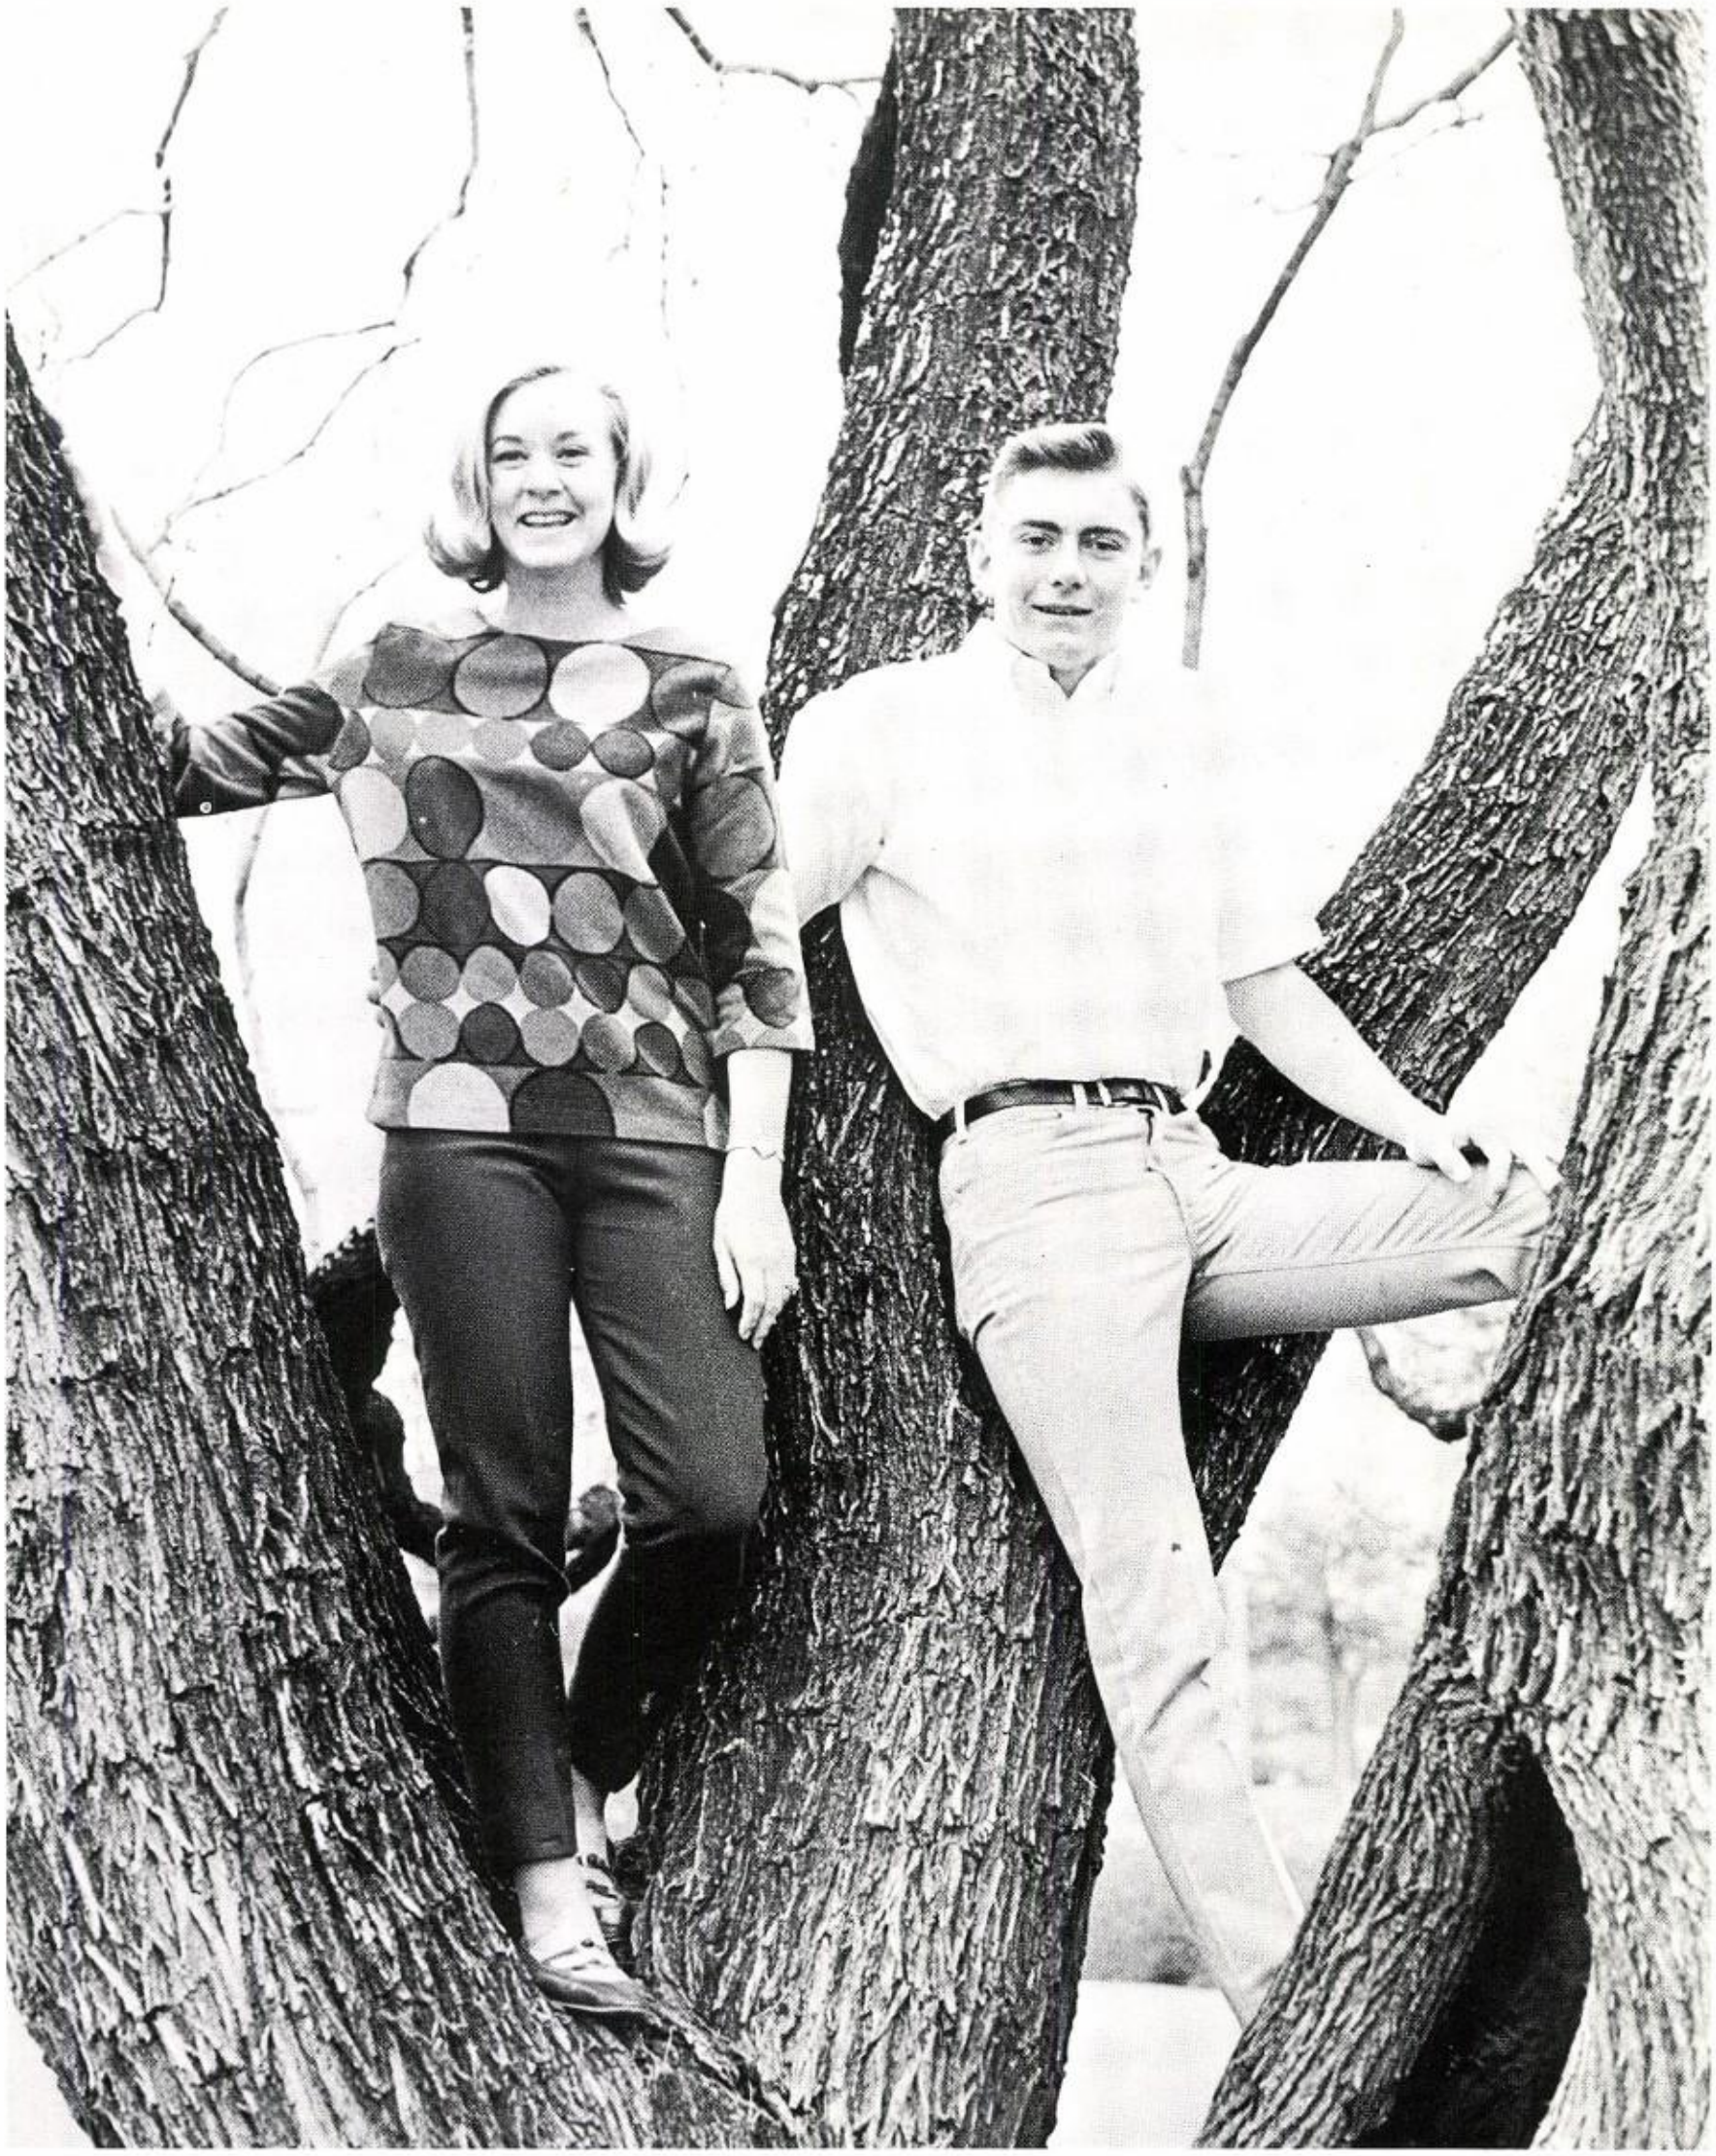
Most Friendly

Rita Downing

Displaying qualities of congeniality and leadership, Rita represented Heights as senior cheerleader and football queen and was also elected senior class vice-president. Fellow students recognized her for her ready smile and friendly manner.

Clovis Miguel

Meeting Heightsters with a friendly Brazilian "Hello", Clovis made the Good Neighbor Policy real to the Hill. A foreign exchange student, he participated in many activities demonstrating his enthusiastic school spirit.



Most Athletic

Mary Lowdon

An avid tennis player, Mary ranked first in Texas and 18th in the United States in 18 and under competition. Placing number one on the Junior Wightman Cup Team, Mary served as its captain.

Lee Hitt

Letterman for two years, Lee was most active on the gridiron displaying distinguished ability as the Jackets' defensive safety. Winning All-District honors in this position, he also played quarterback.

Most Talented

Jan Haley

A song and dance combined to make Jan's routine a success. Having danced with the Fort Worth Ballet Association, she choreographed her arrangement.

Dan Dydek

Vying for the Most Talented title, Dan performed his original drum composition, "Dream Beat". A member of the lab and marching band, he has played the drums for six years.

Most Studious

Angela Ambrose

A two year "J" Club and Leonard's Award member, Angie maintained a high scholastic average during her three years at Heights. The active senior was the recipient of the DAR Award and YJ Personalities Editor.

Mike Bomar

Between his duties as co-captain of the football team and senior class president, Mike still found time for his studies. He was also a recipient of the "J" Club pin and a three year member of AY and YCF.

Most Beautiful

Jean Hampton

Chosen as Ranch Queen and a member of the 1966 Homecoming Court, Jean was also a nominee for Most Beautiful honors both her sophomore and junior years.

Most Handsome

Jim Carden

President of the Student Body, Jim quarterbacked the football squad as a second year letterman. Elected a finalist in January, he was chosen Most Handsome at the Mostest Show.

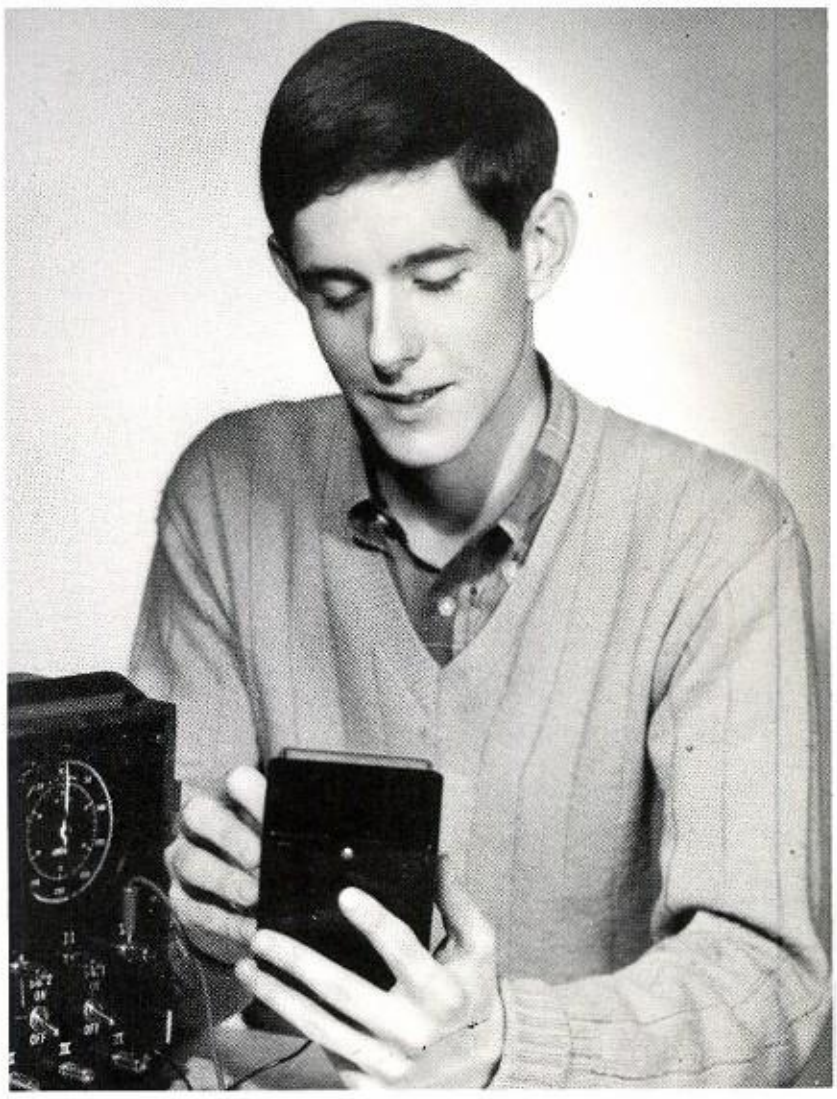
National Merit Finalists

A trio of seniors, Roberta Crawford, David Mueller, and Jerry Poplin, qualified as Finalists in the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Program. Ratings on the College Entrance Examination Board and the National Merit Qualifying Test, taken last spring, were matched with academic and citizenship grades and personal recommendations.

All State Orchestra

Dan Dydek

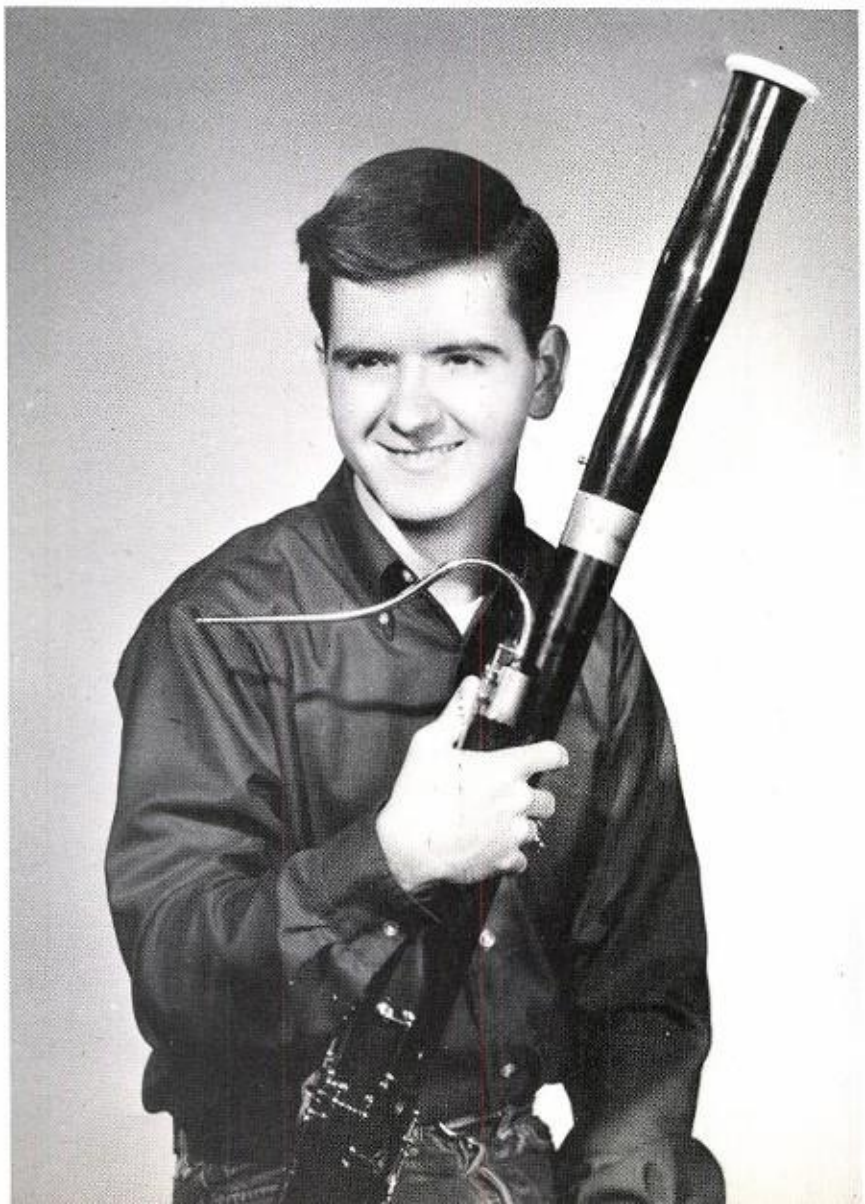
Competing for a position in the All State Symphonic Orchestra, Dan auditioned on the snare drums in the regional tryouts at Arlington. Recordings were made and sent to Houston for final judging. Dan was then named to the All State Symphony, but was unable to attend the clinic and concert in Houston.



All State Band

Mike Morrison

Having played the bassoon in the Jacket Band for three years, Mike traveled to Houston in February for the final selection in All-State Band competition. There he made first chair in the Symphonic Band for the second year. He also participated in the Texas Music Educators Association Grand Concert on February 11.



Science

Chris Tomlinson

Nominated by Principal John B. Sharp, Chris was chosen as the Arlington Heights delegate to the National Youth Conference on the atom. The conference, sponsored by Texas Electic Company, was held in Chicago in October. In order to qualify, Chris had to show an active interest in the field of science and also a plan to continue his scientific study.

Seniors Qualify for Who's Who Honors

On the basis of service, leadership, and scholarship throughout their three years at Heights, fourteen seniors were named to Who's Who.

Eligibility was based on all E's in citizenship and no grade below C by six weeks periods in academic subjects for three years. Seniors must have maintained a B average in all subjects for that period.

Service and leadership qualities were determined by nominations from organization faculty sponsors. Seniors voted on the final ballot.

Heights Reaches Second Berth in 4A-5

With a 5-5 season record, the Yellow Jackets terminated district play in second position behind Eastern Hills. After winning over Dallas W.T. White 28-0, the 4A-5 defending champions suffered consecutive losses to Austin McCallum, Waco Richfield, and Dallas Samuell.

The Jackets then smashed three district foes, Carter, North Side, and Poly, before being upset by a powerful Trimble Tech squad, 12-19. The Blue and Gold rebounded, however, to destroy arch rival Paschal, 14-0. Jacket hopes for the district crown disintegrated in the loss to Eastern Hills.

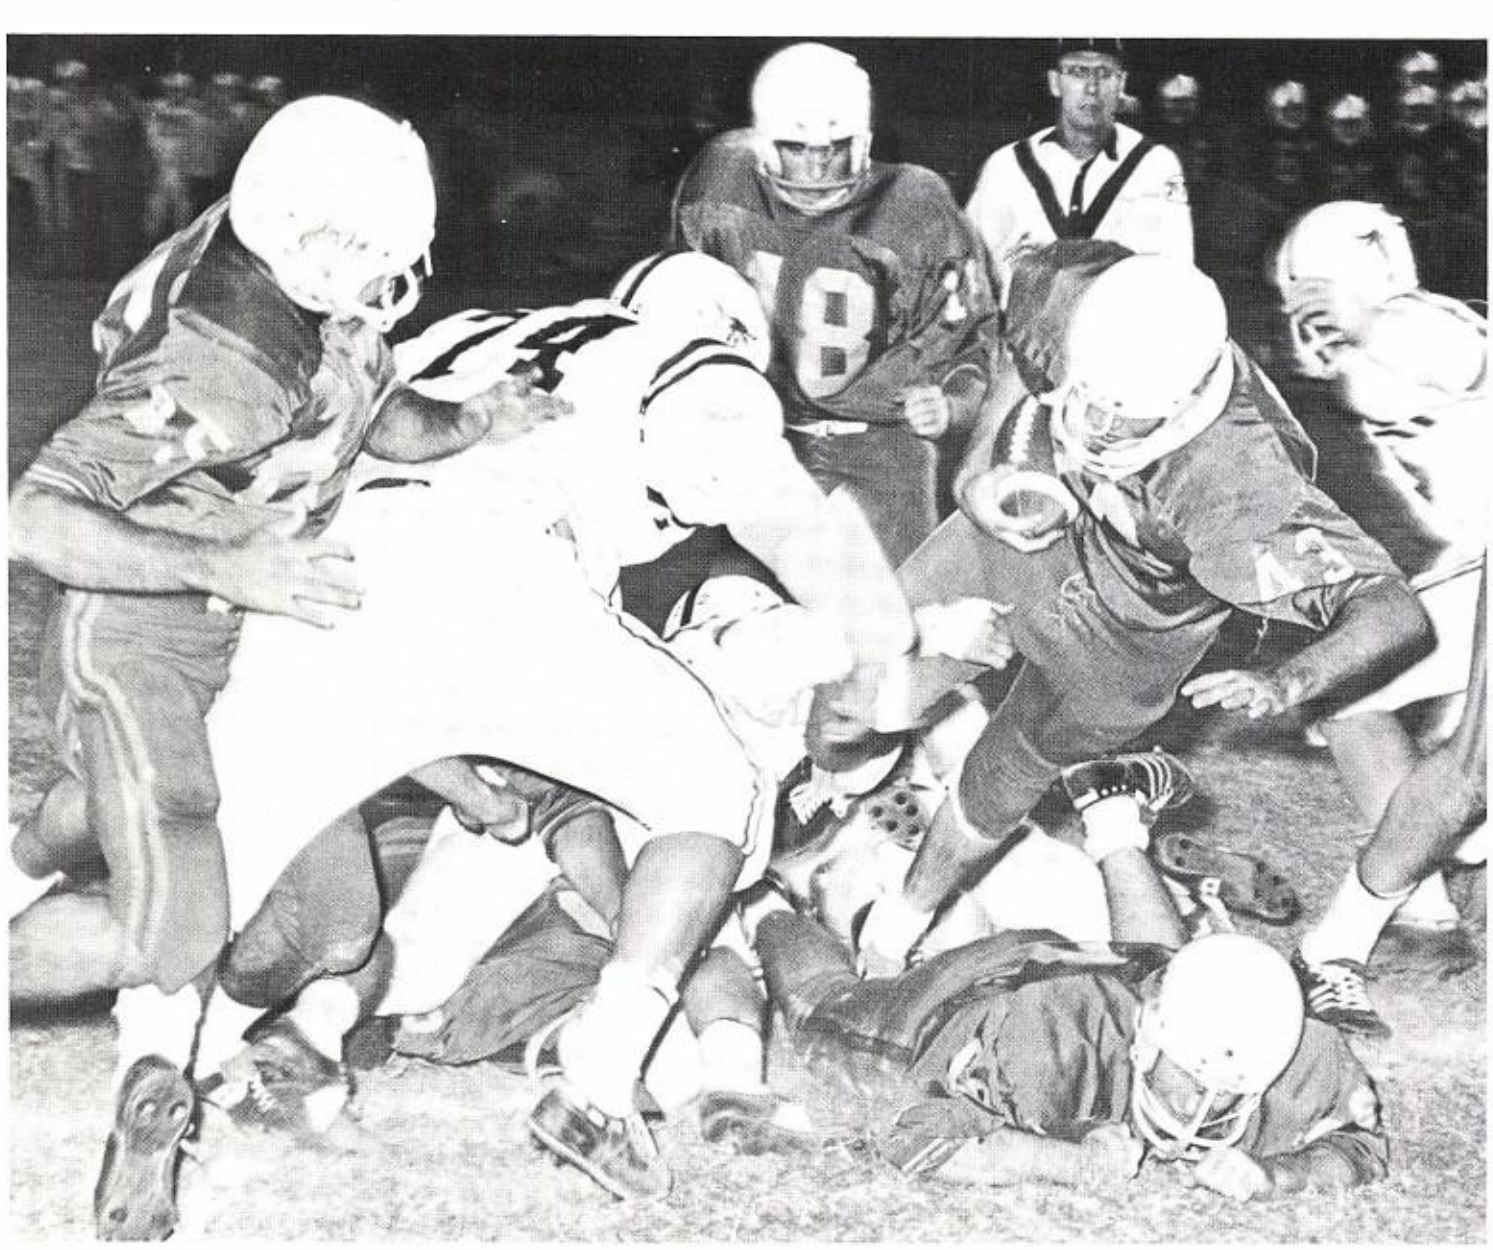
Preseason Casts Shadow on District



Fullback Ronnie Humphreys dives over guard Larry Ivey to score against North Side.

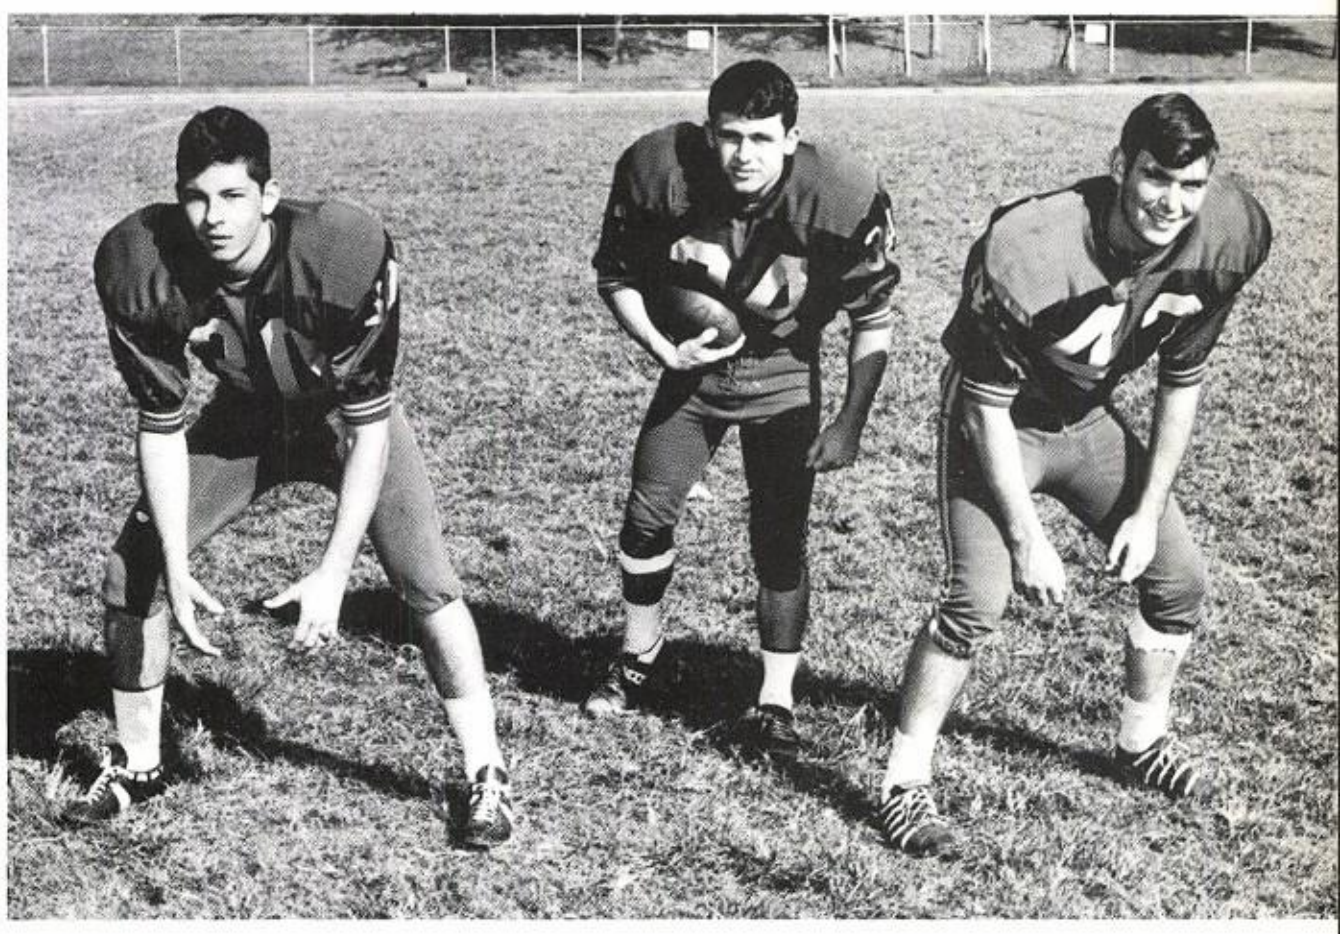
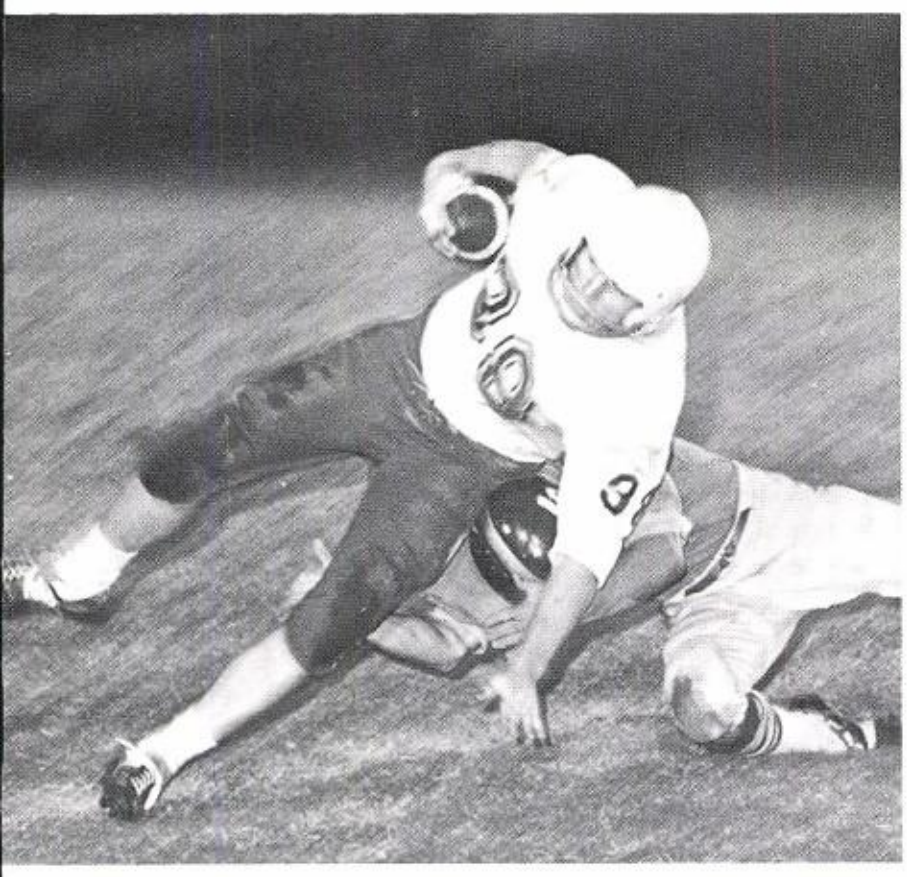
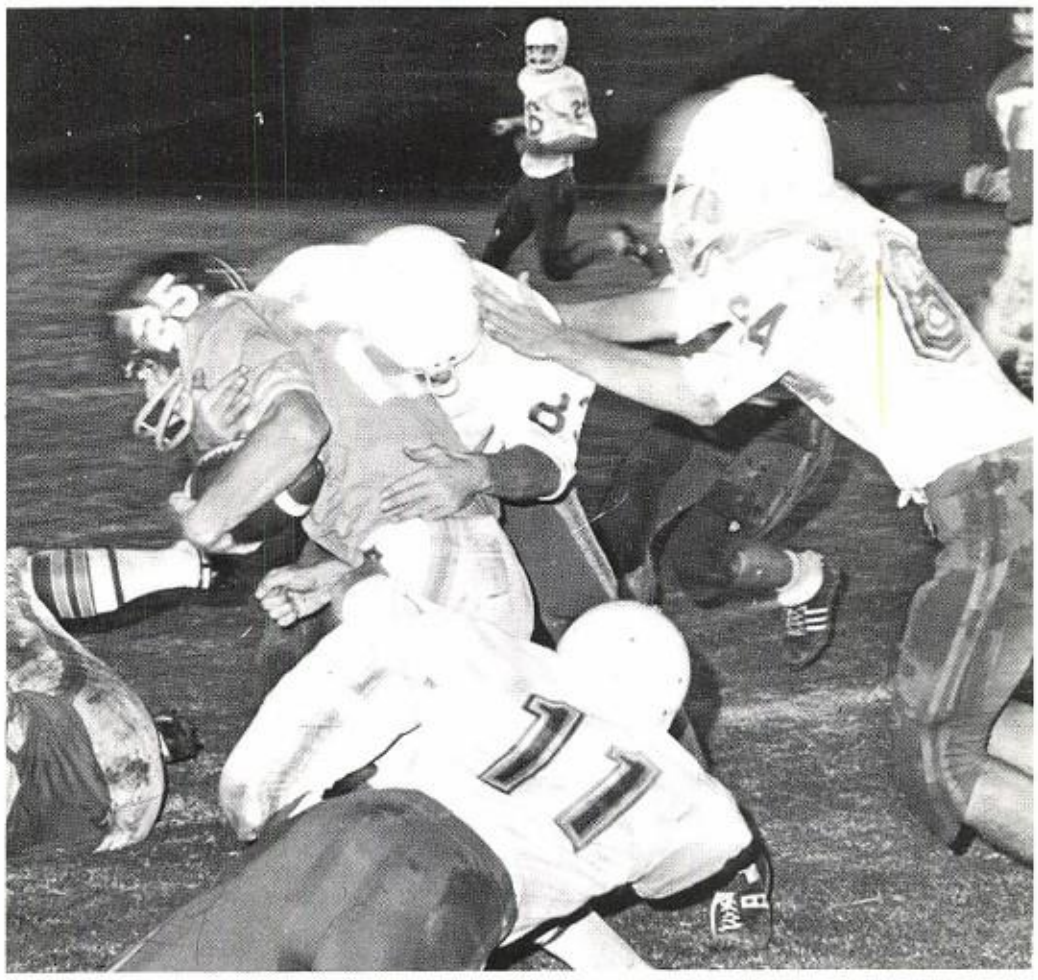
Ends Mike Hopkins, Tommy Pigg, and Eddie Stevens set up in offensive and defensive stances.

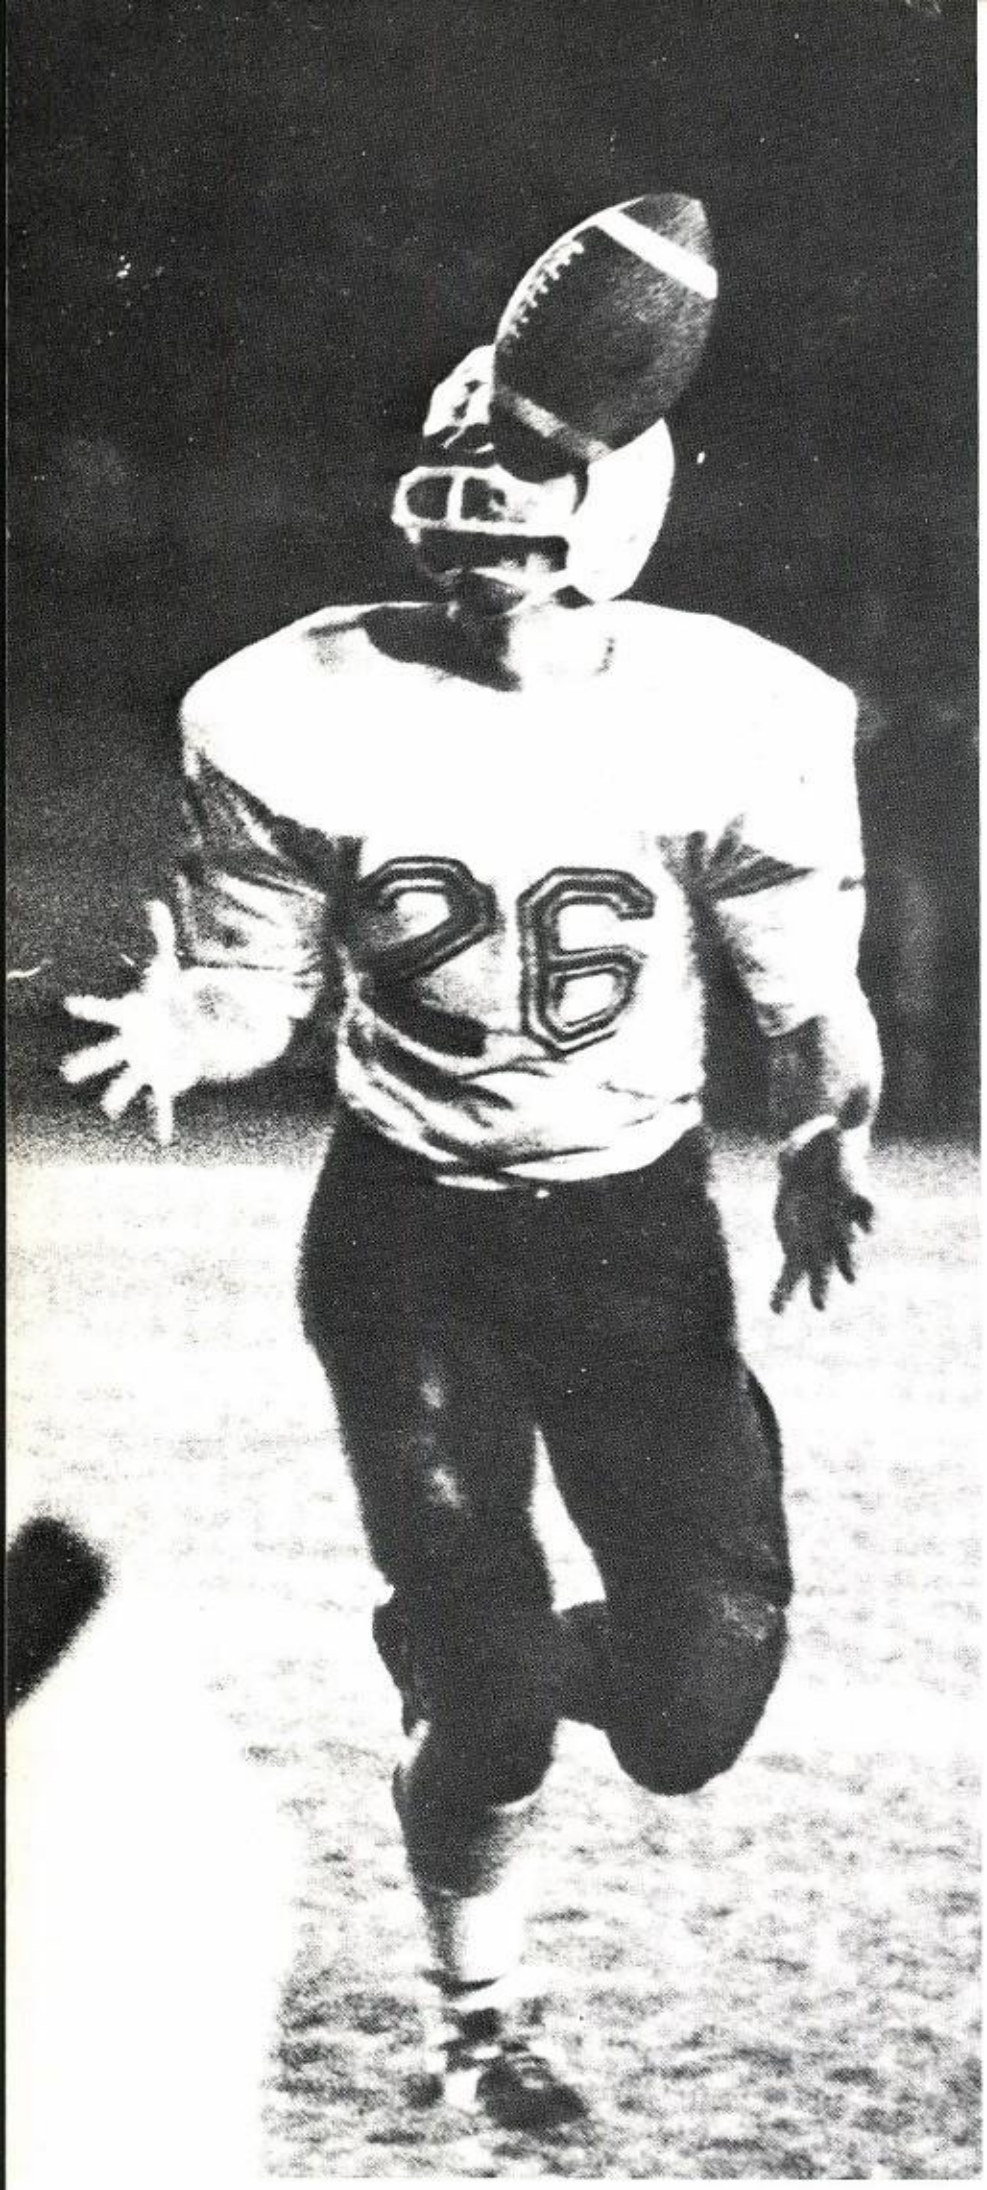




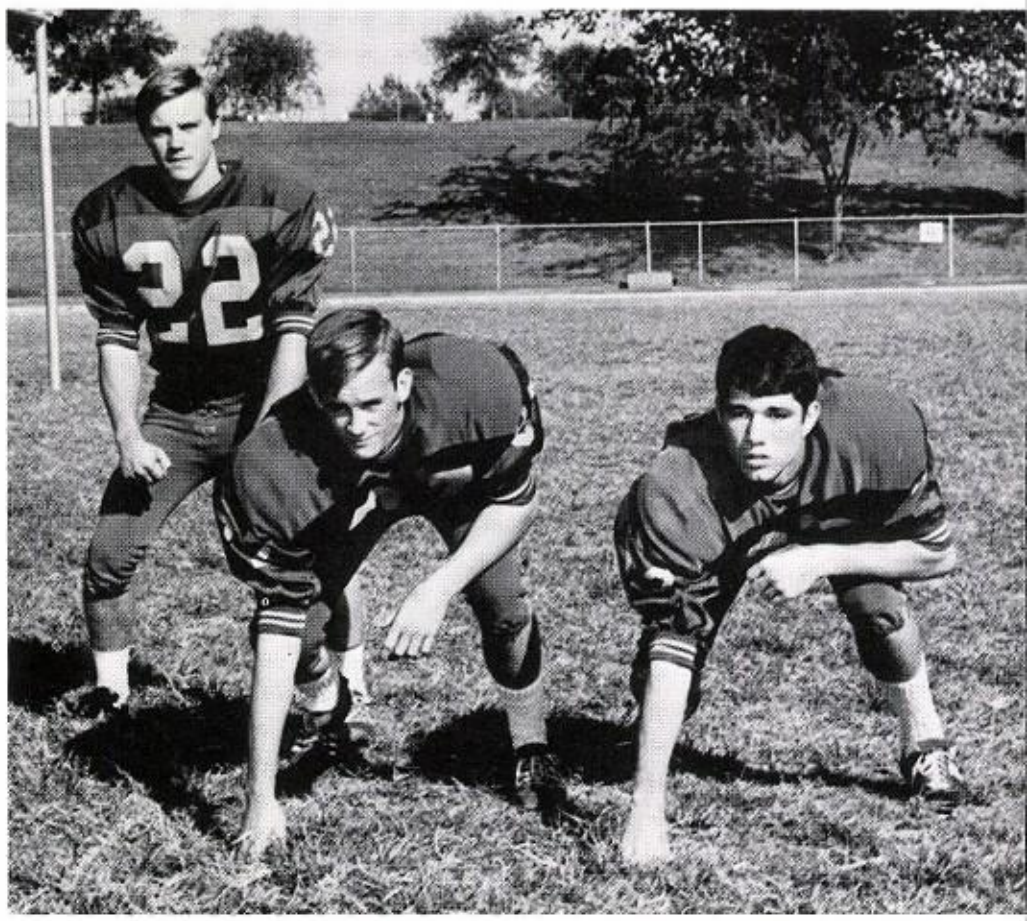
Lee Hitt (11), Rob Pierson (83) and Mike Bomar (64) gang-tackle a Samuell halfback (25) for short yardage.

Halfback Walter Waechter injures his ankle on a three yard gain against Samuell.

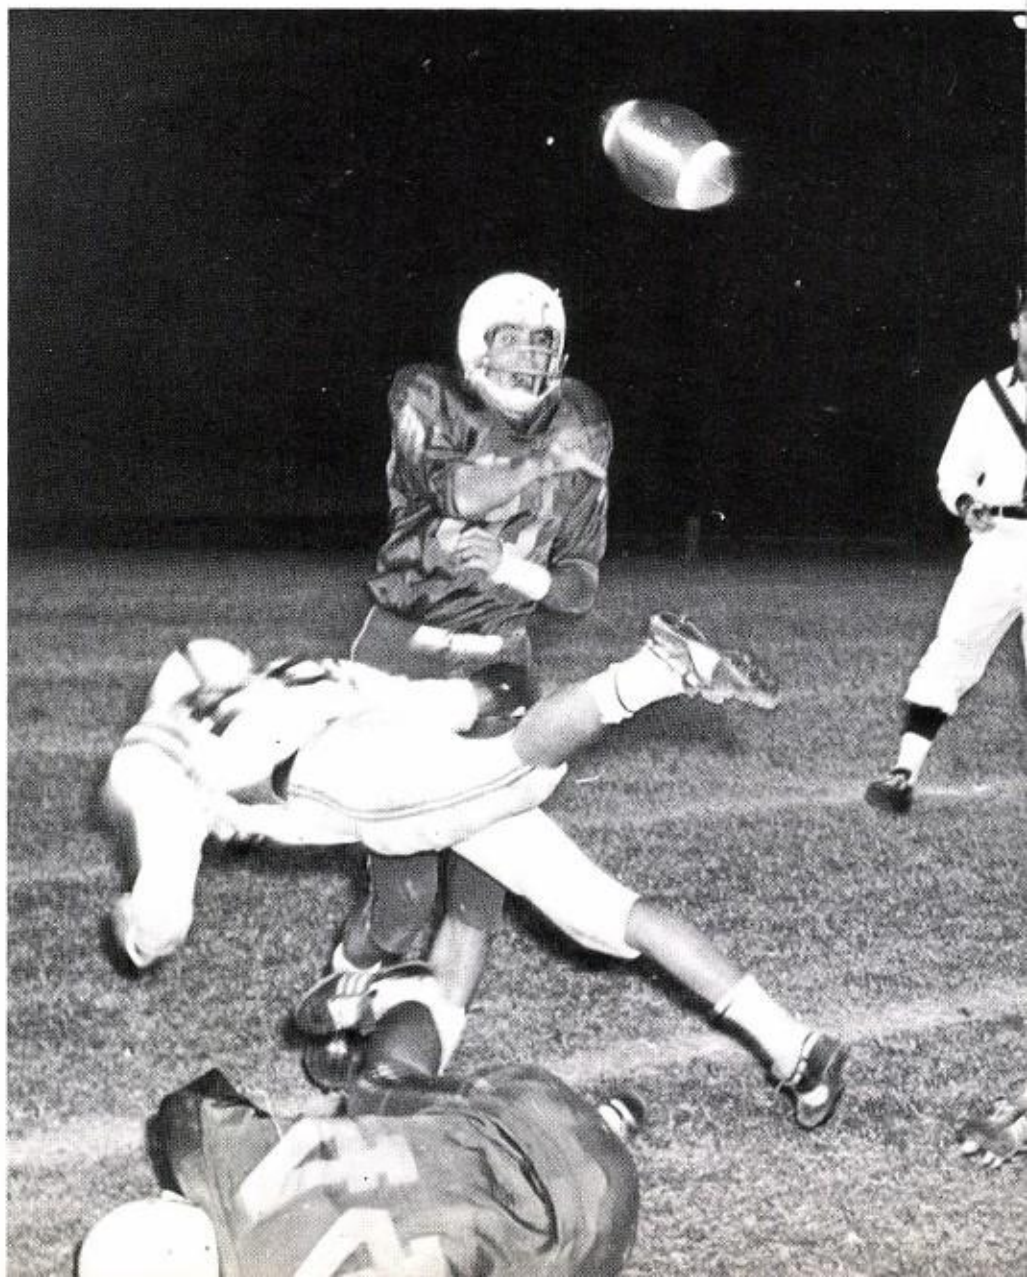




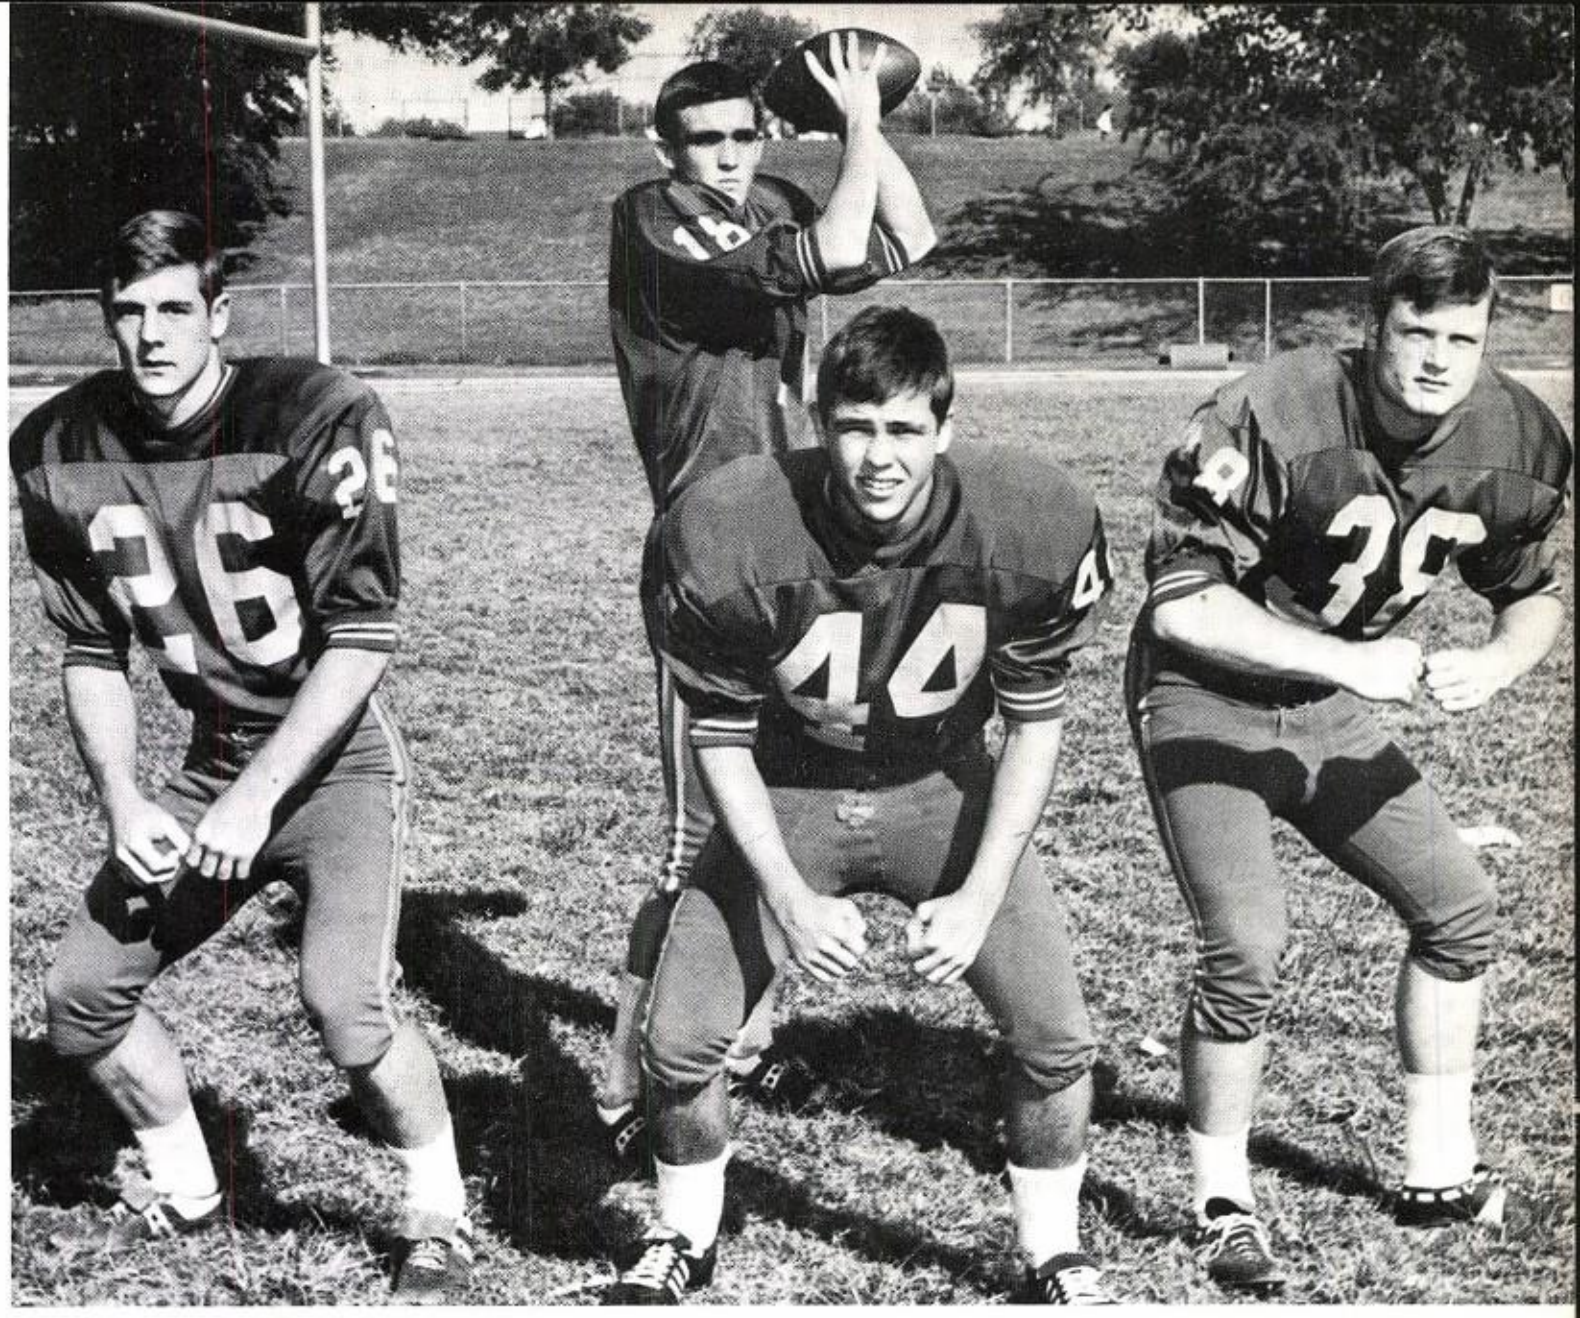
Halfback Clancy Dunigan strains for a pitchout in the Paschal game.



Halfback Howard Moore exhibits position of flanker to ends Jim Richards and Rob Pierson.



Quarterback Jim Carden eludes a would-be tackler as he attempts a pass to Eddie Stevens (88).



Passer Jim Carden is protected by halfback Clancy Dunigan, fullback Bryan Jones, and halfback Walter Waechter.

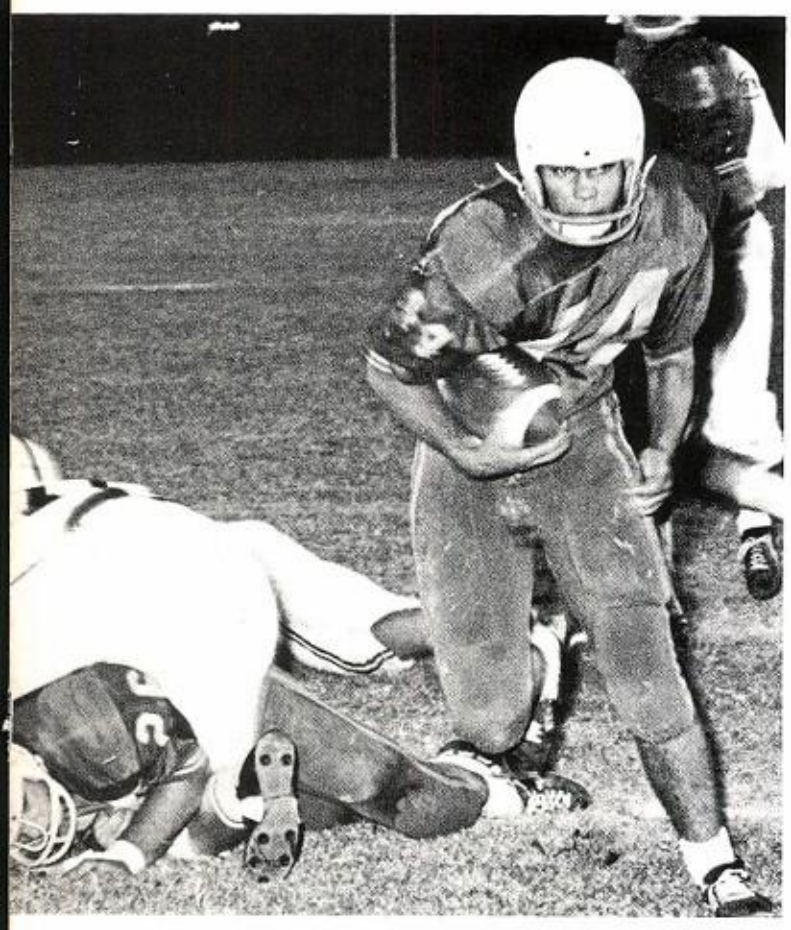
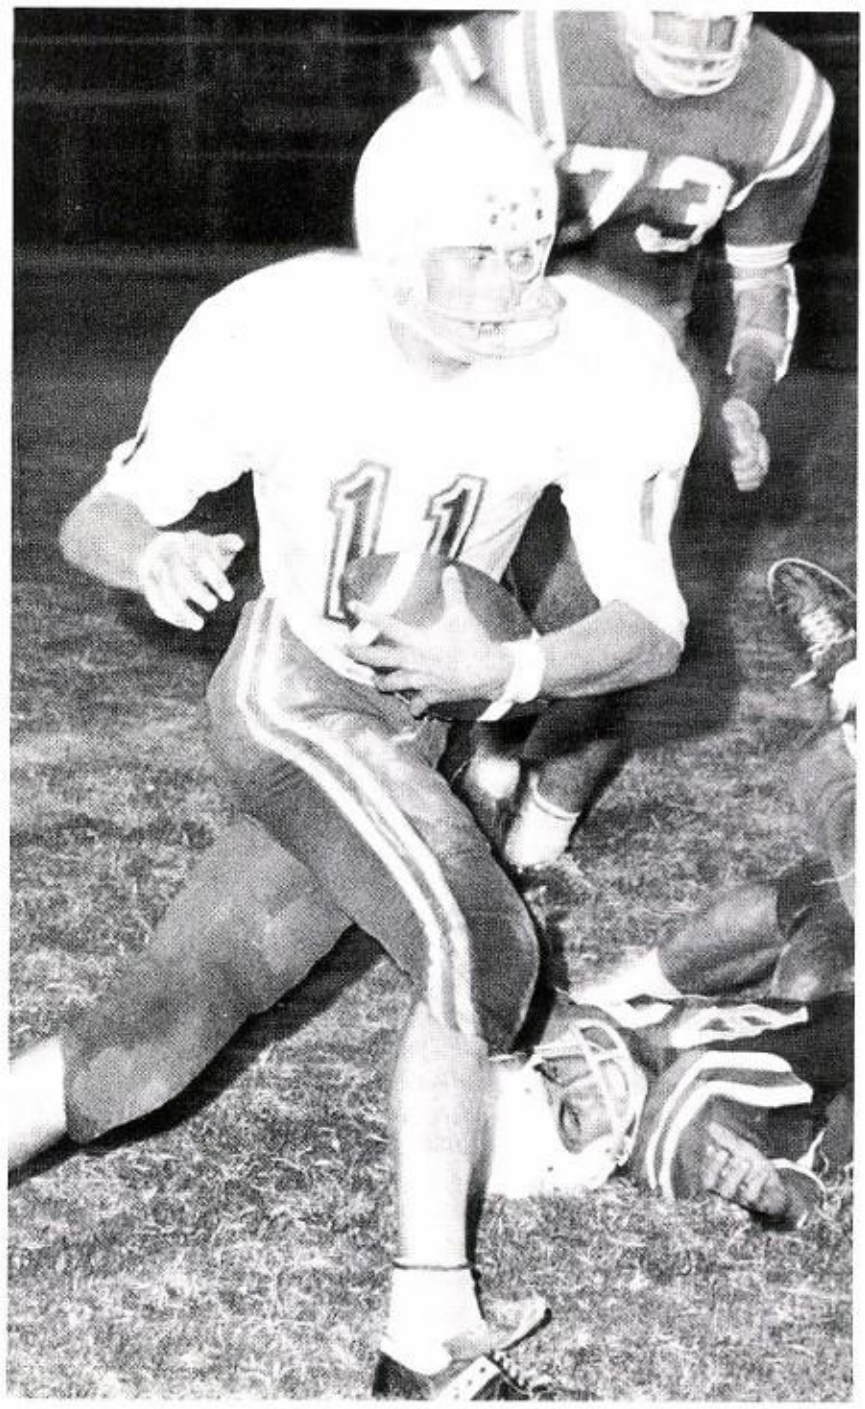
Tackles Max Colburn and Bill Lemond demonstrate three and four point stances.

Paschal Falls From Heights, 14-0



Fullback Bryan Jones scores late in the fourth quarter of the North Side game to make the tally 28-7.



Defensive halfback Lee Hitt intercepts a pass on his own twenty yard line in the Waco Richfield game.

Linebackers Tommy Langdon (65) and John Jackson (67) assume linebacker positions behind guards Tommy Kimbro, Bill Ratliff, and Bill Holden.

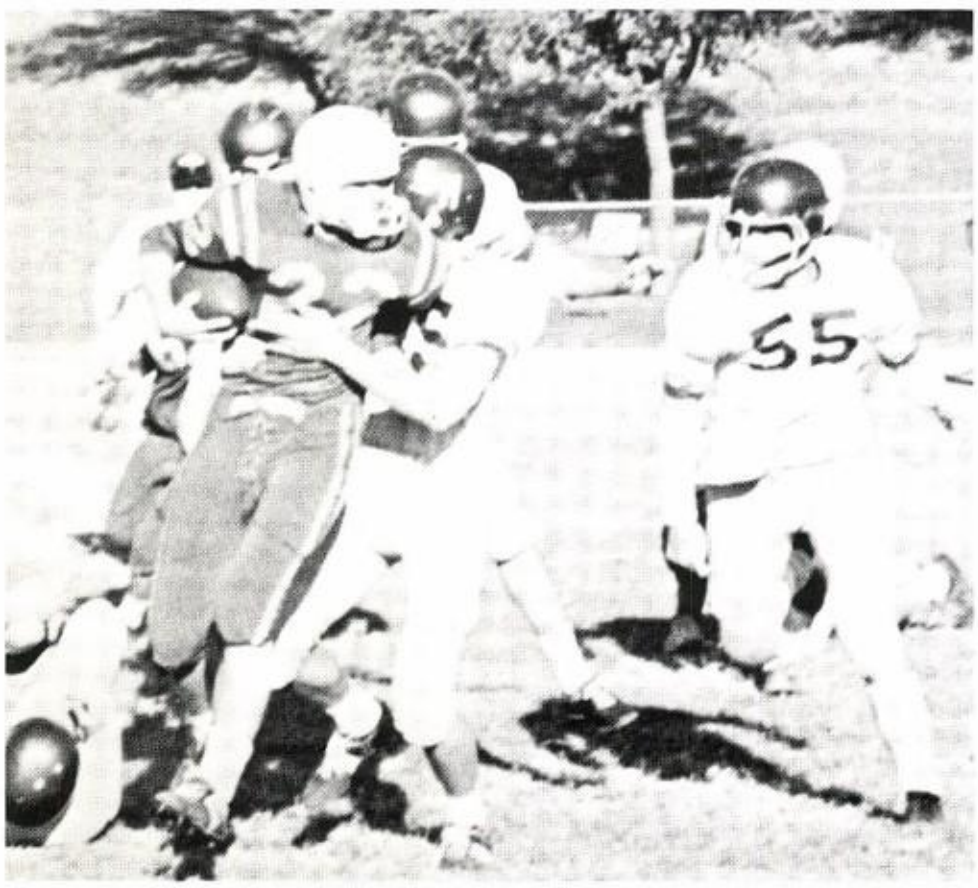
'B' Teamers Finish Third in District

An EHHS tackler lunges for fullback Pat Miller as he scampers across the goal line.

The junior Jackets ended an otherwise successful season with a 20-6 loss to Paschal. Before winning two of their first three non-district games, the "Little Eleven" fell to Grand Prairie.

They handed a triple dose of defeats to district opponents Carter, North Side and Poly. A strong Tech offense killed pennant hopes, 20-18. The Highlander "B" team lost on the "A" field, and the defeat by Paschal completed the season.

Halfback Kim Robinson stiff-arms a Highlander tackler for a short gain.



Halfback Tom Harper evades pursuing tacklers in the 20-0 victory over Eastern Hills.

GIC Spikes City Volleyball Title

Although the sports curriculum of the club greatly varied, the basic interest of the Girls' Intramural Council lay in volleyball. With diligent weekly practices under the supervision of Mrs. Martha Austin and Miss Joan Oliver, the team pocketed its first city championship in five years.

Besides volleyball, members learned fundamentals of basketball, tennis, softball, and volleytennis. Outstanding girls received letters at the end of the year.

Returning Netmen Bolster Team

Led by two returning teams of district doubles champions, the 1966-67 tennis squad began preparation for another year of competition.

Defending state champions Johnny Williams and Kenny McMillan gained valuable experience at the Sugar Bowl matches in New Orleans.

Girls doubles team, seniors Vicki Hedge and Laura Anthony, attempted to retain the title won last year by Vicki and Wynn Cooper. Junior Mary Lowdon, runner-up in the 1966 singles competition, remained a top contender for the district title this year.

STEVE BUFORD

Completing the 1966 season second only to Paschal, the golf team battled other Fort Worth groups for this year's district title and a chance to compete in a special Dallas tourney.

In pre-district matches the team played against Wichita Falls Ryder, Brownwood High, and various Oklahoma clubs. Captain Vaughn Clark and sponsor Ronald Fontenot both expressed great confidence in their determined teammates.

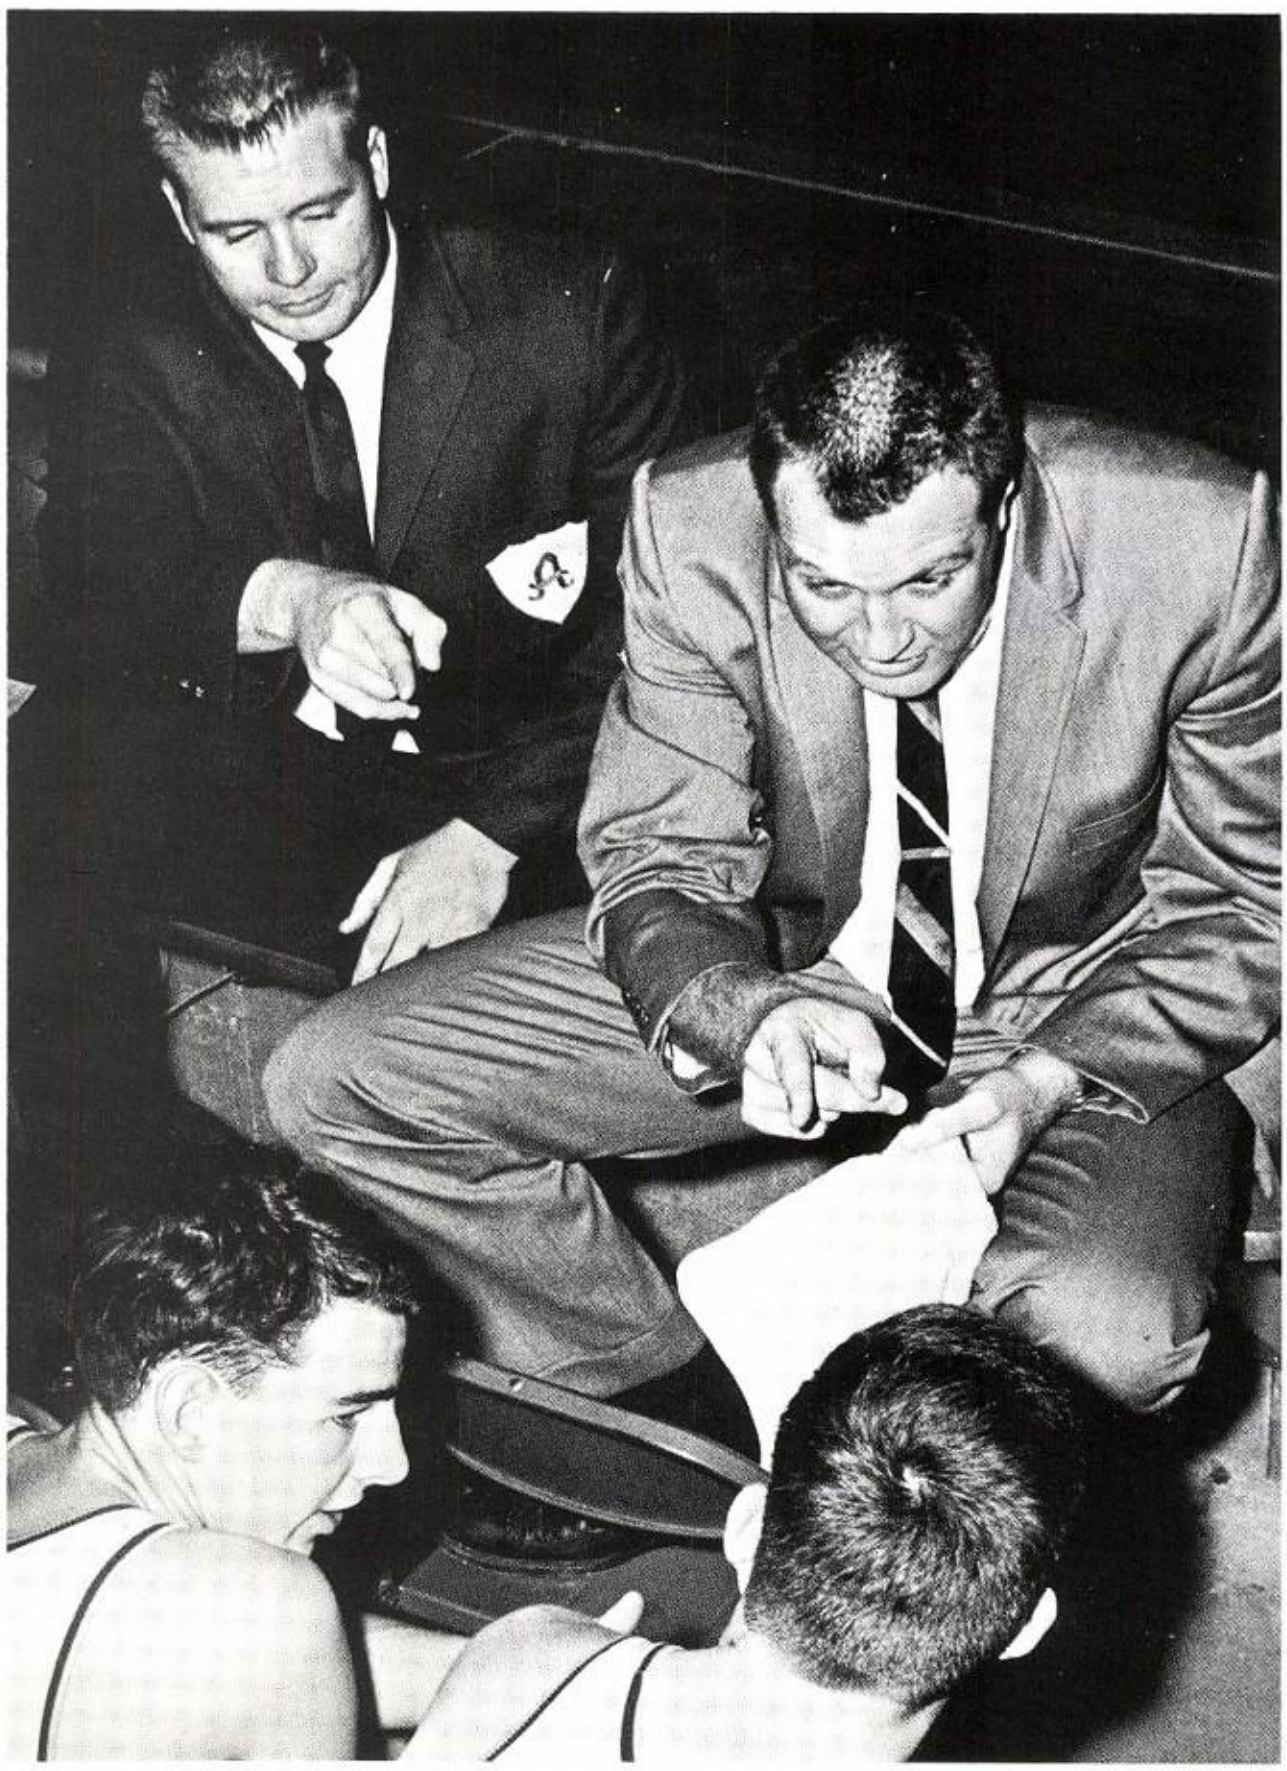
Jacket Cagemen Shoot, Miss District Title



Rebounding from a 6-8 preseason record, the Yellow Jackets captured a tie with Eastern Hills for second place in district play. Highlight of preseason combat was the Lions Club Tournament in which the cagers brought home the consolation championship trophy. After defeating Paschal, 54-53, the Jackets lost to Poly to finish third in the first half. The second half ended with a 4-2 record and a tie with EHHS for second place.

Because of her interest in the team, Paige Kelly was crowned Queen at the pep rally before the Paschal game by team captain Tracy Wilmoth.

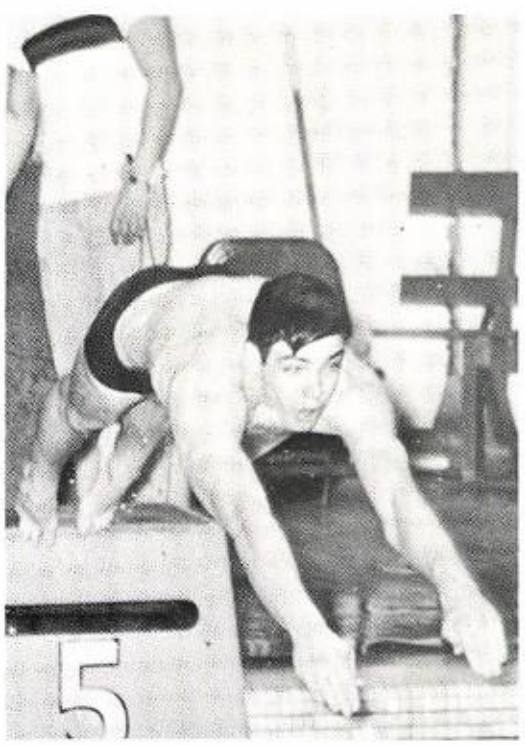
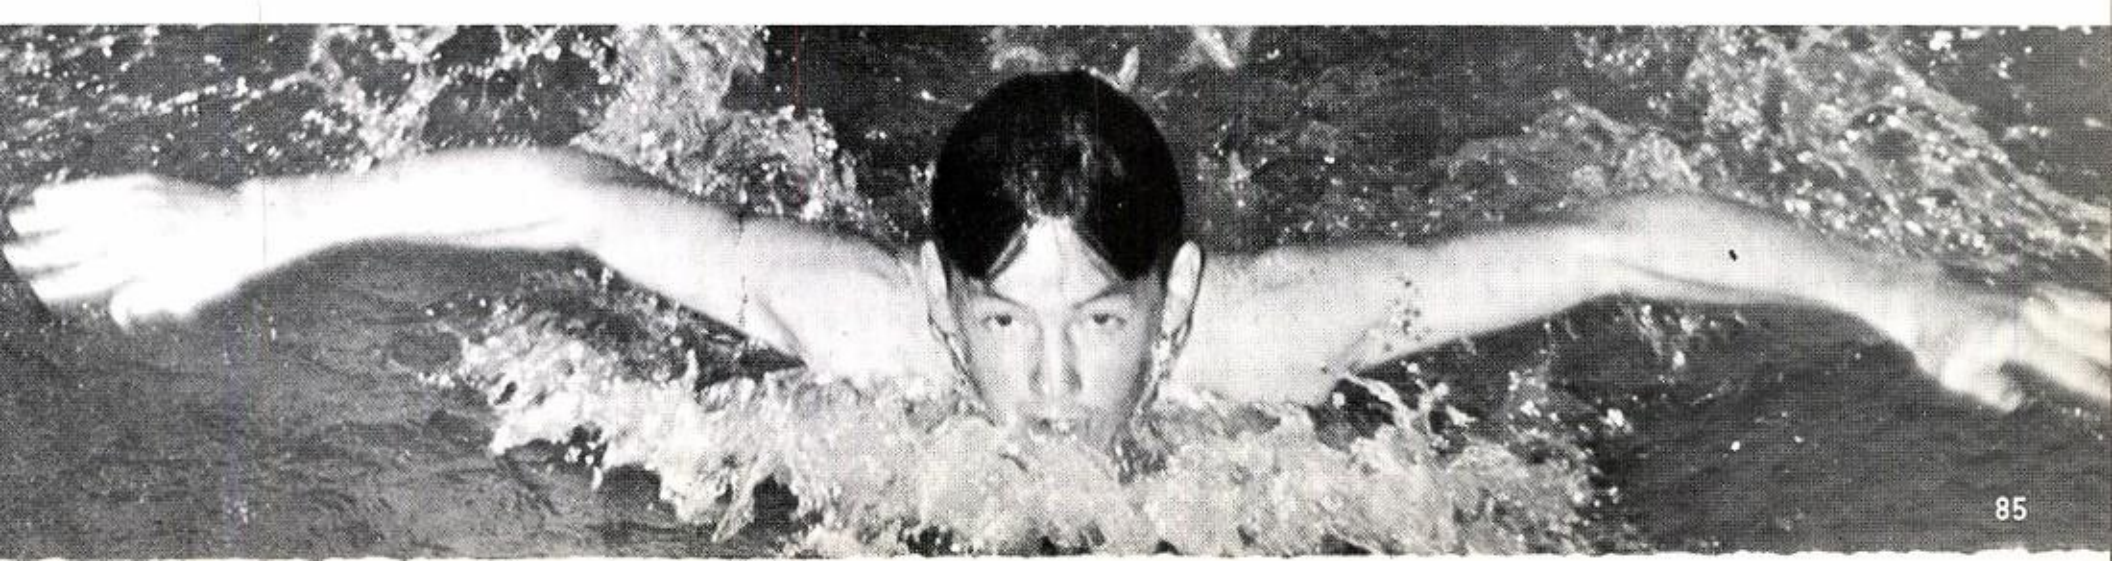
Four Splash to Fourth in State

Composed of only four students and competing against 48 of the best teams in the state, the AHHS swim team grabbed a fourth place in the University of Texas High School Boys' Invitational Meet in Austin.

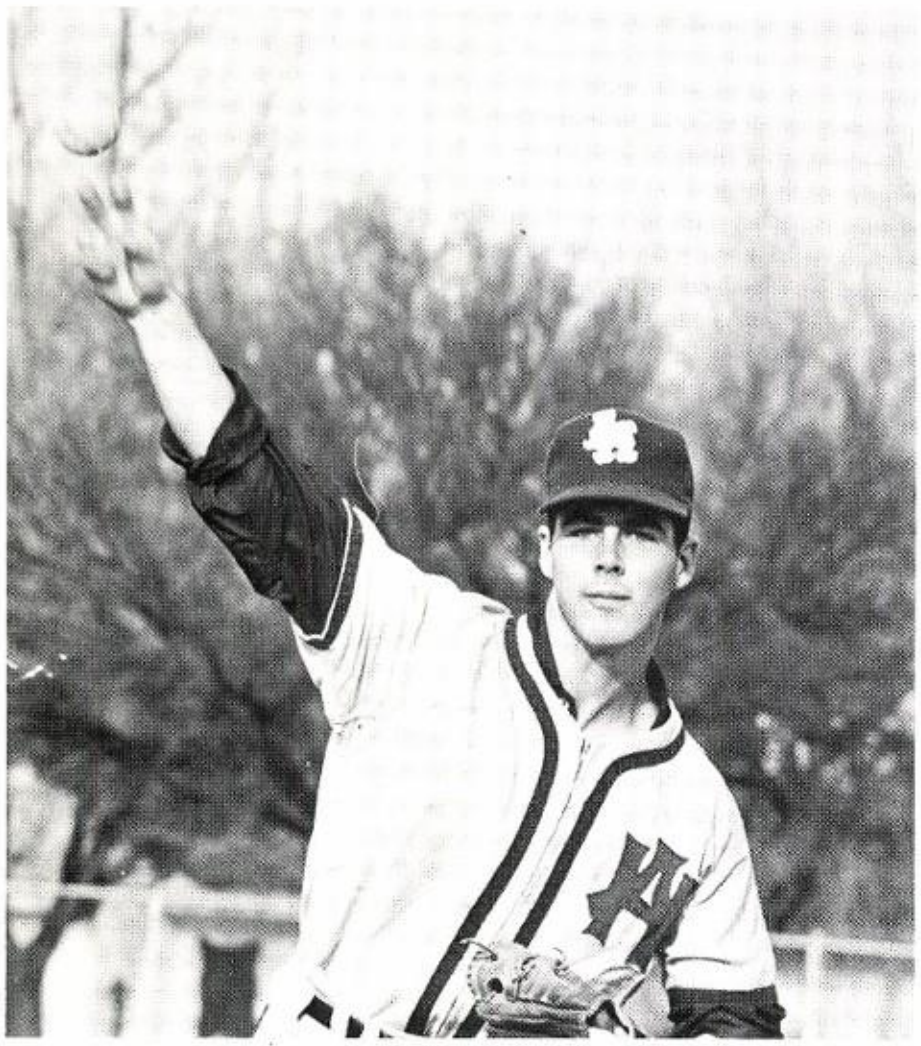
Mike Malone, John Mastenbrook (left), Ronnie Mills, (right), and Danny Murphy (below) placed in five events.

Malone, a junior, took first in the one-meter diving while John Mastenbrook, senior, placed fourth in the 50-yard free-style and fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke. Ronnie Mills grabbed a second in the 100-yard back stroke and third in the 200-yard individual medley.





Maclin Assumes Baseball Leadership



With memories of the Austin finals still fresh on their minds, members of the state quarter-finalist baseball team and new players underwent the change in tactics and strategy brought by new coach Roland Maclin.

Jacket basemen worked in vigorous preseason practices preparing for Abilene, Cleburne, Castleberry, and Richland. District play started March 28 against Trimble Tech at Trinity Field.

Seven returning lettermen sparked Heights possibilities. All-state outfielder Roger Williams again provided a stable segment of the batting attack. Pitching capability was seen in lettermen Eddie Stevens and Earl Wallace. Third baseman Jack Bertram, shortstop Ab Jenkins, and first baseman Randy Ray supplied needed experience in the infield.

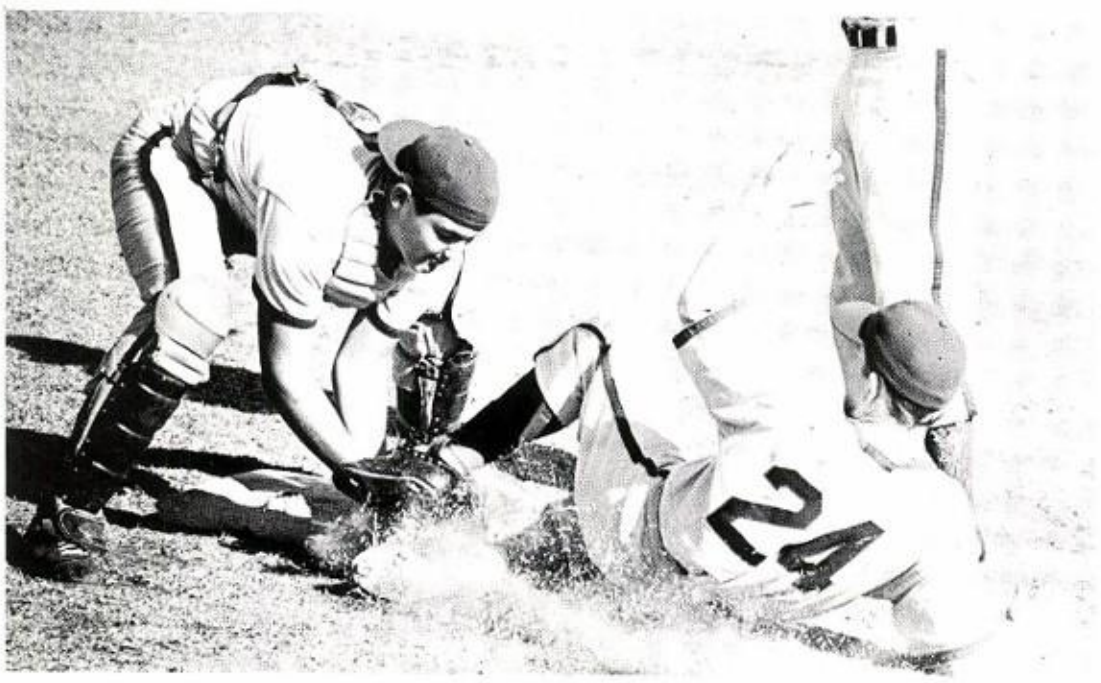
Dynamic Coaching Duo Revives Batmen

A pair of firsts worked to improve Heights baseball: the advent of an organized 'B' baseball team to ballast the Ship of State, and a combination of the coaching talents of veteran Homer Ludiker and rookie Johnny Dickerson.

Workouts beginning only a week before the first game with Diamond Hill, the younger Jackets showed their ability to form a team effort in a short time. The team's district games coincided with those of the varsity.

Pitcher Mark Wattier concentrates on the catcher's mitt during his delivery.



Catcher Jacky Akin makes the tag on John Perkins (24) at home plate.

Priddy, Walker Run Track

With the graduation of several anchoring team members and the introduction of new track coach Merlin Pridy and assistant Dale Walker, the 1967 Jindermen rebounded for a successful season.

Approximately 50 members elected seniors Dwight Holden and Richard Brigham co-captains for the year.

Jacket trackmen grabbed second place behind Paschal in the Will Rogers Indoor Games and participated in meets against Abilene Cooper, Dallas Hillcrest, and in the Kimball Relays.

Councilmen Change Bill-Passing Methods

As sponsor of the Student Council, Mr. Ray Dyche checks the last meeting's agenda. Sponsor Mrs. Sara Brian, not pictured.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Ray Dyche and Mrs. Sara Brian, the 64 Student Council members sought to resolve school problems. For the first time the council submitted bills to the homerooms for approval, enabling the students to express their individual ideas to their councilmen.

A special committee was appointed to investigate the problems of overcrowding in the library and to offer suggestions for improvement.

Among other projects were selling AHHS notecards and the Jacket Packet which included decals, pennant and book covers. The Ranch Day activities and Howdy Week were also under the sponsorship of the Student Council.

In order to better cope with these problems and activities, the councilmen were divided into ten committees.

Assume ROTC Leadership

The ROTC received new sponsors in S/Sgt. Ronald Fontenot and Mrs. Charleene Carlisle, director of the student sponsors.

The year's activities began with the Veterans' Day Parade, in which the ROTC represented AHHS. The proceeds of the ROTC Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot went to meet the needs of the department.

Fourth Army District competition took the ROTC to Laredo in February, and to Houston in March. The Rifle and Drill Teams participated in matches at Arlington State College in May.

Much practice and work went in the preparation of these activities. Every day, before and after school, the Drill Team practiced, while the Rifle Team worked out every morning at 7:30.

YCF Explores Social, Political Problems

Working to inform young citizens of the problems facing our nation, the Young Citizens' Forum presented programs centered on timely subjects. Mayor Willard Barr opened the year's programs with a discussion of city government.

AHHS students themselves spoke on current problems such as civil rights, Vietnam, the Sino-Soviet split, and national economy. District Attorney Frank Coffey, Sgt. Barney Koons, and Coach John Dickerson presented facts for debate on juvenile crime.

Traveling to Nova Scotia in November, six AHHS delegates attended the International Allied Youth Conference. While there, Tommy Cropper was elected president of the 1967 conference to be held in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. In April, delegates attended the Southwestern Allied Youth Conference held in Palestine, Texas.

Working to educate young people about the use of alcohol and narcotics, the AY Executive Board presented several programs during the year. Reverend Bob Harrington, known as the Chaplain of Bourbon Street, talked and joked with AY members at the December meeting. The AY Beauty Contest and Talent Show provided entertainment for the student body as well as for club members.

Jacket Band Promotes Spirit

Best known for its Fight Song the Jacket Band reigned over pep rallies, jolted the football team with spirit, and resounded in victory or defeat. Under the direction of Mr. George Carson, the band did more than entertain football crowds—it made its annual concert appearances at Monnig and Stripling Junior Highs, competed in the Regional Concert Competition, and played at varied school events.

The Jacket Band, together with school bands throughout the city, joined to form the Castleberry Symphonic Band, March 31. April 1 the group travelled to Cleburne, Texas to march in the Cleburne Centennial Parade.

Seventy-five individual bandsmen competed in the State Recording Contest. Mike Morrison, Heights's outstanding bassoon player, received the first place state award for his performance at the competition.

Chorus, Orchestra Enrich AHHS Music Department

Fifty-two members of the AHHS orchestra, along with presenting fall and Christmas programs to students, entertained at the Texas Secondary Principals Convention in October. In preparation for the concert in March, nine members of the orchestra played in the All-City Orchestra. They were Robert Meacham, Jerry Poplin, Kaye Bobo, Jack Smith, Ross Dinkins, Cleatus Wallis, Wendy Price, Toby Landes, and David Mueller. Earlier in the year the orchestra, directed by Mr. George Carson, played for Stripling and Monnig Junior Highs.

Composed of 75 members under the direction of Mrs. Mary White, the chorus harmonized with the orchestra to present the fall and Christmas programs. After participation in the Choral Clinic at Texas Wesleyan College, they sang in the All-Regional II, All-City Chorus and Orchestra, and Monnig Festivals. Performances at Stripling and Monnig Junior Highs completed the year's activities.

The Double Sextet, 12 girls chosen from the chorus, entertained at a local rest home at Christmas and at Kappa Sigma Mother's and Wives' Club.

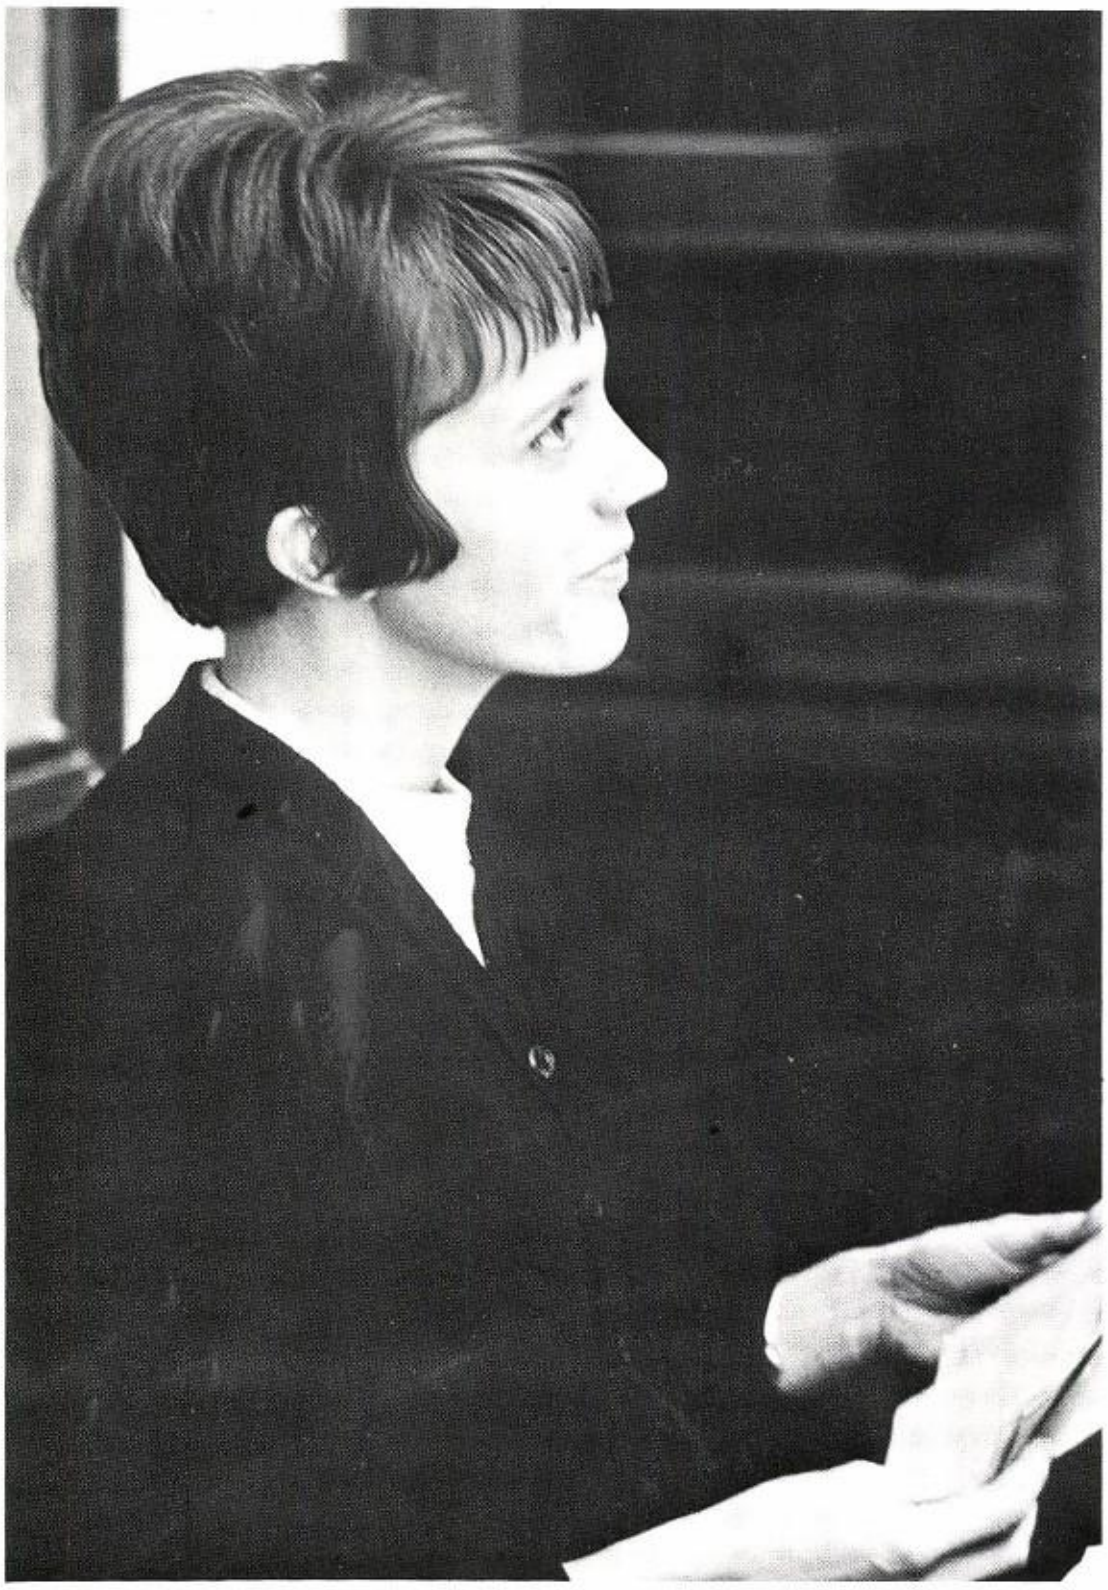
YJ Staff Meets Deadline . . . Finally



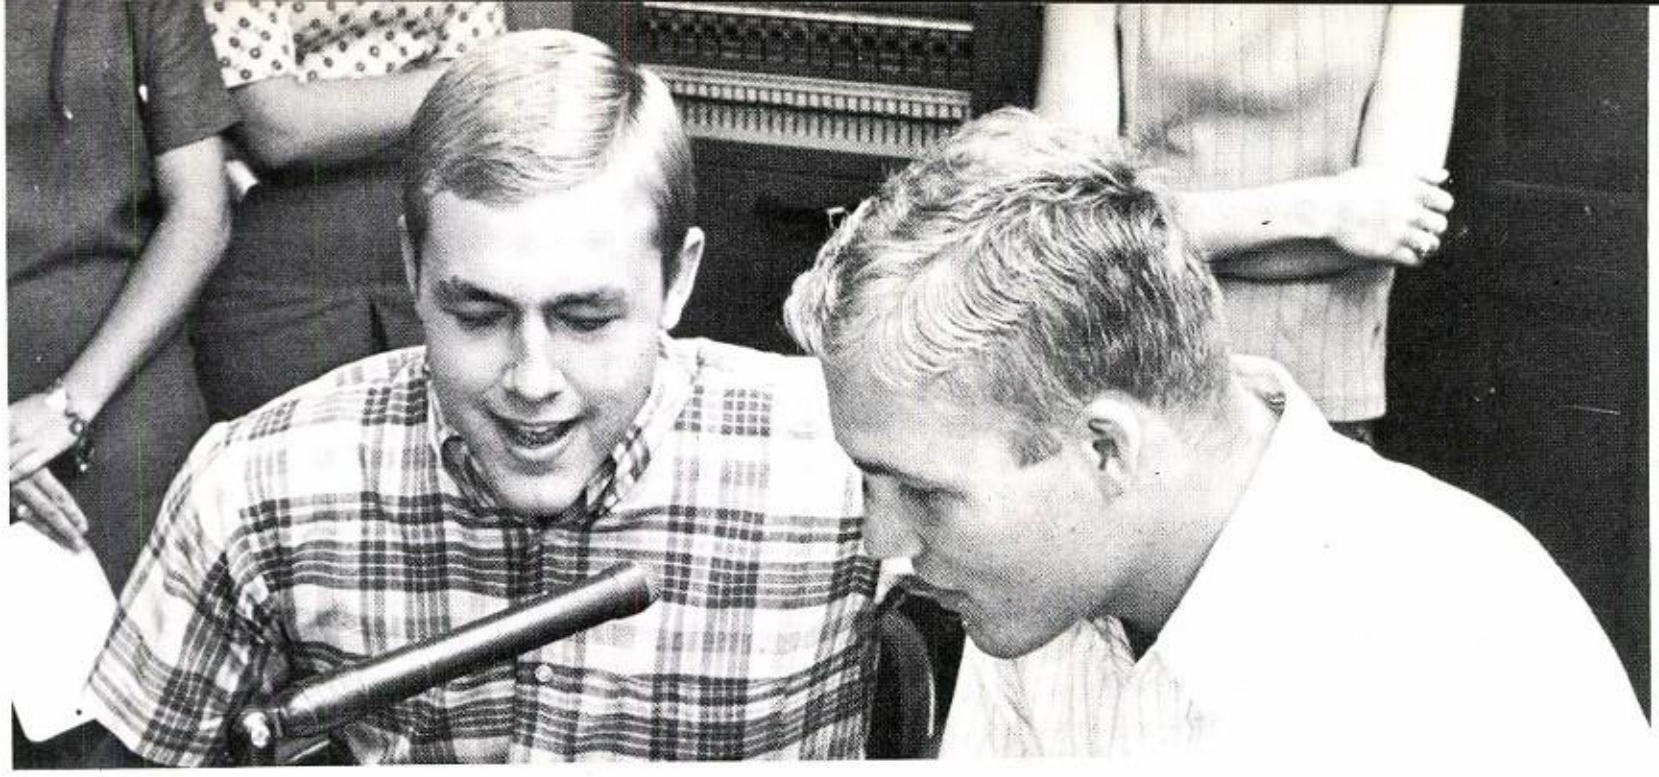
"What do you mean 'paperback annual'?" asks Mrs. Anne Stanton, YJ sponsor.

From the first day of school until the end of February, the Yellow Jacket staff was busy setting up and taking pictures, drawing layouts, and writing copy.

A trip to Denton to attend the Texas High School Press Associaion Convention gave the 19 staff members the opportunity to compare ideas and methods with those of other Texas staffs.

Annual Day completed the year's work with a program and distribution of the 1966-67 Yellow Jacket.

After placing second in the Texas High School Press Association Yearbook Contest, the 1966 Yellow Jacket ranked in the top ten per cent of books judged by the National School Yearbook Association.



"Had it been another school, I'd never known how cool a book could be," harmonize Tommy Cropper and Steve Tarlton in a yearbook announcement.

Janet Baird, Steve Eames, and Kathy Dana assist in the Yellow Jacket's sales campaign held the first few weeks of school.

"For you new members of the staff, this white piece of paper is called a blank page," explain Jim Richards and Lynda Hogue, Yellow Jacket co-editors.

Four Staffs Produce Year of News

"Now that's what I call a news story—student bites teacher!" exclaims Mrs. Gene Thompson, Jacket Journal sponsor.

Combining an assortment of features, columns, news, and sports, the Jacket Journal began the year as a bi-weekly publication.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Gene Thompson, the fall staff won an All-Texas Honor Rating from the Texas High School Press Association. It was also a member of the Interscholastic League Press Conference and Quill and Scroll.

Fall staffers joined the staffs of other city papers to honor their printer, Mr. Theo Cantrell, in December at a surprise banquet in the Gause-Ware 1879 Room.

The beginning of a new semester saw three new staffs and a new format, changing the newspaper to a weekly. Members of the spring staffs assisted in the production of the Annual Mostest Contest, by selecting judges, decorating the stage, and distributing programs. Both staffs attended the journalism banquet held in May.

Cynthia Allison and Cameo Jones work to write a deadline headline.

Speakers, Tours Enlighten FNA

Striving to interest students in the field of nursing, Future Nurses of America provided guest speakers and hospital tours to inform and enlighten members.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mary Fisher, the group heard two student nurses speak on the student nursing program at Peter Smith Hospital and toured St. Joseph's Hospital to see nursing techniques in action.

The Future Nurses concluded their year by donating two medical tables to the school nurse's office.

Performing one of the many duties of a school nurse, FNA sponsor Mrs. Mary Fisher tests a student's eyes.

FTA Delegates Attend Conventions

"What are the qualities of a good teacher?" provided an interesting panel discussion at one of the bi-monthly Future Teachers of America meetings. Students heard talks from members of the Heights faculty, foreign exchange student Clovis Miguel, and Dean Howard G. Wible of Texas Christian University.

Highlights of the year were a picnic at Forest Park, a district workshop at Bell High School, and a Christmas Party at Lake Worth. Many members attended the district convention at Arlington State College and the state convention at San Antonio.

Panelists Patricia Russell, Barbara Simmons, Nancy O'Neall, and Emily Morrill discuss the qualities of a good teacher.

Green Oaks Engages FSA at Workshop

A workshop at Green Oaks, a Christmas dinner at Vance Godbey's, and a National Secretaries of America tea at the Gause-Ware 1879 Room, highlighted the activities for Future Secretaries of America.

Meeting the second Monday of each month, the club was sponsored by Mrs. Betty Clayton, Mrs. Mary Lynn Foust, and Mrs. Joan Harrison. "Characteristics of a good secretary" and "How to apply for a job" were two main topics of discussion during the year. Installation of officers was held at the January fashion show.

FSA SPONSORS: Mrs. Betty Clayton, Mrs. Mary Lynn Foust, Mrs. Joan Harrison.

FSA OFFICERS: Dana Thompson, corresponding secretary; Karen King, vice-president; Kathy Guidice, president; Marlys Larson, treasurer; Sualice Petersen, recording secretary.

Mrs. Lois Petit, sponsor of JRC, plans projects for the year.

Janet Merritt, Craig Pollard, and Beverly Grammar fill stockings for hospitalized children.

JRC Hits High in Fund Drive

Collecting an all-time high of $200, Junior Red Cross was able to purchase work kits for the needy and fill an overseas chest with recreational equipment.

Sponsored by Mrs. Lois Petit, the group brightened Christmas for 100 hospitalized children by giving them candy-filled stockings. They were also responsible for entertaining patients at Carswell Air Force Base Hospital, April 4.

German Club Views Deutschland Slides

GERMAN CLUB OFFICERS: Bob Lumpkin, vice-president; Mrs. Joan Meyer, sponsor; Nicki Blitch, secretary; Jerry Poplin, president.

Sponsored by Mrs. Joan Meyer, the German Club began its second year with the election of officers and the planning of the year's activities.

In November, history teacher Mrs. Vivian Murphey presented slides of her previous trip to Germany. A Christmas party, during which German songs were sung and German food served, highlighted the December holidays.

In April, members bicycled from Heights to Forest Park for a picnic lunch.

The German Club Banquet, held at the Der Schornsteinfeger Restaurant, climaxed the year's activities.

'A' Club Aids Camaro Raffle

Assisting in the Athletic Council's Camaro raffle was one of the 'A' Club's many activities of the year. Other activities included a Christmas breakfast for teachers, a turkey shoot, and volunteer work at the Child Study Center.

Sponsored by Coach Homer Ludiker, the club consisted of male athletes. Its purpose was to promote co-operation among athletes, the student body, and the faculty.

Exhibiting the new Camaro are 'A' club officers Larry Ivey, vice-president; Jim Richards, president; and Guy Arseneau, secretary-treasurer.

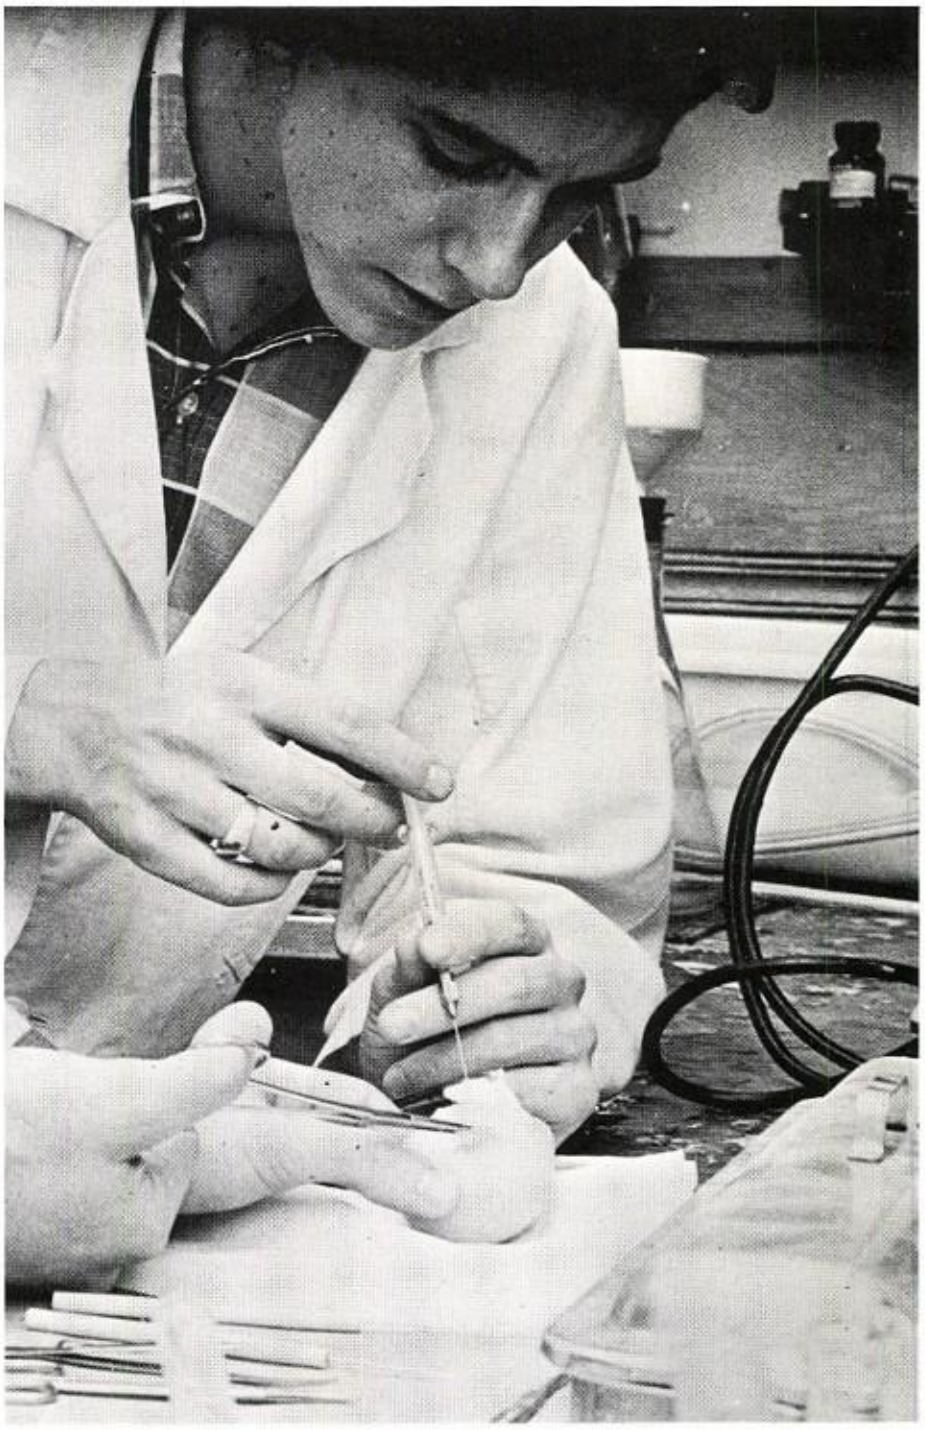
Group Participates In Science Contests

Composed of nine members, the Science Research Group spent the year in biological research. Under the direction of Mr. Flavin Arseneau and Mr. Herbert Edminster, the group met every Thursday and later participated in the Fort Worth Science Fair and the North Texas Biological Society contest.

In order to achieve membership in the group, first year members had to take a qualifying test based on their attitude toward science and their knowledge of science.

Chris Tomlinson, Gordon Freeman, David Hardwick, Jan Ruckman, Linda Benham, and Priscilla Lessig work vigorously under the supervision of Mr. Flavin Arseneau.

Roland Collins demonstrates for Priscilla Lessig some of the equipment that he used on his project.



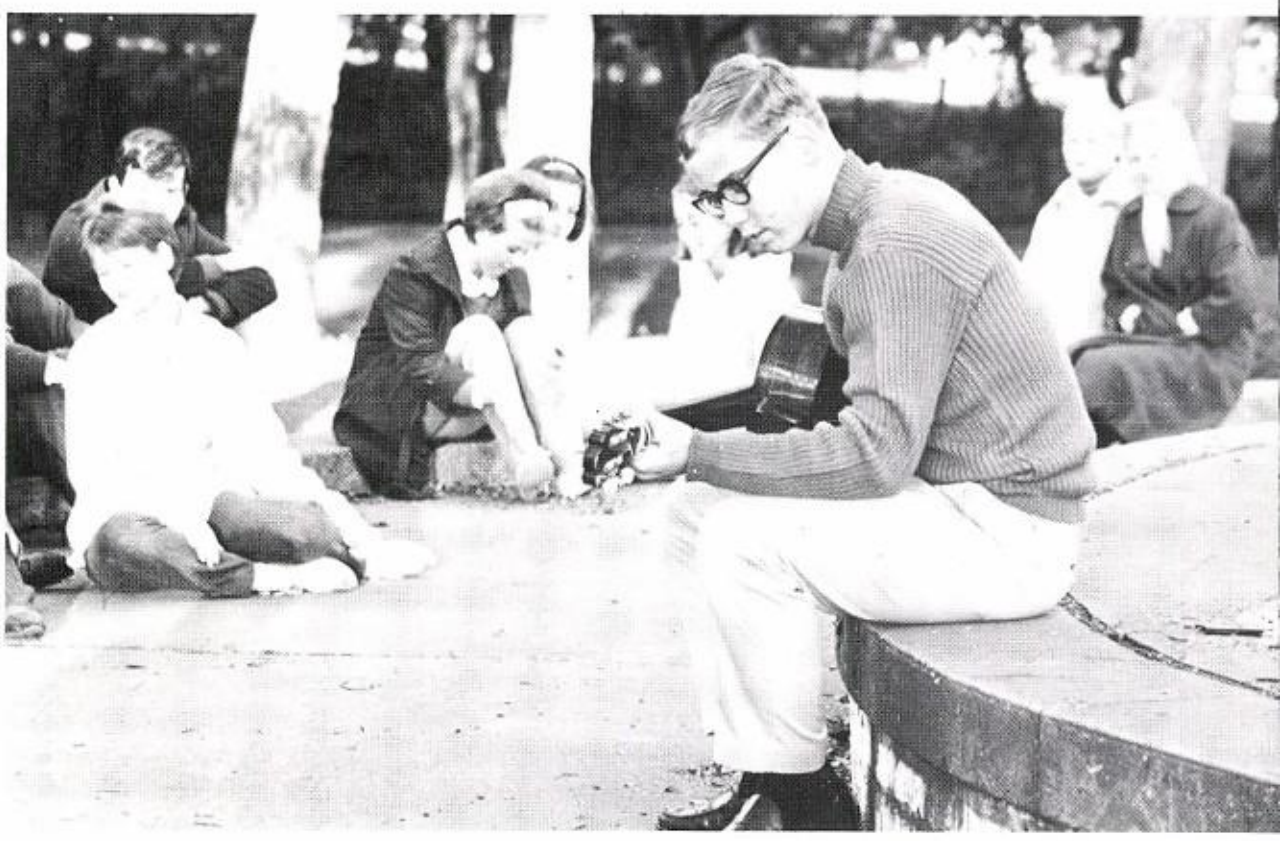
"This sure is a sour experiment," quips Chris Tomlinson as he dissects a lemon.

Drama Highlights FPl Year

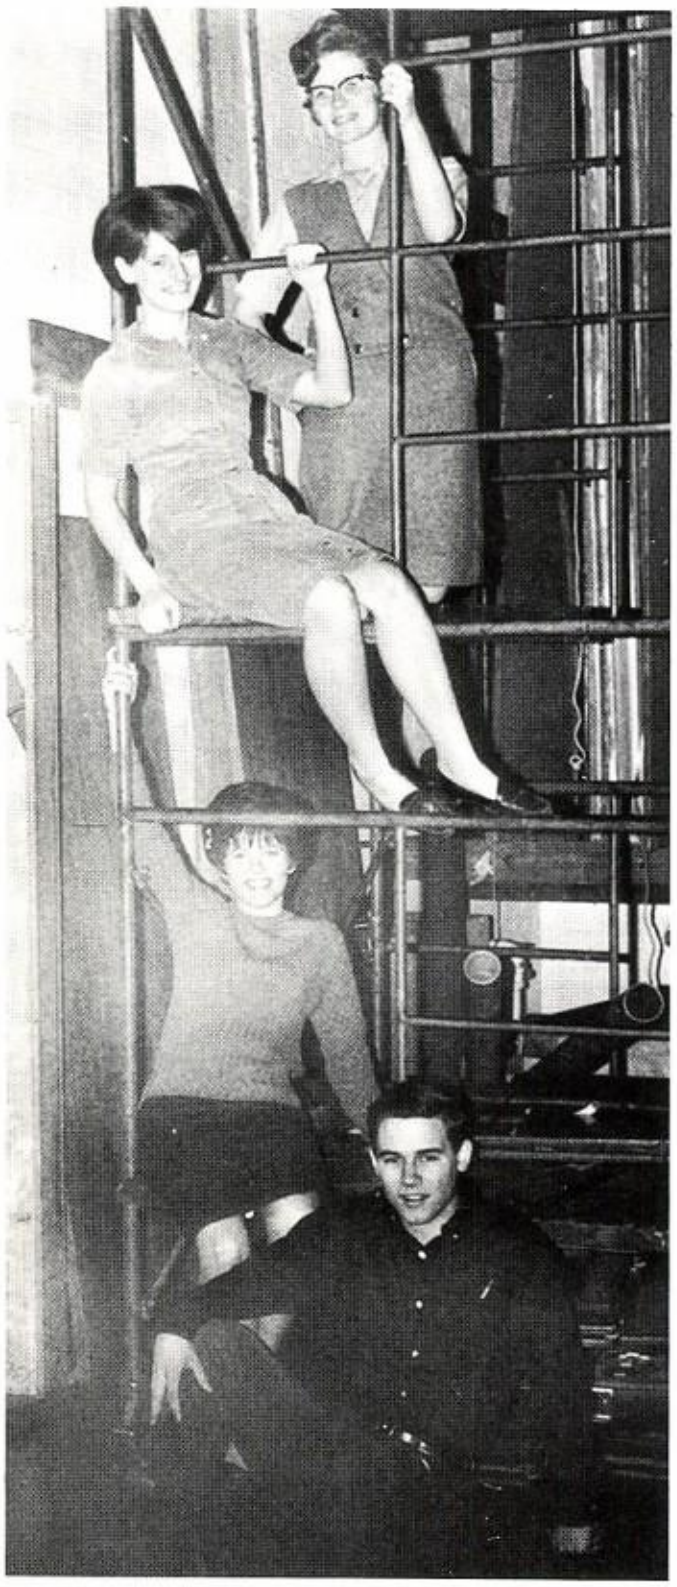
Two one-act plays and a major production, "The Diary of Anne Frank," headlined the Footlight Players' year. The one-act plays, "The Monkey's Paw" and "Tell Dorie Not To Cry," were presented in the fall.

The sunrise breakfast was held October 1, 1966, at the Trinity Park shelterhouse, where the group elected class representatives. Skits and a hootenanny provided entertainment.

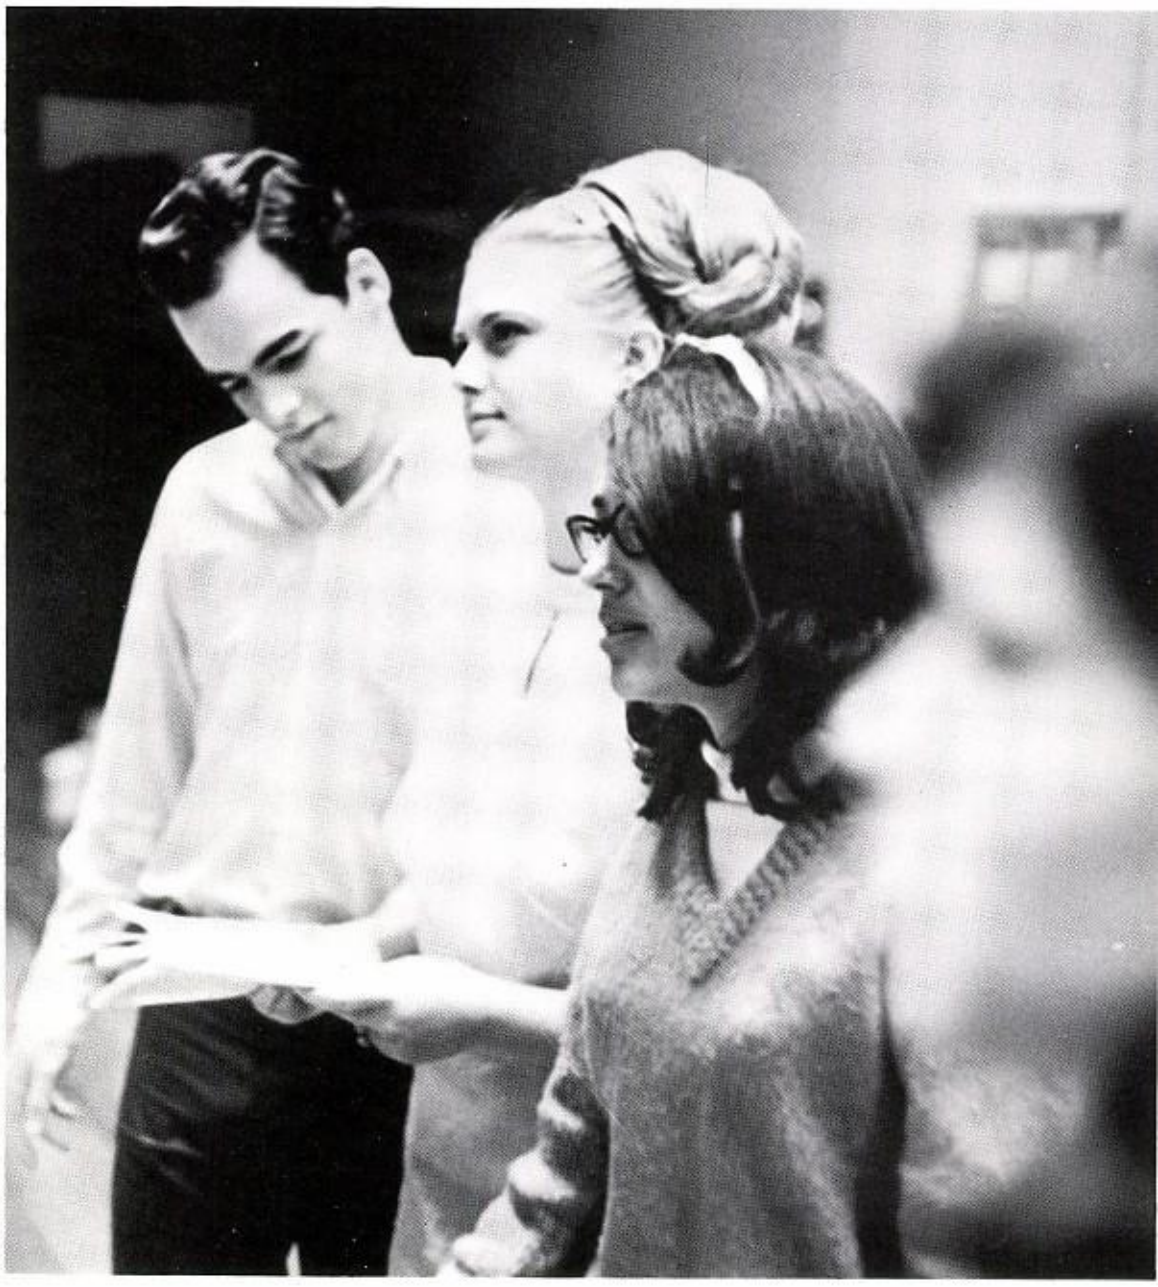
Sponsored by Mrs. Rosemary Burton, Footlight Players sought to encourage students in both the acting field and the behind-the-stage aspect of the theatre.



With a guitar solo, John Silliman entertains members of Footlight Players at the sunrise breakfast.

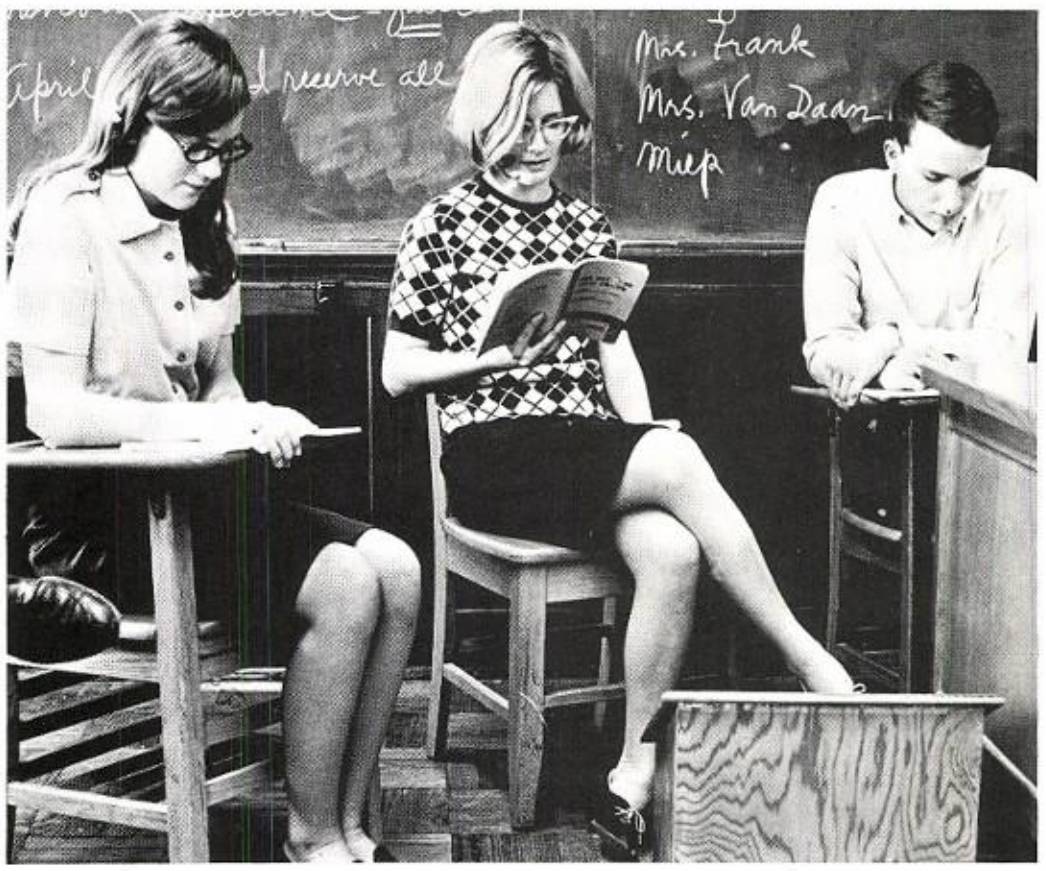


FOOTLIGHT PLAYERS OFFICERS: TOP TO BOTTOM; Margo Price, president; Lisa van der Vliet, secretary; Patty Moriarty, treasurer; Mike Fruge, vice-president.

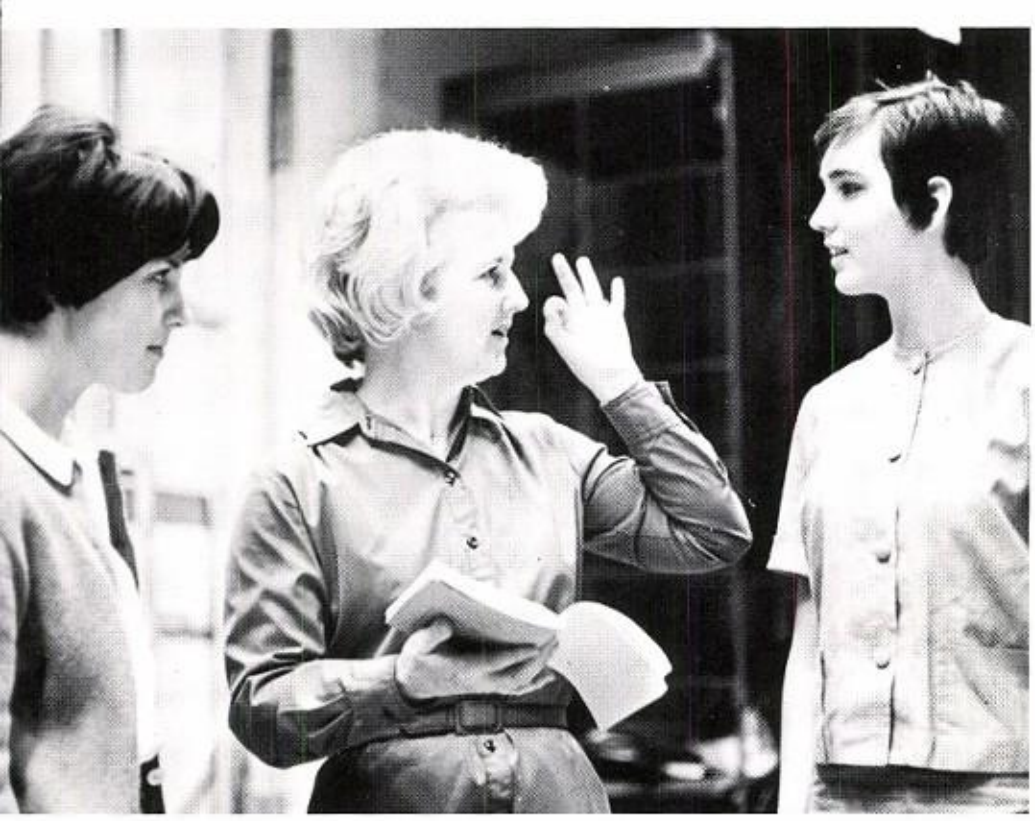


Involved in play production are Mark Davie, Theresa Kane, and Barbara Shivak.

arly-risers Margo Price, Lisa van der Vliet, and John Silliman resent a skit at the sunrise breakfast.



Jacque Thiele, Barbara Zager, and Jack Presley read for parts in play auditions.



Try it again: 'The rain in Spain stays mainly on the plain!' " says Mrs. Rosemary urton to Lynda Hogue and Brenda Wentworth.

Coy Clement and Lisa van der Vliet rehearse a scene from "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Book Jackets Attend TALA Convention

As members of the Teenage Library Association, Book Jackets attended the annual TALA Convention in February. At the meeting, which was held in San Antonio, they learned new trends in library management.

At monthly meetings under the sponsorship of librarian Mrs. Mary Hood, they planned bookmark sales, the purchase of homecoming mums for librarians, and a banquet to honor senior library workers. After their yearly Christmas party, members of the club took a fully decorated tree to a needy family.

Mrs. Mary Hood, sponsor of the Book Jackets, examines new books for the library.

One of the many duties of library worker Jan Huggins is shelving books.

DE student Vonne Fitzgerald prepares a newspaper advertisement layout for Cox's department store.

DE Trains For Business Careers

"If the shoe fits, wear it," says Linda Mullens, employee at Neiman-Marcus.

To develop future leaders for marketing and distribution was the aim of Distributive Education. Under this program, students attended only morning classes and spent afternoons working at their various jobs. Sponsored by Mrs. June Lay, the group attended state and area conventions and socialized at Christmas and Valentine's parties. Jeanne Grubbs served as 1966 sweetheart.

Math Club Presents Films, Speakers

Making speakers and films available in programs of interest to math-oriented students, the Math Club strove to keep enthusiasm high among its members. Sponsors Mrs. Sara Brian and Mr. Herbert Krauss headed the meetings, which were held every six weeks.

After the organizational aspects of the first meeting were completed, the members listened to TCU graduate students discuss the applications and importance of math in daily life.

At later meetings, films on computer math were presented. One of the more interesting films dealt with the computer's application in small business.

Mr. Herbert Krauss and Mrs. Sara Brian, sponsors of the Math Club, plan an upcoming program.

MATH CLUB OFFICERS: Toby Landes, secretary; Billy Lockwood, treasurer; Bill Bellomy, vice-president; Cynthia Allison, president.

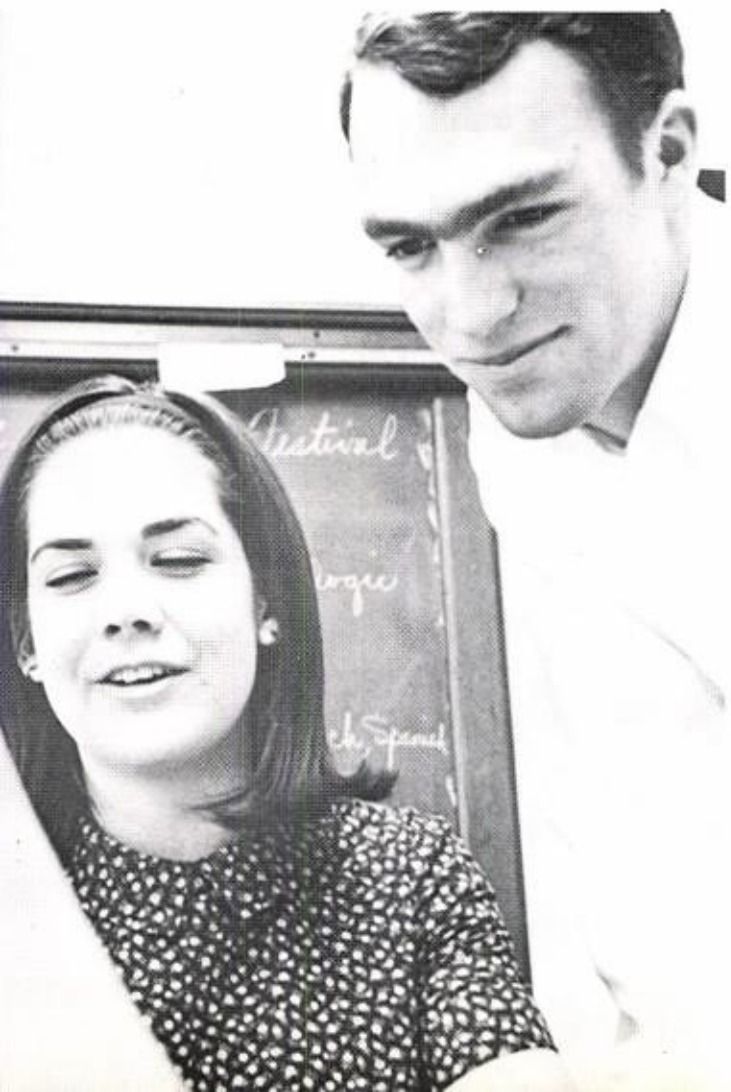
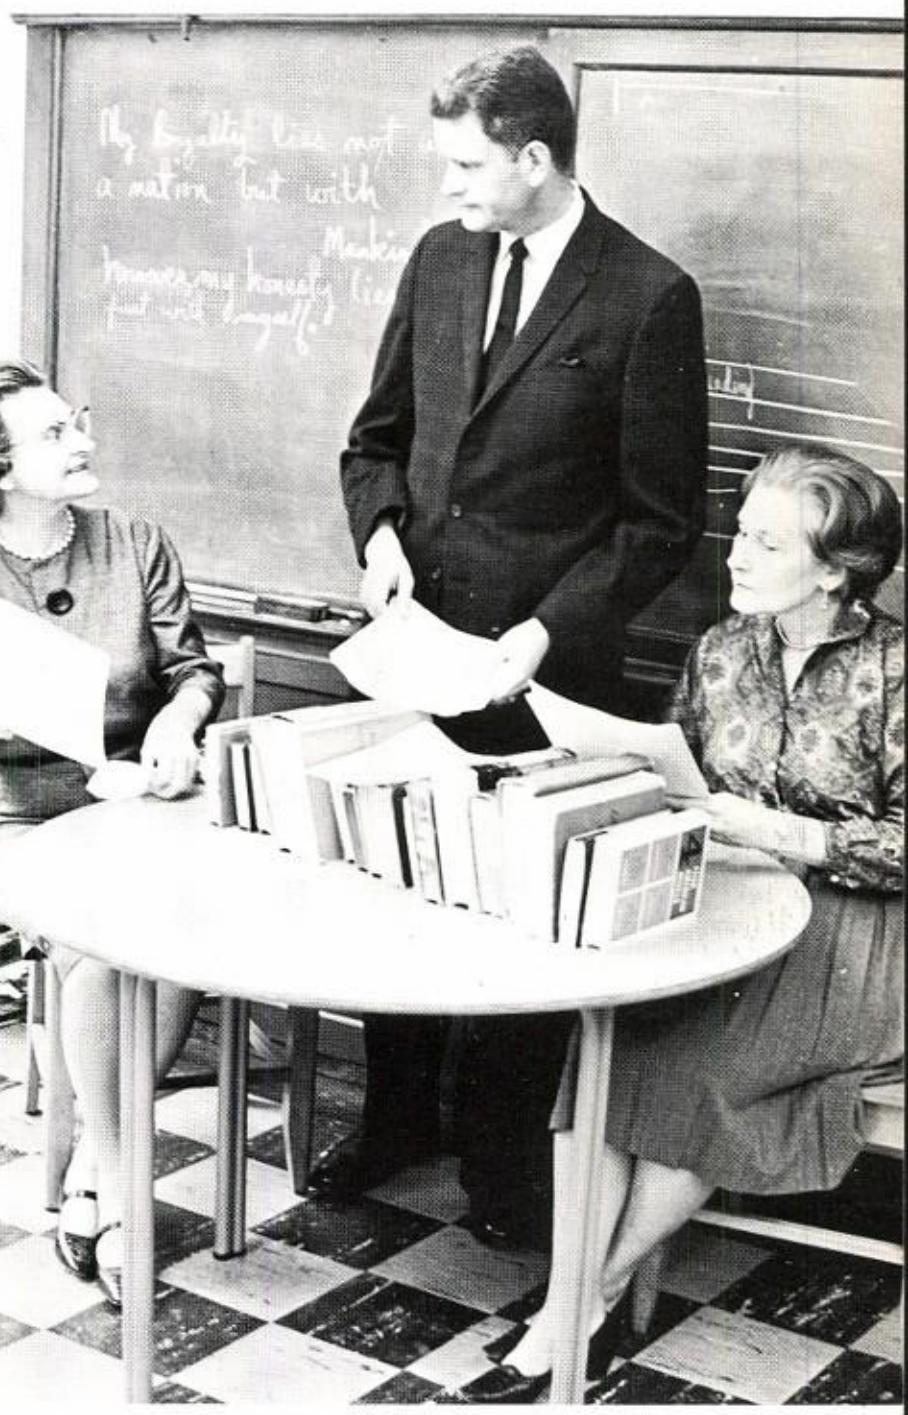
Magazine Joins Jacket Publications

Three rapid learning English classes formed the first literary magazine staff since the Jabberwocky in 1963. The staff was sponsored by Mrs. Oleta Epps, Mr. Milton Bransford, and Mrs. Frances Caveness, teachers of the classes.

The magazine was named Guerdon at a November meeting, and the editors were chosen in January. The work of all students in AHHS was represented in the magazine.

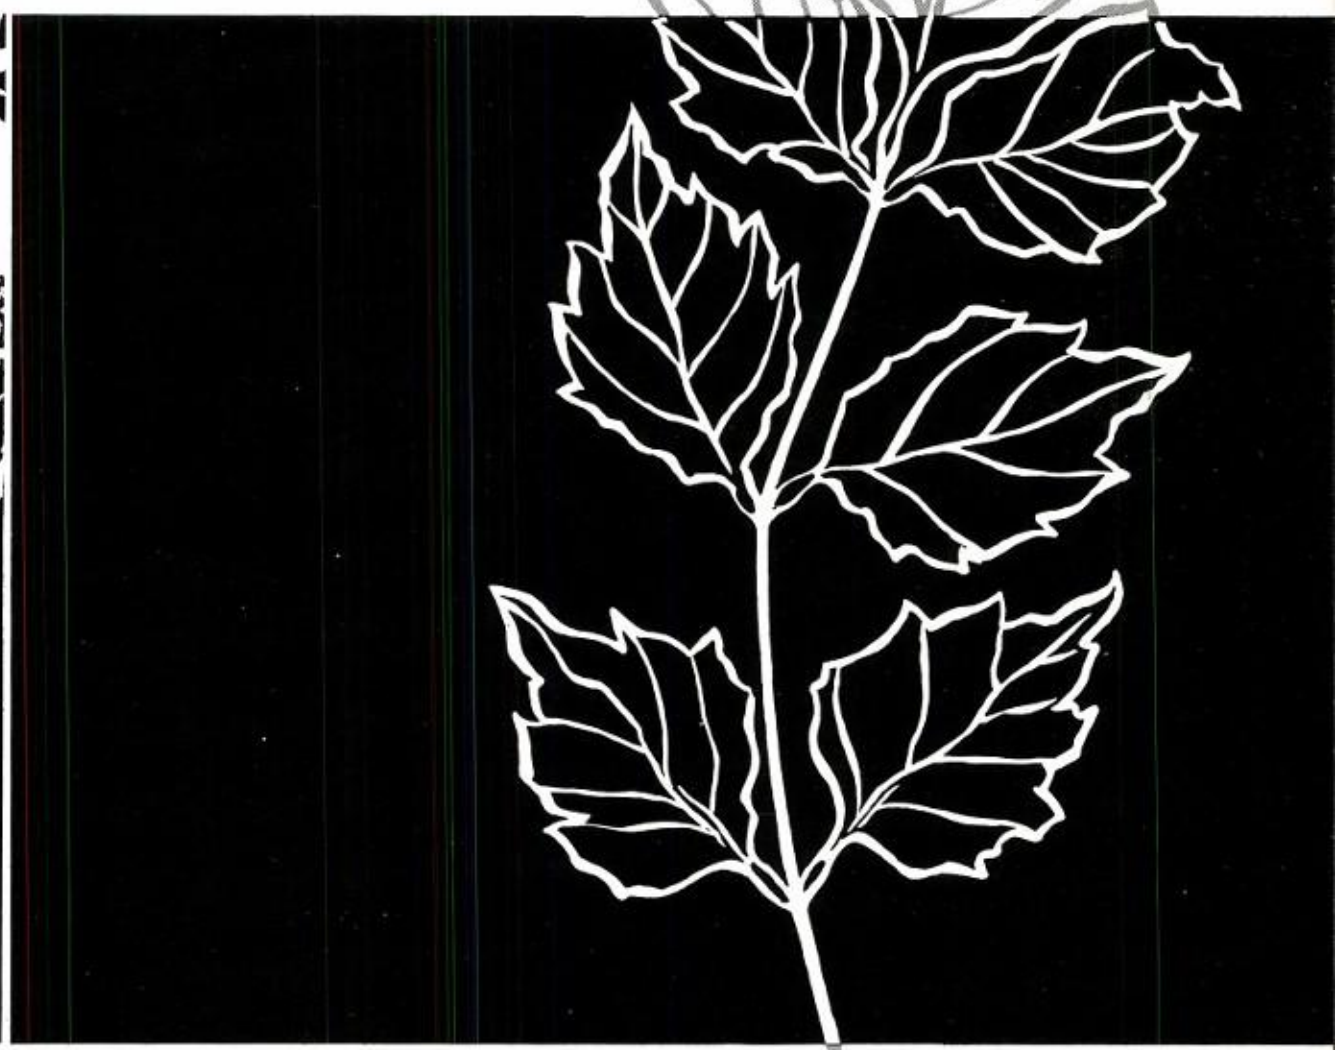


Editors Julie Reisner and Deal Hudson plan a page layout.



Sponsors of the literary magazine, Mrs. Oleta Epps, Mr. Milton Bransford, and Mrs. Frances Caveness, confer on the mock Guerdon.

FACULTY



Faculty, Administration Re-evaluated

MRS. NAN-ISCA DANIELS

To insure its effectiveness, every secondary school in the Fort Worth Independent School District re-evaluates its facilities every ten years. Arlington Heights went through this self-improvement process in 1966-67 with the cooperation of 23 committees.

These committees, made up of faculty and administration members, were under the supervision of a central steering committee. In the spring, an outside committee judged their findings.

Consideration in evaluation included all aspects of the school curricula—its philosophy and objectives, its relationship to the community, and its educational materials.

Because of joint participation among administration and faculty, the school increased its potential for its role in the education of future members of the community.

Science Lab Adds New Research Equipment

In an effort to broaden students' knowledge of the physical and chemical sciences, $7,750 worth of equipment was added to the science department in 1966-67.

With a $5,000 federal grant appropriated by the National Health Institute, the department was able to purchase a fluorescent microscope, the only one of its kind in this area.

Southwestern Medical School also aided in equipping the science laboratory by donating a $750 sonic oscillator, useful in tearing down cells, and a continuous flow electrophoresis cell, valued at $1,500.

Utilizing this exceptional equipment, the science research group, under the supervision of Mr. Flavin Arseneau, was able to continue its research and develop its potential for future years.

New Math Course Offered to Students

After a successful pilot program in computer mathematics in 1966, the course was offered again in 1967. Replacing Mr. Bob Phillips as instructor was Mr. Edwin Kahler who also taught algebra, trigonometry, and elementary analysis.

To be eligible for this senior elective, it was necessary to have completed trigonometry and have been enrolled in elementary analysis.

Although the course itself consisted of only one period of lecture per day, pupils were required to spend an additional hour per day in laboratory work in order to receive credit.

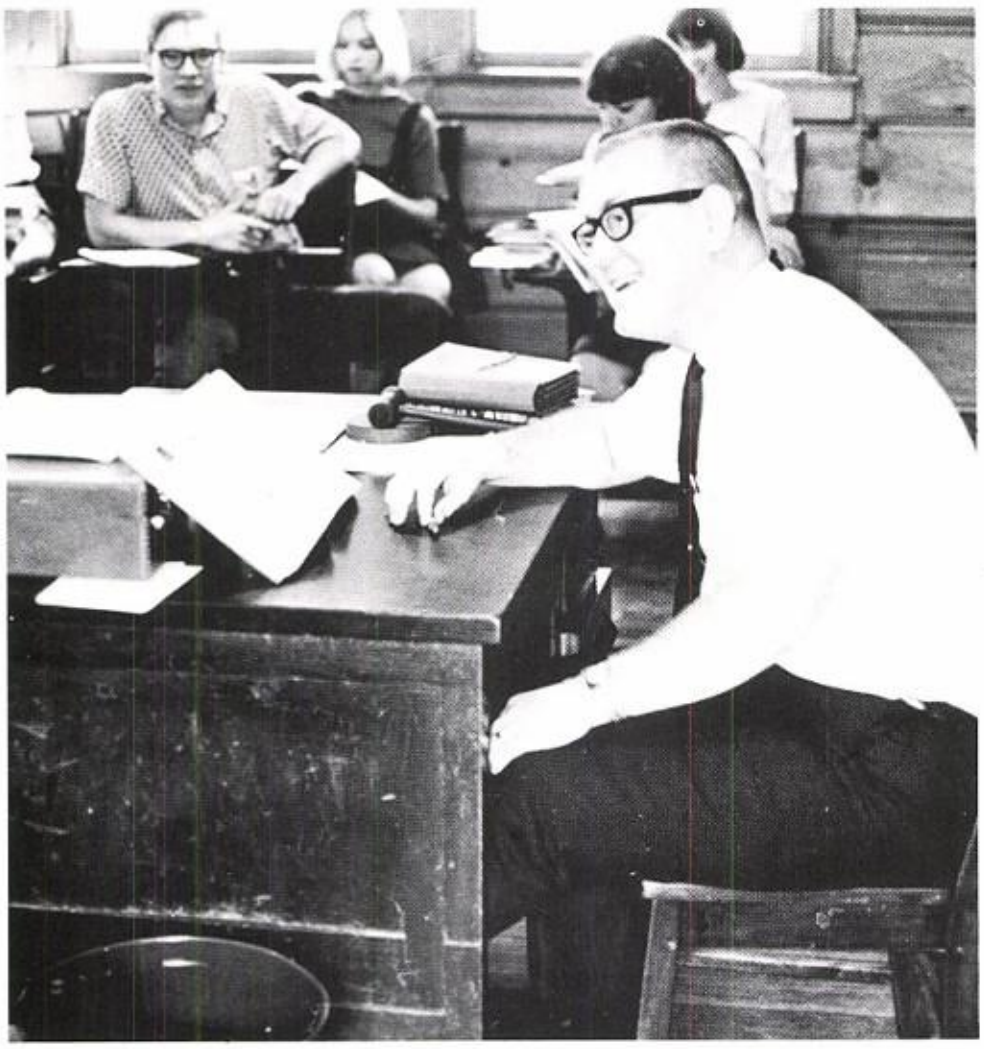
History Department Emphasizes Present



Mr. George Wirsdorfer makes history.

Since teaching contemporary history is a part of changing education at higher levels, the AHHS history department accentuated this aspect in their 1967 curriculum.

The world history course of study was completed at the period ending immediately before World War II. By including more material in American History I, the curriculum provides time at the close of American History II for extensive study of World War II, as well as more recent happenings.

Due to a limited choice in history subjects, a Texas history course was added to the program in the spring semester.

System Adopts New English Curriculum

Adopted by the English Department was "New English," a system of fusing and relating the studies of literature and grammar. While the same literature book was retained, a new grammar book was necessary in order to express the terms and techniques of the revised English. The grammar differed from traditional grammar in that it renamed the usual terms to stimulate the interest of the student, and changed the way in which sentences are broken down for study.

Occupational Hazards

Teachers Grin and Bear It

Teachers of today don't merely teach—they are, in fact, consistently called upon to perform a number of diverse and exacting duties. For many, this presented much trial and tribulation.

Mrs. Oleta Epps, lower left, experienced the perplexing problem of the skeptical student doubting his way through a lecture on the philosophy of man. Mr. Archie Stevens, lower right, took time out from his classroom duties to hand out results of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Keeping one thousand or so Heightsters under control during an assembly in the auditorium fell heir to Mr. John Sharp, right, which added to his many obligations as principal. Occasionally a member of the faculty was called upon to lend an understanding ear to student problems, as often was the case with Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, lower right opposite page.

One time-consuming duty that escaped no teacher was keeping track of students by means of attendance cards. Mrs. Mary White, upper right opposite page, struggling with her first-period cards, shared with the rest of her fellow educators the thought that these were the times that tried men's souls.

On September 6, 1966, Heights halls were flooded with the school's largest sophomore class in AHHS history. Seven hundred and seventy-seven new Heightsters soon lost their confused facial expressions as they became used to activities at the Hill.

In no time at all, they started showing spirit at pep rallies and games. Many students, such as cheerleader Chris King, lower right, and office worker Laura Peterson, lower left, began to put their abilities to use in service and leadership.

Juniors Await '68 Graduation

Two hundred and ninety-seven days constitute a school year, and the juniors attempted to live each to its fullest. The many days of pep rallies and sports events aroused their spirits, while those with AY, YCF, "A" club, and other school meetings were enlightened on subjects of interest.

Association with fellow students added to the juniors' year of learning, study, and activity. In passing from class to class, juniors took a few minutes to talk with friends on the daily happenings.

In the classroom, juniors worked for grades which would be recorded on their permanent records. American literature showed them a literary heritage of a new country, and many took subjects such as chemistry, algebra, and history to prepare them for college and future occupations.

Answering one of Mr. Milton Bransford's taxing questions, Becky Gary, right, proved that she was prepared for the day's lesson.

Seniors Look Into the Seeds of Time . . .

With an eye to the future, the Class of '67 completed its final high school year in a flurry of excitement and activities. Highlighting graduation events were the senior party, picnic, banquet, and formal dance.

Elected as officers of the 630-member class were, standing left to right, Cindy Willoughby, secretary; Jill Levering, treasurer; Mike Bomar, president, and seated, Rita Downing, vice president.

Although most seniors were more concerned with football than with learning, teachers attempted to squeeze required term themes and curricula into the fall semester.

Senior girls introduced a new method of supporting the athletic teams by decorating the field house and players' lockers before each game.

Baccalaureate services and graduation exercises closed out the year as seniors prepared to go their different ways.

Editors' Note:

The making of an annual is a long and tedious process, but its ups and downs offer subsequent rewards. This year the quest for the many facets of beauty took us (at all hours of the day and night) from tours through the expanses of North Texas countryside to innumerable places closer to home. The experiences were worthwhile; and we hope the product of those experiences is equally so.

We would like to thank the YJ staff, our sponsor, Mrs. Anne Stanton, and Photographic Arts for their help in making possible the 1967 Yellow Jacket.
